EXPECT POPE TO TIGHTEN RULES ON MARRIAGE

Will Comment on Mixed Unions.

ROME, Jan. 4.—(AP)—A reiteration of its strict Catholic doctrine regarding marriage is expected in the encyclical which Pope Pius will issue this week. Far from making concessions to modernistic trends, it is understood the encyclical will hark back to the first principles of the church—restating Catholicism's utter disapproval of divorce and emphasizing the doctrine that only by continence within the married state can families be limited without transgressing the divine law.

This restatement, it was generally assumed, would be the pope's answer to the Episcopal bishops' qualified admission of birth control in certain cases, emanating from the Lambeth conference in London last summer.

May Comment on Mixed Marriages.

Mixed marriages, those between Catholics and those of other faiths, are also expected to be the subject of special comment. It is generally taken for granted the pope will reëmphasize that bishops, before granting dispensations for such unions, must extract a written promise from the contractant who is not a Catholic that all children born of the marriage must be brought up in the Catholic faith and that he or she will in no way interfere with the Catholic party's fulfillment of religious duties.

At the same time the duty of the Catholic party to pray unceasingly for conversion of the spouse of another faith and, by force of example in piety of life, induce such conversion is expected to be enjoined anew.

The pope was represented as being stirred to this by the recent wedding of King Boris of Bulgaria to the former Italian Princess Giovanna. Although both parties to that royal match gave the pope written pledges on the foregoing points the orthodox Bulgarian clergy attempted to make it appear the second ceremony in Sofia was the real binding one, whereas the pontiff had been assured beforehand it would merely be in the nature of a civic rite registering the marriage already contracted at Assisi.

May Tighten Church Rules.

The president of the Bulgarian orthodox synod in the course of a speech to the newlyweds in the Sofia cathedral congratulated Boris on "founding a real orthodox dynasty."

After issuance of the pope's encyclical it is believed the contracting of mixed marriages, both among royalties and common folk, will be more difficult. It is taken for granted that in the future parish priests, in the first instance, and bishops, in the second, will be held to a strict accountability in exacting the guarantees the church requires.

With this there also is expected to come a tightening of regulations regarding publication of banns, which normally must be read out to the congregations in the home parishes on the two Sundays immediately preceding the wedding. One object of this would be to prevent cases of "marry in haste and repent at leisure" on which Catholicism has always frowned.

Clergy to Get Instructions.

Members of the clergy, it is understood, also will be ordered to scrutinize with redoubled severity all proposed marriages between Catholics and those of mixed variety in order to prevent demands for annulments.

It is also taken for granted there will be a restatement of the old law against marriages within the fourth degree of relationship.

Heretofore, dispensations from this have been fairly easily obtainable for Catholic royalties—on whose unions the pope himself normally is accustomed to pass—but henceforth it is predicted such "cousin marriages" as those of Princess Anne of France and the Duke of Apula of Italy, which took place in 1927, will be most difficult, if not impossible, to contract with the church's approval.

Physical Heritage Feared.

The imperilled physical heritage of the children of such unions is said to be uppermost in the pope's mind.

Marriages of this nature have been common for centuries among the Catholic royal houses and Catholic aristocracies of Europe in order to unite old families and coördinate estates and families.

Another point the pope is expected to make is insistence that all Catholics contracting matrimony in church be in "the state of grace" necessary for reception of one of the church's seven sacraments, namely, having been confessed and absolved of sins before going to the altar.

For the first time in Vatican history modern language texts of the forthcoming encyclical will be issued simultaneously with the original Latin text. Papal staff translators have been working overtime to provide versions in English, French, Italian, Spanish, German and other languages.

BANK TANGLE IN TENNESSEE MAY OUST GOVERNOR

Caldwell Crash and Politics Meshed.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—From Sergt. Alvin York's hill country, from the Bryan fundamentalist belt of Dayton, from smoky back room conferences in Memphis, Knoxville and Chattanooga, members of the new Tennessee legislature are gathering in Nashville today for the opening tomorrow noon of the 67th general assembly.

This promises to be a session of nation-wide interest, as the administration of Gov. Henry H. Horton, triumphant last fall, when Tennessee returned to the fold of Democracy with many sighs of relief, is on the defensive, with much talk of impeachment and the certainty of an investigation of some kind into the embarrassed financial condition of the state.

Echoes of Caldwell Failure.

This leads directly into the tangled affairs of Rogers Caldwell, head of Caldwell & Co., and Col. Luke Lea, former United States senator, his partner, and the collapse of the financial-political structure which they had built up through banks and newspapers, a crash which is still reverberating throughout the southland and in which nearly nine millions of state, county and city money is involved.

It is charged that, due to political subserviency at Nashville, millions of state money was loaned to the Caldwell interests without sufficient security at the time last summer when they were struggling desperately to overcome the effects of the stock market crash, and the fall elections were engineered by the same interests to prevent any proper investigation of any trouble that might result.

Assembly Attitude in Doubt.

On the very eve of the election, it is pointed out, bankers gathered in Nashville to take over the tottering Caldwell institutions, but the announcement of this action was withheld until after the election. Caldwell and Lea took an active part in the campaign for the governor's reëlection and for a friendly assembly.

The question which every one is asking tonight is whether the assembly will remain friendly or whether the political pressure of public indignation and suspicion will swing them the other way. It is all within the Democratic fold and comes down to the question of organizing the assembly. The Republicans are a negligible factor.

And so the hotel lobbies are filled with the shrewd and the jovial, equally secretive, and retiring frequently to whispering room conferences. The imposing Memorial square opposite echoes to the sound of a military band. The governor, supported by his cabinet, sits defiant in the old gray capitol. Andrew Jackson on his stone horse gallops bravely through the fog. Sam Davis, confederate soldier, who would "rather die a thousand deaths than betray a friend," and the murdered Senator Carmack, victim of political feud, guard the other gateways to this hill of history.

Much Depends on Speaker.

Everybody, including the governor, is calling for a "fair and impartial investigation," but that may mean little or nothing. It all depends on who conducts it. The governor has entered the fight by letting it be known that he and his friends support W. K. Abernathy of Selmer for speaker of the senate. The other candidates are shaded according to the vigor of their opposition to the administration. H. C. Anderson of Jackson seems to be the most outspoken critic, with Charles L. Cornelius of Nashville, A. B. Broadbrent of Clarksville, Walter Faulkner of Lebanon, J. T. Durham of Gallatin and Scott Fitzhugh of Memphis representing other and perhaps milder groups.

If Gov. Horton should be removed through any process, the speaker of the senate would become governor, as there is no lieutenant governor. This important office will be decided at a party caucus tomorrow morning. Gov. Horton himself came into office as speaker of the senate, on the death of Gov. Austin Peay. The house speakership seems to have been determined in favor of Walter M. Haynes of Winchester, who has administration backing.

Memphis Group Holds Balance.

The action of the Memphis legislative group is awaited with interest, as the decision of E. H. Crump, congressman elect and Democratic boss of the district, may have a good deal to do with deciding the issue, and the new trend in the state.

"The present crisis is a bitter disappointment," Mr. Crump said in

Shortly before 8 o'clock last night Harry Silverstein, 22 years old, escorted his wife to the doors of the Central Park moving picture theater, 3535 Roosevelt road, saw her enter, and then walked around to the rear stage door entrance. Two minutes later he was shot dead, the victim, police said, of a grudge fight in which Morris Rappaport was his foe.

For over an hour Mrs. Silverstein sat in the theater unaware of the killing.

The slaying baffled police for a time, but finally Capt. Patrick Collins of the Fillmore street station and Assistant State's Attorney Abe Marowitz unraveled the mystery and ordered the arrest of Rappaport. Three witnesses—Robert Chozinsky, 1226 South Kedzie avenue; Robert Lewis, 3535 Roosevelt road, and Harold Kaminsky, 3536 12th place, employés of the theater—were held.

Rappaport, who has a police record; Kaiser, Chozinsky, and Lewis were playing cards behind the stage when young Silverstein tapped on the back door. When Lewis announced Silverstein's name Rappaport leaped to his feet, according to police, and shouted, "I'll take care of him," and went outside. He and Silverstein exchanged several blows, witnesses said, then Rappaport drew a revolver and fired two shots, one of which killed Silverstein. Rappaport fled.

Silverstein was the son of Ben Silverstein, west side Democratic politician, 3234 Douglas boulevard, and lived with his wife at 1208 South Millard avenue. The father is an employé in the county clerk's office. Another son is a midshipman at Annapolis.

OWEN D. YOUNG GUARDED AFTER LETTER THREAT

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Owen D. Young was under police guard when he visited his home at Van Hornsville, N. Y., near Utica, over the holidays.

Receipts of a threatening letter was given at the Troop G barracks of the state police at Troy, N. Y., as the reason for the guard of the noted international financier during the last ten days. It was reported at the troop headquarters that Mr. Young had received a letter "putting him on the spot on a certain day."

The record at the barracks showed that a detail was ordered "to meet a New York detective who was with Mr. Young at Fort Plain and escort him to Van Hornsville."

The troopers also were riding in a second automobile when Mr. Young passed through Fonda, N. Y., today on his way back to New York.

Members of the Young family at the home refused to make any comment on the report of the letter threatening Mr. Young.

King George's Sister Dies at 63 in Sleep

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 4.—Princess Louise Victoria Alexandra Dagmar, eldest sister of King George and princess royal since 1905, died in her sleep from a heart attack at 2:30 this afternoon at the age of 63. Princess Louise has been an invalid for some time. The first intimation that she was seriously ill came in the form of a bulletin issued by her doctor early today announcing that the princess was sinking rapidly.

Princess Louise married Alexander William George, earl of MacDuff, at the age of 22 and in spite of Queen Victoria's objections. At their wedding breakfast the earl was created first duke of Fife. The duke died in 1912 following exposure when he and the princess were wrecked off the coast of Morocco the year before in the disaster to the liner Delhi.

Two Daughters See End.

Two daughters were born of this marriage, Princess Arthur of Connaught and the Lady Maud Carnegie. Both were at their mother's bedside when she passed away.

The princess had lived in almost complete retirement for several years, appearing only occasionally at public functions. She was, however, so exceptionally retiring all her life and so hated ceremony that she was affectionately known to the British public as "her royal shyness." King George's nickname for her was "ministering angel." She was a dame commander of the grand cross of St. John of Jerusalem and colonel in chief of a regiment of dragoon guards.

Toll Bells of St. Paul's.

When the death of the princess took place King George and Queen Mary, who were at Sandringham, Norfolk, where they were having a family party, were immediately informed by telephone. The king tonight directed the court to go in full mourning for four weeks and in half mourning for two weeks. In the meantime the bells of St. Paul's cathedral tolled for an hour tonight in sign of the city of London's mourning.

The death of the princess royal in the month of January is one more in the long list of January deaths in the British royal family. Queen Victoria died in this month in 1901. The princess royal lost her husband in January, 1912. Prince John, King George's youngest son, died at the age of 12 in January, 1919, and King George's elder brother, the duke of Clarence and heir apparent to the throne, died in January, 1892.

The late princess was the royal family's most assiduous theater goer and for many years subscribed for a box at the Covent Garden opera. She was the first royalty in Britain also to take an interest in motion pictures and her advice on the best show to see in town was often sought by the royal children.

WARSAW, Poland, Jan. 4.—Amy Johnson, the English girl flyer, attempting a flight from London to Peiping, made a forced landing at Amelin, near Krasnosielk, 60 miles north of Warsaw, today after losing her way in the fog. Miss Johnson was not injured but the undercarriage of her machine was smashed.

The 23 year old aviatrix, who flew from England to Australia in 19 days last summer, left Berlin at 10:27 a. m. flying into bad weather. When she did not arrive here at the estimated time there was considerable anxiety for her safety.

After Miss Johnson had reported her forced landing to Warsaw by telephone, Col. Martin, military attaché at the British embassy, left the capital to go to her assistance. Miss Johnson will remain in the village of Amelin tonight.

WEATHER DELAYS ATLANTIC DASH OF AIR SQUADRON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Jan. 5 [Monday.]—The air ministry received a radio flash at 2 a. m. from Air Minister Italo Balbo that he had postponed at the last moment the attempt of the Italian air armada to hop the South Atlantic from the west African coast to Brazil. He did not state the reason for the delay, but it was assumed the weather was unfavorable.

It is believed that the 12 bombers and 48 officers and men will take off tomorrow or Wednesday, if the weather moderates. Gen. Balbo's squadron has been at Bolamo two weeks preparing for the ocean dash.

Leaving Orbetello, Italy, Dec. 17, the planes have covered little more than half of the 7,000 mile flight to Rio de Janeiro, capital of Brazil. The overwater hop to Natal, Brazil, will cover 1,900 miles. Italian destroyers have been stationed along the route.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 4.—Seven Frenchmen are dead and four are missing as the result of snowslides which buried three separate skiing parties in the French Alps.

Near Briancon six Frenchmen, including two fathers and two sons, were buried beneath a huge avalanche in a pass. They left the Italian side yesterday, crossed the frontier and headed for Mont Genevre. When they failed to arrive a French infantry ski patrol of 100 men went in search of the group and dug the bodies out of the snowslide.

Two Paris medical students were buried by a snowslide at Abries. One, named Robert Jones, was killed. His companion managed to dig himself out.

Swift Tragedy Gives Father a Hero's Role

BY FRED PASLEY.

Grandma Jessie Shanks of Lafayette, Ind., was visiting yesterday with her daughter, Anna, and Anna's husband, Emmett Jaynes, in the bungalow they are buying at 5033 Hohman street, Hammond. Grandma Shanks doesn't go visiting often, so it was a real family occasion, particularly for 6 year old Dean Robert Jaynes, her grandson, who sat next her in his high chair at the mid-day meal.

Sunday is the week's bright spot for Emmett. Six days of the seven he is out of bed at 5 a. m. and on his way in cap and overalls, with the tin dinner pail filled by Mrs. Jaynes, for the Republic steel mills. He is a core maker. Sundays he can sleep late, then dust off the small sedan and go for a ride. In the ten years since he left the farm, nothing has happened to vary the routine of his existence.

Family Starts for a Ride.

Yesterday, after everybody had had an extra helping of the roast chicken and mashed potatoes, Emmett proposed they start early for the Sunday afternoon ride. The car was brought around front. Emmett sat at the wheel. Beside him was Anna, his wife. In the rear seat were Walter Moorhead, a friend of Emmett, and Grandma Shanks, holding Dean Robert on her lap.

"I'll show you the lake first," said Emmett.

The sedan sputtered incessantly and at the Calumet avenue crossing of the New York Central railroad stalled in the center of the tracks. It wouldn't start.

"We'll push it," said Emmett, and he and Mrs. Jaynes and Moorhead got out, walked around and leaned against the rear end. It was then that existence ceased to be routine for Emmett.

Train Bears Down on Auto.

A shrill blast startled him. Bearing down upon the sedan at 60 miles an hour was the Twentieth Century, leaving Chicago at 12:40 and due in Elkhart, Ind., its next stop, at 2:40. A bend in the road had hidden the approaching train from view. It was not more than 20 seconds away, the police estimated, when Emmett sighted it.

There was no time to get Grandma Shanks, paralyzed by fear, nor little Dean Robert, out of the car. But there was time for Jaynes' wiry, muscular arms to hurl his friend Moorhead and Mrs. Jaynes off the crossing, into a ditch. And there was time to choose between the alternative of himself leaping to safety or keep on pushing.

Emmett Jaynes' Choice.

M. A. Oberman of Elkhart, engineer of the train, saw the choice he made and told it to the police.

"I was leaning out the cab," he said, "and I saw a fellow pushing at the back of the flivver. And he kept on pushing till we hit him and the car."

The car was demolished. The police ambulance picked Emmett up unconscious, 50 feet from the crossing. Grandma Shanks and Dean Robert also were unconscious. The three were taken to St. Margaret's hospital in Hammond.

Emmett recovered consciousness and was found not to be seriously injured.

Early this morning little Dean Robert died of his injuries. Doctors said his grandmother had a chance to recover.

VAULT OPENED; REVEAL DEPOSIT BOXES LOOTED

Police Use Clubs to Keep Order.

Inspection last night by federal examiners of the vaults of the closed Lawrence Avenue National bank, 3228 Lawrence avenue, supposedly looted New Year's day by four bandits, disclosed the rifling of approximately twenty safe deposit boxes, containing an undetermined amount of money and valuables, and the apparent theft of at least $10,000 to $12,000 of the bank's own funds.

While the government investigators were in the vaults a crowd of 1,000 men and women, many of them customers of the institution, surged at the bank doors and were driven back only when a dozen policemen battled them with swinging clubs. The clubs were wielded indiscriminately and effectively checked the rush of the crowd.

Substantiate Malloy's Story.

When the time locked vault doors—which protect both the deposit boxes and the bank's own money reservatory—were opened, police and federal men found for the first time apparent substantiation of the story told Thursday night in Milwaukee by John C. Malloy, assistant cashier of the bank.

According to Malloy he received purported instructions to set the time lock so the vault could be opened for bank examiners on New Year's day. He went to the bank expecting to meet the examiners. Instead, he said, four bandits, who represented themselves as examiners arrived, and held him prisoner for almost five hours while they rifled the deposit boxes and the bank vault.

Next, he said, they compelled him to set the time locks on the vault doors to the limit of 71 hours, making it impossible to reopen the doors before 5 o'clock last evening. Then the gunmen drove him to Milwaukee, where they liberated him, according to his story. Malloy was returned to Chicago and subsequently held on a federal warrant charging embezzlement.

Examiners Arrive at Bank.

About 4:30 o'clock yesterday Alfred P. Leyburn, chief national bank examiner for the seventh federal reserve district, appeared at the Lawrence Avenue bank in company with ten assistants and department of justice agents. They were reinforced by a detail of police headed by Chief of Detectives John Norton and Lieuts. John Burke and Dan O'Hara. Newspapermen and others were barred from the bank.

At 5 o'clock the time locks opened, and the vault doors were swung aside. On the floor were deposit boxes ripped and torn open. Jewelry, bonds and other papers were strewn in disarray. Some of the boxes were opened with chisel and hammer, and some with other tools. The bank vault, separate from the deposit box vault, was also opened. Less than $200 in silver and bills remained in the bank box, it was said. Ledgers and other books were in disorder, and cursory inspection showed that page records had been torn out, mutilated or otherwise tampered with.

Examiner Issues Statement.

After a hurried investigation, Chief Examiner Leyburn issued a formal statement reading:

"Vaults of the bank opened this p. m. A few safety deposit boxes were found open. It will require several days for the examiners to audit and investigate the affairs of the bank as all the records were in the vault under time lock."

Whether or not any records bearing on the tentative merger of the Lawrence Avenue bank with another bank were missing was not learned. It was definitely known, however, that the merger was virtually sealed the day of the supposed robbery. Malloy's story halted the consolidation and resulted in the temporary closing of the bank.

Dispute Number Opened.

Federal operatives remained noncommittal on the extent of the vault looting, although Assistant District Attorney Owen West admitted that the boxes rifled probably numbered between eight and ten. From police sources it was learned that probably twenty receptacles had been broken into. Still another report placed the number at thirty.

Finger print experts from the bureau of identification were permitted by John H. Jeffries, vice president and cashier of the bank, to seek evidence. Later it was said at the detective bureau that no prints had been found, and that the thieves probably wore gloves.

Two hours after the vault doors were opened, Mr. Leyburn and his assistants departed and the bank was closed. A large crowd still remained outside, but it was orderly and no further police action was necessary. Many of the leaders shouted demands for "prosecution" as the investigators departed. Every effort was made to thwart information spreading outside. Earlier, while newspaper men were interviewing Mr. Leyburn, police slammed the doors of the bank, abruptly halting the discussion.

Bank Protected by Bond.

The Lawrence Avenue bank is protected by a $25,000 surety bond on Malloy, and by a similar bond or blanket policy against other possibilities of financial injury.

Malloy will be arraigned at 10 o'clock this morning before United States Commissioner Walker. Government officials refused to explain last night the nature of the evidence on which he is being held. According to Assistant District Attorney West nothing in Malloy's story has been found untrue thus far. He was puzzled, he said, to understand why Milwaukee authorities who first heard the assistant cashier's story doubted it. When asked why the government made a charge against Malloy, West admitted it possessed "other evidence."

PLANS TO SHOOT HUSBAND; SLAYS HERSELF INSTEAD

"In case anything happens tonight to Fred O'Byrnes, he was shot and killed by his wife, meaning the writer, Mrs. Grace O'Byrnes. The insurance of Fred O'Byrnes goes to the children, Marion and Charles."

Mrs. O'Byrnes wrote that note yesterday, but instead of killing her husband she committed suicide. The O'Byrnes lived at 1239 East 46th street. They had quarreled. Fred, 30 years old, a chauffeur, had gone to the home of a friend, Elmer Lund, 2015 Dobson avenue.

Mrs. O'Byrnes, 29 years old, had trailed her husband to the Dobson avenue address after writing the note. But for some reason she changed her mind about killing him, and instead broke a window in the car, which was parked in front of Lund's home, climbed in, and shot herself in the side. O'Byrnes found her when he came down and took her to the South Shore hospital, where she died.

FORT IS URGED AS SECRETARY TO PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Representative Franklin Fort of New Jersey, former secretary of the Republican national committee, is suggested by prominent Republicans as the logical successor to George Akerson as secretary to President Hoover.

Mr. Fort will leave public life on March 4. He was the unsuccessful dry candidate for the Republican nomination for the United States senate last spring, being defeated by Dwight W. Morrow.

Members of congress say that Mr. Fort would give to the Hoover administration another contact with congress. He is well versed in politics and popular.

Mr. Fort, who is a resident of East Orange, is a son of former Gov. Fort. He is a Princeton graduate. He practiced law in Newark until 1917 and then served two years on the federal food administration. He has been a member of congress for six years.

BODY FOUND IN OLD AUTO.

The body of a man believed to have been Charles Hubbard, 45 years old, a casual, was found yesterday in an abandoned automobile in a greenhouse on Waukegan road in Morton Grove. He had been dead at least a week. Police are searching for relatives.

3 AVIATORS DIE AS POWER DIVE ENDS IN CRASH

Final Test of Monoplane Leads to Tragedy.

St. Joseph, Mo., Jan. 4.—(AP)—A final test of a monoplane preparatory to a cross-country flight to Miami, Fla., starting tomorrow, brought death to three men here today when the plane crashed during a power dive.

The dead, all from St. Joseph, are: Winston L. Hyatt, pilot of the plane; Leroy Niemer, also a flyer, and Harold E. Payne, a dentist. All were about 30 years old. Hyatt was married.

The plane fell about two miles northeast of Rosecrans airport, where the takeoff was made and was witnessed by pilots at the port. Robert Moore said a piece of fabric flew from the left wing as the ship dived and he and other observers agreed the strain on the plane of the swift dive caused the wreck.

When rescuers reached the wreck all three men were dead and the plane's motor was buried on the slope of a ravine. Pilots estimated Hyatt was going at a speed of 200 miles an hour in his dive.

Rosecrans airport attaches related Hyatt had told them he wished to get his 300 horsepower motor up to 3,000 revolutions a minute.

Three Killed in Texas Crash.

Overton, Tex., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Three men, en route to Dallas, were killed near here today when their plane crashed into the top of a pine tree as they were forced, by mist and fog, to search for a landing place.

The dead were Addison Noever, 26, pilot, of Kansas City, and Tom Holcombe, 20, and Horace Clark, 26, of Dallas.

The bodies were removed from the wrecked plane by T. C. Bradberry, who was the first person to reach the scene.

Bradberry said he saw the plane circling low over trees, the pilot apparently seeking a landing place. The plane banked over several trees and then struck the pine, he said, with a crash heard a mile away. The motor of the ship was buried several feet in the ground.

Two Pilots Injured.

SHOT TO DEATH IN FOG; HUNT IN VAIN FOR CLEWS

In the fog that blanketed the west side early yesterday, August Battaglia, 25 years old, 829 Gilpin place, was shot to death at Roosevelt road and Halsted street.

Although the shooting occurred within fifty feet of a cab stand at a corner well traveled at that hour, the police could find no one who would admit seeing the slayers or hearing the shot. Five youths whom Battaglia had saluted a few minutes earlier but who had walked away before he fell were questioned without success at the detective bureau.

The slain man, who was not a relative of the Sam Battaglia, hoodlum, recently wounded in a shooting affray in a Clark street restaurant, was shot once in the forehead. His brother-in-law, Leonard Perozola, 2144 Polk street, identified the body. His relatives could supply no motive for the killing, saying that Battaglia had been honestly employed as a truck driver by a concern at Randolph and Halsted streets.

COUPLE IN AUTO ROBBED.

Miss Anna Quinn, 28 years old, 7138 Euclid avenue, and her escort, James P. O'Leary, 11936 Lafayette avenue, were held up early yesterday as they sat in O'Leary's car in front of Miss Quinn's home. Two robbers took $26 and a watch from O'Leary and a $100 ring from Miss Quinn.

PEACE RETURNS TO PARISH; NEW PRIEST PRESIDES

30 Police Guard Church in South Chicago.

Peace reigned again yesterday in the parish of St. Mary Magdalene church at 84th street and Saginaw avenue. However, 30 policemen stood guard around the church as a precaution against any recurrence of the demonstration which took place Saturday when a new priest appeared to replace the pastor who had served the parishoners for 21 years.

The unrest which accompanied the change in pastors reached its climax at 3:30 yesterday morning, when a group of men who had loitered around the church throughout the night became unruly and broke into the edifice to ring the bells. Fourteen were arrested and held at the South Chicago police station until yesterday afternoon, when they were released after a reprimand.

New Pastor Conducts Services.

By the time first mass was to be celebrated at 6:30 a. m. complete order prevailed. Huge crowds appeared for the services. The police detail of 27 patrolmen, two sergeants and one lieutenant remained on duty throughout the morning masses and during the afternoon, but no disorders took place.

The new pastor, Msgr. Anthony Halgas of Calumet City, who had been driven from the parish on Saturday by a crowd, reappeared and officiated at the Sunday services. He explained that his assignment to St. Mary Magdalene was a temporary arrangement, in effect while the former pastor, the Rev. Edward A. Kowalewski, carries his appeal from the ouster action to the holy rota, supreme tribunal of the church at Rome.

Tried by Canonical Board.

Father Kowalewski was tried by a canonical board on charges of breach of discipline, resulting from an altercation with a young assistant whom he had struck down. He was ordered to resign and Msgr. Halgas was appointed to administer the affairs of the parish until the matter was fully settled.

The trouble arose when a crowd of admirers of Father Kowalewski opposed the entry of Msgr. Halgas into the parish house when he arrived to assume his new duties on Saturday.

Policemen Seize Robber Holding Up Nine in Cafe

West Park Policemen Thomas Fleming and James Wall yesterday entered the restaurant of Louis Samaras, 3146 Fifth avenue, as John Cronin, alias Moran, was robbing the till after lining up eight customers and a waiter against the wall. Samaras, in the rear when Cronin entered, had slipped away and notified the police. Cronin surrendered without resistance.

LIQUOR REPORT OF WICKERSHAM GROUP GUARDED

Recommendation Not Yet Adopted, It Is Said.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Members of the Wickersham committee continued tonight to guard closely the conclusions they have reached on the prohibition question. One high commission authority stated that he could not even divulge an inkling of what the President's law enforcement body will recommend to the President for the simple reason that the commission itself has not yet received any final report.

It is stated that despite widely published reports purporting to outline what the commission has decided or has not decided to recommend as a solution of the existing turbulent liquor question, the final findings have not been agreed to by the personnel of the President's investigating body.

Vote Yet to Be Taken.

While not denying that several phases of the liquor problem have been discussed to a point where agreement almost has been reached, he insisted that a definite vote on the recommendations to be made by the law enforcement body will not be taken before the latter part of this week. He stated that it will not be possible for the commission to conclude its labors on prohibition in time to get the report to Mr. Hoover this week.

The commission authority declined to state what the commission will offer by way of recommendations designed to bring about better dry law enforcement. He declined to state whether the commission was considering changes in the law to make it more enforceable. He also remained mum when asked if the commission had decided not to recommend any modification of the eighteenth amendment or the dry law itself.

Only Fringes Touched.

One member in commenting on published reports said that most of them touched only on fringes of the commission's prohibition work and did not give an adequate idea of what the report will be. Some of the published reports, he said, had a few grains of unimportant information, but for the most part were mere masses of misinformation and misinterpretation.

A few weeks ago it became known that a majority of the commission had come to the conclusion that the adoption of the 18th amendment in so sweeping a form had been a mistake and that it would have been wiser to have provided in the amendment merely a delegation to congress to regulate the liquor traffic.

The information at that time was that the majority of the commission was in favor of recommending a material modification of the prohibition law to give congress more authority.

OCEAN FLIGHT OF WOMAN AVIATOR AGAIN DELAYED

Seeks Money to Pay for New Sextant.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Further flight of the trans-Atlantic payload seaplane Tradewind was held up here tonight pending the payment of $400 for a new sextant, brought here by plane from Annapolis today by Lieut. E. C. Ewen for Mrs. Beryl Hart, pilot and owner of the Tradewind, and Lieut. William S. MacLaren, her co-pilot and navigator.

The sextant is to replace the one which broke in the flight from New York yesterday and forced the landing at the Hampton Roads naval air station last night.

Discover Oil Leak.

An oil leak, discovered during a test flight of the Tradewind during the afternoon, had previously delayed resumption of the flight for Bermuda and Paris at least until tomorrow. Then came the financial difficulty, which decided the flyers against planning a takeoff tomorrow.

Following a long rest after landing last night, Lieut. Maclaren and Mrs. Hart had every hope of getting off for Bermuda in the early afternoon. It was on the suggestion of experts of the naval training station of the naval operating base on Hampton Roads that he decided on the test flight, and the oil system trouble was disclosed.

Just how serious this trouble is is yet to be determined, following an inspection. Late in the afternoon the Bellanca monoplane was hauled into one of the naval hangars, and tonight the oiling system is being carefully checked in order to determine the extent of the trouble.

Mrs. Hart's Sister Arrives.

Alarmed at the news report of the accident that caused the Tradewind to turn back toward the mainland and land at the naval air station, Miss Georgia Guinne, sister of Mrs. Hart, air taxied down the coast from New York today in another Bellanca monoplane, and landed at the naval air station, to be with Mrs. Hart. With her was a Bellanca monoplane expert, who will aid the naval air station expert mechanics in an attempt to remedy the trouble with the oiling system.

Lieut. Maclaren declares he will continue his journey across the Atlantic at the earliest possible moment. There has been no change in his original plan to land at Bermuda. This will be, due to the forced landing at the air station, the second stop oversea, instead of the first, as originally planned.

She's Determined to Try Again.

Mrs. Hart, in no wise deterred on account of the trouble encountered yesterday afternoon and the hazardous landing last night, declared today that she would continue the journey with Maclaren.

The Tradewind was in no way damaged, it is declared, by the forced landing of last night, taking the water easily and gracefully.

Throngs in Parks

Balmy weather continued to caress Chicago yesterday. With the temperature from 5 to 10 degrees above freezing, nurses crowded the parks with perambulators and equestrians enjoyed canters on the bridle paths, which the mild weather has softened. The weather man, W. P. Day, predicted partly cloudy and somewhat colder weather for today.

HOUSES COLLAPSE IN GREEK QUAKES; NO LIVES LOST

ATHENS, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Severe earth shocks caused damage in several villages today, but no lives were lost. At Corinth all old houses left standing after the earthquake of early last year collapsed. Residents of the town became panic stricken and refused to enter their homes. Ten houses and a church collapsed at Axos, six miles from Corinth, and some damage was caused at Loutraki. The shocks were felt here at 2:15 a.m. The observatory placed the epicenter at Peloponneus.

COLLIER, SON OF NOTED TRAVELER, DIES BY SUICIDE

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Elliott Collier, 40 year old son of the late Price Collier, died by gas today in his $8 a week hall bedroom. He was found in his chair, a book on his lap. Police called it suicide.

Collier, with a background of culture that included study in universities here and abroad, has been living on a $30 a week income left him by his grandmother, friends said. With his love for music and literature, Collier never succeeded in his ambition to accomplish something in these fields himself. His father was the well known traveler-writer, and much of Collier's younger life was spent in high social circles in European capitals.

Among the books in his room—some rare editions and many works on music—was found a diary, one notation saying:

"More and more I seem to love to dwell in the past—before the horrors of modern civilization had come upon us, electricity, automobiles, airplanes, telephones, woman suffrage and prohibition."

SPANISH EMBASSY AID KILLS MAN IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5 (Monday). —(AP)—An unidentified man was injured fatally early today by an automobile driven, police said, by the first secretary of the Spanish embassy, Don José Ricardo Gomez Acebo.

The victim, about 65 and well dressed, was taken to a hospital by a taxi driver, where he died.

The Spanish official, police said, proceeded to a hotel and had Count de Montefuerte, counselor of the embassy, act as an interpreter in reporting the accident.

Acebo believed the man walked into the side of his machine, police said, as he did not see him until after the accident, which occurred at Dupont circle, in a fashionable section of the city.

The secretary was not held by the authorities, but was required to attend a coroner's hearing later in the day.

AUTOIST'S BACK BROKEN.

Canton, Ill., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Paul Negley is in the hospital with a broken back as the result of the car in which he and Frank Geeseman were returning from a dance overturning and going into a ditch.

SHOOTS THROUGH DOOR AT PARTY; KILLS 1; WOUNDS 1

A party attended by 25 guests at the home of Mrs. Anna Buchtel, 2124 North Winchester avenue, ended in death late last night when a husband, seeking his wife, fired wildly through a closed door when he was denied admittance. The bullet struck the left wrist of one of the guests, Albert Brus, 2232 Colvin street, and then pierced the head of his wife, Mrs. Patricia Brus, killing her instantly.

Mrs. Jankowski had attended the gathering earlier, but was gone when her husband called and demanded that he be allowed to see her.

SEIZE CAPONE COLLECTOR ON LYLE WARRANT

Judge Says 'Enemies' Are Watching Mayor Fight.

The vagrancy drive conducted in the Felony court has driven a majority of the hoodlums in Chicago to temporary cover, Judge John H. Lyle, candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor, told two Negro audiences in addresses yesterday on the south side.

Almost as he was speaking the police arrested Hymie [Loud Mouth] Levin, reputed to be the collector for the Capone syndicate, on a vagrancy warrant issued by Judge Lyle. Levin will be arrainged before the judge today.

Levin, who is 36 years old, was arrested at State and 21st streets. Sergts. Roy Van Herik and George Meagher of the detective bureau saw him riding in his automobile and forced Levin's car to the curb.

Seized on Lyle Warrant.

"That guy will go too far some day," said Levin.

Levin was paraded at the Sunday afternoon showup of prisoners in the detective bureau and was put through the bureau of identification. It was revealed that the Capone gangster's record was marred by only one conviction. That was in 1921 when he was sentenced to serve one year in the Bridewell and fined $1,000 for a liquor law violation. He has often been arrested as a suspect.

Morris Levin, father of the Capone gangster, appeared at 9 o'clock last night at the detective bureau and deposited $5,000 in cash as a bond to insure Levin's appearance in court today. Levin and his father left the bureau together.

Judge Tells of Crime Fight.

Judge Lyle in his speeches declared it was evident that the vagrancy drive had made the gangsters go into hiding for the present.

"But they're only awaiting the outcome of the mayoralty primaries," he declared. "They'll be out again and bolder than ever if they see in the outcome of the election a defeat of the drive against crime.

"Most of the public enemies have been arrested and have been sent away or are awaiting trial. Old charges have been dug up and revived against others. Business is getting poor in my court so far as the enemies are concerned. I used to have the pleasure of raking one over the coals every day or two but of late they've all taken to cover."

Discusses Municipal Ills.

Diverging from the subject of the warfare against criminals, Judge Lyle spoke briefly about the ills in the city government.

"There is a very plain way of stating what's wrong with the city government," he said. "Under the present system, every one's out to get on a pay roll for one purpose—plain stealing. Stealing is on the mind of most pay rollers. They're always trying to figure out how they can chisel a few extra dollars out of the public.

"The thieves are everywhere. Why, I found one hanging around my own headquarters the other day and tossed him out on his head. He had actually been a defendant before me on the bench on two occasions and then had the audacity to attempt to attach himself to my staff."

Referring to his retention in the Felony court by Chief Justice Sonsteby when other judges were shifted to different posts, Judge Lyle said:

"Naturally, I am elated. I'll be on the job tomorrow morning, going after the gangsters harder than ever. I'm doing what I can with the limited power of my court and I can't help but itch for the opportunity I would have if the vast resources of the mayor were put in my hands. Then I could stage an attack upon Capone and his ilk which, I feel sure, would hound them all from the city."

Mutiny Reported on British Submarine Depot Ship

PLYMOUTH, England, Jan. 4.—(AP)—This town and the adjoining naval port of Devonport buzzed tonight with rumors that mutiny had broken out aboard the submarine depot ship Lucia, now in the Devonport dockyard. It was stated that 42 members of the Lucia's crew of 362 had been lodged in the naval barracks and others were sent to take their places. Officials admitted some trouble aboard over shore leave, but declared it did not amount to a mutiny. An official inquiry will be held tomorrow.

Boy's Horseback Ride to Iowa Comes to Early End

Fifteen year old Douglas Emmerson of 6830 South Ashland avenue borrowed a horse and started to travel by saddleback to his uncle's farm in Iowa. A man on horseback is so unusual a sight in the countryside about Chicago that when Douglas cantered down the main road of Montgomery, eight miles southwest of Aurora, the chief of police stopped him. He is being held there pending word from his parents.

Insane Poet Shot to Death After Killing 2 Policemen

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 4.—John Thomas Kennedy, a poet, who suddenly went mad, killed two constables and was himself killed by police bullets in a Sydney suburb today. He seemed to have fallen victim of a military complex, as in killing the constables he expressed the belief that he was firing on an advancing German patrol. Kennedy spent some years in America, later becoming a member of the Canadian northwest mounted police.

START CITIZENS' GROUP TO ASSIST LYLE'S CAMPAIGN

Committee Plans Begun at MacVeagh Luncheon.

The organization of a citizens' committee to manage Judge John H. Lyle's campaign for the Republican senatorial nomination was undertaken yesterday at a luncheon given for Lyle by Eames MacVeagh.

Among those attending the luncheon were Franklin MacVeagh, secretary of the treasury in President Taft's administration; Arthur T. Aldis, Howard Shaffer, A. Stuyvesant Peabody, and Ex. J. Hamilton Lewis.

They discussed the plan for forming a committee and decided to have another luncheon at the Chicago club on Wednesday or Thursday to perfect the organization. At the next luncheon a larger group will be asked to participate and to help in the judge's campaign.

Withdrawal Talk Continues.

The prospects for narrowing down the field of candidates for the Republican nomination by the withdrawal of one or two of the aspirants continued to play a leading part in the political gossip over the week-end.

There were reports that Charles V. Barrett, the first to enter the Republican contest, has been disappointed by the failure of leaders to come to his support, and politicians are gossiping that the tax reviewer might step out of the race unless the situation changes between now and Jan. 20, the last date for withdrawals.

Atty. Arthur F. Albert, a third entrant in the Republican fight, today will open his headquarters in the Morrison hotel, where Jacob Allen, manager of Senator Deneen's last campaign, will be in active charge.

Democrats Fill Sanitary Jobs.

It was learned yesterday that the Democratic county organization has slated James J. Sullivan for the post of chief clerk of the sanitary district, and Morris Sabath for auditor of the district's accounts.

Sullivan, Democratic committeeman in the Eighth ward, managed Sheriff William D. Meyering's campaign and lately has been looking after the patronage problem in the sheriff's office. Sabath is a brother of Congressman A. J. Sabath, who is the Democratic committeeman in the Twenty-first ward. Morris Sabath has been closely associated with the congressman and looks after the ward while his brother is in Washington.

Soviet Premier Scoffs at Forced Labor Charges

MOSCOW, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The newly chosen premier of soviet Russia, Viacheslav Molotov, made his first public appearance tonight as the session of the central executive committee of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics opened. In a speech he scoffed at charges from abroad that forced labor was used in Russia.

5 SLAIN IN RIOT AFTER FOOTBALL GAME IN PERU

LIMA, Peru, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Five persons were killed today in a clash which marked the end of an international football match between a team from Uruguay and one from the Peruvian department of Arequipa.

The trouble began when the president of the football federation delivered a silver cup to the Uruguayans. Peruvian troops started booing and a soldier attempted to cross the field. Five policemen used their swords on him. The other soldiers charged out on the field at the police and were met with revolver shots. Spectators then joined in, throwing stones. The fighting spread to various streets.

A crowd of soldiers, sailors and civilians attacked several policemen and killed one traffic officer. Two blocks farther on a crowd was attacked by two officers, their bullets killing one demonstrator and injuring another. In another battle a crowd stoned a street car in which four policemen had taken refuge and two civilians were injured.

Florida Health Officer Assassinated at Hospital

Tarpon Springs, Fla., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Dr. Archie McAllister, 42, city health officer and prominent physician, was shot to death on the porch of the city hospital here tonight. He was preparing to leave the institution when a charge fired from a shotgun entered his side. He turned to reenter the hospital, when another charge was fired into his head, killing him instantly. Police found no trace of the assassin.

THREE CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH WHEN AUTO UPSETS, TAKES FIRE

Melvin, Ia., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Fire which followed an automobile accident three miles north of here today snuffed out the lives of three children of Mr. and Mrs. John Hamstra of Alcester, S. D. and Arthur, 11 months old.

The dead are: Anna, 14; Diana, 5,

The accident occurred when a tire blew out, hurling the car into a ditch. The gasoline tank became ignited and the machine was soon enveloped in flames. Mr. and Mrs. Hamstra were able to crawl from the wreckage and although slightly injured, made heroic efforts to save their children. An inquest will be held tomorrow.

Four Die as Auto Plunges 200 Feet.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 4.—(AP)—A mother and her three children were dead today, victims of an automobile plunge into a 200 foot canyon near Dulzura, 30 miles east of here. They are Mrs. Mary Helene Turner, 28; Dorothy, 8; Frances, 4, and George Edward, 10 months, all of National City.

Police Redouble Raids as Tenth Booze Victim Dies

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 4.—(AP)—While police squads struck time and time again in liquor raids, a tenth death was blamed on poison liquor. Wallace Smith, Omaha, who died early tonight at the county hospital, was the tenth victim. Nine others had died in the last two days of poison liquor, authorities revealed.

BILLION DOLLAR LOAN PROPOSED FOR BUILDING

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Decrying the "timidity of business men and legislators," in the present business crisis ninety economists today endorsed a billion dollar loan program to finance construction.

The endorsement of the plan of the emergency committee for federal public works for building of public improvements came from university and college leaders and labor officials from all parts of the nation.

In a statement issued by Harold S. Buttenheim, chairman of the emergency committee, the economists said the federal government should hasten return of prosperity by large scale expansion in five fields—namely: highway building, reforestation, irrigation, drainage and improved water transport, reclamation of wasts lands, flood control, and elimination of grade crossings.

"These public works, projected on a scale to check the present business depression, would require possibly a billion dollars to be effective," the statement said. "The cost cannot be compared to the loss sustained by all classes if such expenditures are not made.

"Taxation for such purposes, equitably distributed, would not be seriously felt by any group. It is difficult to understand the timidity in this crisis of business men and legislators."

OVERCOME BY FUMES, REVIVED.

Mrs. Eva Klein, 71 years old widow, was found unconscious from coal fumes yesterday on the kitchen floor of her flat at 1943 Dayton street. She was revived after an hour's work by inhalator squad No. 3, commanded by Capt. Thomas Shay.

JOYRIDER OF 14 DIES OF INJURIES; COUNTY TOLL 24

Charles Venus, 14 years old, one of five juvenile joyriders who came to grief Saturday night when their automobile sidewiped another car and then plunged into a telephone pole, died yesterday in the German Deaconess hospital of a fractured skull.

The dead boy lived at 3534 Parnell avenue, and was a passenger in a car driven by Quintin Anderson, 16 years old, of 3629 Lowe avenue. This death and three others raised the Cook county total for the new year to 24. The victims:

Margaret Nelson, 19 years old, 2111 West 69th street. Died in the German Deaconess hospital of injuries received on Saturday when a car driven by her brother collided with a truck at 63d and Morgan streets.

Vincent Lucik, 50 years old, 809 South State street. Died in the County hospital of injuries received on Dec. 26 when struck by a Yellow cab at 94th street and Commercial avenue.

Edward Duttner, 19 years old, 6214 Peterson avenue. Struck and fatally injured last night by the automobile of a hit and run driver at Greenleaf and Harlem avenues, just inside the city limits from Niles. He died in the Belmont hospital.

Mrs. Sarah Goodman, 47 years old, 526 Main street, Racine, was killed, her 9 year old nephew, John Wiener, seriously injured, and her son, Jerome, 20 years old, slightly injured early yesterday when their automobile collided with a truck in Waukegan road at Washington street, Waukegan. James Kessering of Milwaukee, driver of the truck, was held.

Mrs. Eva Schelin, 36 years old, of 1327 East 57th street was struck and probably fatally injured last night as she was crossing the street near her home. The driver of the car was Mrs. Helen Johnson, 35 years old, 1455 East 54th street.

The Chicago safety council last night issued a bulletin reminding motorists that children will be back in school today and urging caution in driving, especially near schools.

"School children playing in groups often forget their warnings," the bulletin says, "and are inclined to dash across the streets without looking. Every car should be driven so that it can be stopped if a child suddenly darts in front of it."

DEMAND TO PAY CASH BONUS TO STIR CONGRESS

G. O. P. Faces Battle to Beat Patman Bill.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Agitation for immediate payment of the world war veterans' adjusted compensation certificates in cash loomed today on the eve of the reassembling of congress as likely to furnish constant trouble to the administration.

Representative Wright Patman [Dem., Tex.], who is sponsoring the bill around which the agitation is centering, predicted today that action would be obtained in the house through the discharge of the ways and means committee from further consideration of the measures. He said he believed that the petition for such action, which has already been signed by members from 28 states, would be signed by the required number of 218 within a few days. Under the rules, if a petition of this character is signed by a majority of the members of the house, the committee holding the bill is required to report it to the house within 15 days.

Cites Johnston Statement.

Mr. Patman charged that unfair tactics have been employed to defeat the bill. He cited a statement by Representative Royal C. Johnson [Rep., S. D.], chairman of the house veterans committee, that veterans working for passage of the bill are "racketeers," a statement by Representative W. C. Hawley [Rep., Ore.], chairman of the ways and means committee, that the American Legion has not demanded the legislation, and a statement by Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, head of the veterans administration, relative to the possibility of borrowing by veterans on their certificates under the present law.

"Our nation is the wealthiest on earth," said Mr. Patman. "It owes less in proportion to wealth than any other country. It has given billions of dollars to other countries in recent years and much of it was used to pay their own veterans adjusted pay and bonuses up to $7,000 each.

No Increases in Taxes Needed.

"We can pay the veterans in cash now by selling bonds at the lowest interest rate in the history of our nation and retire the last one of those bonds in three or four years. By diverting payments from the public debt, which is already overpaid up to this time, no increase in taxes will be necessary now or later.

Meanwhile Senator A. E. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], who is friendly to the administration, intends to continue his efforts to obtain approval of some sort of a compromise plan. He favors legislation to permit veterans to borrow up to 50 per cent of the ultimate value of their certificates.

Big Freight Wreck Delays Erie Trains Five Hours

Ridgewood, N. J., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Derailment of thirteen freight cars at Ridgewood Junction today delayed traffic on the Erie railroad's main line between New York and Chicago more than five hours and caused estimated damage of $100,000.

FARMERS' FOOD "RAID" ON TOWN IS EXAGGERATED

Red Cross Discounts Arkansas "Foray."

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—American Red Cross officials said tonight that Associated Press reports that 500 farmers had stormed the town of England, Ark., and clamored for food were not borne out from reports so far received from Henry M. Baker, assistant director for drought relief, who was rushed from St. Louis to that point yesterday to look into the situation. Mr. Baker late last night sent this report to John Barton Payne, head of the Red Cross in Washington:

"I am reporting here with England, Ark., situation well in hand, with Red Cross chapter extending relief fully supplemented by municipal officials and community leaders. All needy applicants entitled to relief received it by 7 o'clock tonight in orderly, systematic manner. Disturbance caused by about forty men from one section of the country, causing only temporary excitement, but no damage to property or persons."

Caraway Will Ask Aid Today.

Senator T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.], who will introduce a bill tomorrow for $15,000,000 for food loans, said that he had not received any personal information from Arkansas. He said that he knew that the farmers of his state were in a bad condition and required assistance from outside sources.

"Conditions in my state," he said, "brought to my attention today by the press dispatches and the reported extreme suffering in the country districts, humanely call for federal assistance, and this is the reason why I shall move for federal aid tomorrow. I expect that $15,000,000 additional, besides the $45,000,000 for drought relief loans will not be enough to provide for all those who are suffering in this country, and that in the end congress will provide for an appropriation of at least $75,000,000."

Hyde Sees Red Cross Official.

Secretary of Agriculture Hyde said that he had conferred with Mr. Payne of the Red Cross relative to reports from Arkansas. He said that he believed the Red Cross not only could handle the situation in Arkansas, but in other sections of the country where help is needed.

Mr. Payne expects to be able to present to the senate appropriations committee fullest details as to what the Red Cross has done and will be able to do in relieving those in the drought area, when he appears before that body on Tuesday. The Red Cross has been meeting relief demands from a $5,000,000 fund set aside for that purpose.

ABANDON PLANS FOR COLLEGE AT VIRGINIA BEACH

New York, Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Morton H. Blumenthal and Edwin H. Blumenthal, brokers, announced today that they have abandoned plans for the continuation of Atlantic university at Virginia Beach, Va. The university was opened last Sept. 22 and has about 200 students. It was started by the Blumenthal brothers and others, who invested $60,000 in it.

The Blumenthals give as reason for dissolution the alleged failure of Dr. William Moseley Brown, president of the school and former professor of psychology at Washington and Lee university, to live up to the budget of operating expenses authorized by the board.

BANK TANGLE IN TENNESSEE MAY OUST GOVERNOR

Caldwell Crash Is Linked with Politics.

the only statement which he has made since the debacle, a statement that bound him to no candidate.

Two years ago the Republicans of east Tennessee and the Crump machine were opposed to the Lea-Caldwell-Horton group, but Crump was taken into camp with the promise of good roads for his section. The administration gave him the roads, and he lined up for the Horton ticket, which included Fitzhugh, John Brown, and Carl Larsen for the senate. Horton won by 70,000. Now Crump is sorry, but what sorrowful realignment he will make of his forces remains to be seen.

Republican's Charges Ignored.

Arthur Bruce, the Republican candidate, made vigorous charges against Gov. Horton during the campaign, but the governor was presented as an abused, Christian gentleman. Mr. Bruce charged waste and extravagance, excessive cost in building highways, and drew attention to $948,947, which the state had spent for "Ky-rock," a paving product controlled by Caldwell. Lea and Caldwell, he said, were the real governors of the state. If he had had then the material now at hand the result might have been different.

Senators Fitzhugh, Larsen and Brown are among the seven holdover senators, and they are also recorded as having voted for the various changes in the funding laws made at a special session of the legislature last December which lie at the bottom of this whole situation. This explains how it happens that $5,701,881 of state funds are tied up in three banks, the combined capitalization of which is only about one-fourth of this sum. These are the Bank of Tennessee of Nashville, the Liberty Bank and Trust company of Nashville, and the Holston-Union National bank of Knoxville, all closed now and with diminishing prospects of paying out much.

Depository Laws Changed.

Until the legislature last winter, at a special session which attracted little attention, passed new laws the state was limited by law to depositing in any one bank a sum of more than one-fourth of the paid-in capital. This was nullified and it was left with the state finance commission to handle the deposits. At the same time C. M. McCabe was added to the finance board on motion of Senator H. M. Candler of Athens. McCabe had formerly been president of one of the Caldwell insurance companies, and was commissioner of finance and taxation. There was only one vote in opposition to this, although it changed the complexion of the funding board to a majority for Horton.

The bill authorizing the funding board to designate depositories for highway accounts passed 21 to 10. This bill was drafted, it is said, by W. E. Norvell, Caldwell & Co. lawyer.

As a third step at this smoothly engineered session an additional $10,000,000 in highway notes was authorized, to be added to the $25,000,000 authorized at the regular session.

Caldwell Makes State Loan.

The funding board authorized McCabe to borrow $2,500,000 to meet deficiencies. A New York syndicate offered the loan at 4.8 per cent and Caldwell at 4.676 per cent, which was approved. There was a strong opposition, however, to the Caldwell loan. The state was required to deposit all proceeds from the loan in Caldwell's bank until required. In this way they got 3 per cent interest and paid 4.676.

Under the old law the deposits in the three failed banks would have been limited to $337,000. Either the reënactment of this law or a similar one protecting deposits, is one of the objects of the present investigation.

Caldwell, in various interviews, in which he blames his failure to the world-wide depression and the stock crash, has mentioned that he was in trouble last summer, that the depression after June was more than he could endure.

The records show that after July 1 the highway commissioner, Robert Baker, deposited with the two Caldwell banks, the Holston-Union and the Bank of Tennessee, $4,631,178. One question that may come up is whether any of this state money was accepted for deposit after it was known that the banks could not meet obligations.

The charge that state deposits of $250,000 were placed with the Holston Trust company to support shaking Lea projects was made last Saturday by Robert Young, attorney for a creditor, before Chancellor Robert M. Jones.

Gov. Horton has written a long defense of his actions and the actions of the funding board, for which he accepts responsibility. The bonds filed in security for the deposits were signed by Caldwell and some of his subordinates. These are now questionable, although the state claims a preferred creditorship and seeks a unified receivership.

The governor points out that at the time these deposits were made and the guaranty bonds accepted a Bradstreet report showed Rogers Caldwell was worth around $7,000,000.

All legal forms were complied with, he says, and no one could have foreseen this result. He defies his critics to show any wrong intention or crookedness.

Explains Deposit Law Changes.

He explains the changes in the deposit law as follows:

"Under the law before the passage of this act there were no provisions for the execution of any additional bond for a state depository to cover highway funds and frequently the minimum amount required to be deposited in state depositories by law was greater than the bond executed by the depository.

"By the new act the state funding board was expressly authorized to require banks which desired to keep on deposit highway funds to execute additional bond, in such sums and containing such terms as the board might approve. This act, in short, casts upon the funding board the duty to approve such banks as are regular state depositories, and which in addition thereto desire to become custodians of the highway fund. As governor, I approved the act and have no apologies therefor."

The governor declares he has implicit confidence in his officers and pledges to aid in a full, complete and impartial legislative investigation of all the state departments.

In addition to the state funds, Knox county had $750,000 in the closed banks and there were other city and county funds there.

CONGRESS BACK AT WORK TODAY, AFTER HOLIDAYS

Comes Primed to Criticize Relief Program.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Congress will reassemble tomorrow, after a two weeks' holiday recess, with numerous members in both branches primed to stir up trouble for the administration with new proposals for relief of various kinds.

Entirely unsatisfied by the two major pieces of relief legislation enacted before the holidays, on the recommendation of President Hoover, the Democrats and radical Republicans will offer all sorts of suggestions.

Developments in Arkansas, where 500 farmers stormed the town of England demanding food, will intensify the pleas affecting relief in the drought stricken areas. Senator Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], minority leader of the senate, was active in the unsuccessful efforts to obtain a clause in the drought relief bill authorizing loans for food as well as for seed, feed, and fertilizer, and the occurrence in his home state will cause him to renew his efforts along this line. Senator T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.] announced his intention of offering a bill for the appropriation of $15,000,000 for food loans to farmers.

Senate Flares Certain.

Flareups on the floor of the senate are expected, with President Hoover and Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, who resisted the granting of food loans, as two particular targets.

The drought relief situation will come officially before the house tomorrow, when a bill appropriating $45,000,000 for loans under the authorization for this amount approved by congress before the holidays will be reported from the committee on appropriations. Its prompt passage is expected.

Administration spokesmen in congress will attempt to quiet the disturbers by insisting the drought situation will have been adequately cared for when the appropriation bill is passed. Representative John Q. Tilson [Rep., Conn.], majority leader in the house, offered assurance of this.

Drought Relief Bill Up.

"With the prompt passage of the $45,000,000 relief measure a final step in the drought relief program of the administration and the congress will have been taken," said Mr. Tilson. "Machinery of the department of agriculture has been put in readiness for the handling of this relief fund expeditiously.

"The drought relief program is made up of successive steps taken at the direction of President Hoover and by the congress since it assembled early last month."

After enumerating various steps taken by the federal drought relief committee, the department of agriculture, the intermediate credit banks, the farm board and other agencies, Mr. Tilson said that the $45,000,000 loan fund will make it possible for the afflicted farmers to proceed with the planting of their spring crops.

The new proposals dealing with the unemployment situation will be predicated on the theory that the administration bill enacted before the holidays for the appropriation of 116 million dollars to speed up highway, river and harbor and flood control projects already authorized is inadequate as a relief measure.

Wheeler Backs Highway Bill.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler [Dem., Mont.] today came forward with a suggestion for approval of the bill by Representative W. P. Holaday [Rep., Ill.], which has been pending for five years, for a 5 billion dollar bond issue and the employment of 1,000,000 persons in the building of a federal highway system.

"The administration can take action to put a million men to work by having the Republican leaders in the house take the 'embargo' off the federal highway system bill, which has been bottled up in the house ways and means committee for five years," said Senator Wheeler. "A million men, building roads and manufacturing road building machinery and material, will provide jobs for another million men, creating the necessities of life for them and their families."

Representatives F. H. La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.], an anti-administration member of the President's own party, asserted that "it is the duty of the federal government to take such action as to eliminate suffering, hunger and want in the future."

"There is want and hunger all over the country, and denials to the contrary do not change an actual fact," said Mr. La Guardia.

A WHO'S WHO OF THE RADICALS IN PRIM G. O. P. FOLD

Upset Party Reputation for Conservatism.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
ARTICLE NO. 2.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Most of the senate radicals are affiliated with the Republican party and that's what all the shooting is about.

The Republican party is the traditional party of conservatism. Its conservative leaders, from President Hoover down, have been shocked and exasperated to find their party harboring radicals, particularly radicals who are not content with spouting, but insist on voting their radicalism and who refuse to stand hitched in the party fold with respect either to support of Republican candidates for President or of Republican administration programs and policies.

Question Right to Party Name.

The Republican radicals, according to their critics, are really not Republicans at all, and if not Democrats in disguise, are independents who have taken the Republican label merely because in their states the Republican is the dominant party and therefore the only party on whose ticket a candidate can be assured of election to office.

To which, like Pilate asking what is truth, Senator George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.], leader of the radical group, has been moved to retort with the query: "What is a Republican?"

Mr. Norris is not quite sure what is a Republican, but he thinks he has as good a little to the name as President Hoover who ten years ago could not say whether he was a Democrat or a Republican.

Is a Hoovercrat a Democrat?

Moreover, if Mr. Hoover thinks Frank R. McNinch of North Carolina is still a Democrat, though he supported Mr. Hoover in 1928, Senator Norris cannot understand why the President should not consider him [Norris] still a Republican, though he supported Al Smith. And Mr. Hoover professes to regard Mr. HcNinch still a Democrat, for he appointed the North Carolinian to one of the Democratic places in the power commission.

"Pseudo-Republicans" the radicals were dubbed months ago by Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., Ohio], now chairman of the Republican national committee. "Consummate demagogues" was the epithet flung at them by Representative Will Wood [Republican, Ind.], chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee.

A good deal of free advertising which they promptly capitalized was given the radicals when Senator George H. Moses [Rep., N. H.] referred to them as "sons of the wild jackass." Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.] denounced them as "worse than communists."

They Call Themselves Progressives.

Others have called them socialists because of their advocacy of government ownership and operation of railroads, electric power plants and other public utilities. To this the radicals answer that they are not socialists for the reason that they do not believe in the public ownership of the means of production of all wealth, as do the socialists.

Progressives are what the radicals call themselves, to the great indignation of the more conservative survivors of Roosevelt's Progressive party of 1912 but perfect equanimity of the remnants of La Follette's Progressive party of 1924.

The Radical Bloc.

George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.], who succeeded the late Robert M. La Follette [Rep., Wis.], as leader of the group. He was the group's candidate for the Republican nomination for President in 1928, receiving 24 out of the 1,089 votes in the national convention. Mr. Norris declines to state to what extent he has voted for Republican candidates for President, though he openly supported Smith in 1928 and is known to have voted for La Follette in 1924.

William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], the great man of the group, who is the principal thorn in the side of the administration, for the reason that though he was prominent in procuring the nomination and election of Mr. Hoover he has not conspicuously supported Hoover policies. Mr. Borah has always been regular in support of Republican candidates for President except in 1912 when, though he refused to join the Bull Moose party, he voted for Roosevelt, but on the theory that Roosevelt was by rights the regular Republican nominee.

Robert M. La Follette [Rep., Wis.], an exceedingly able and resourceful member and prospective leader of the group. He declined to state to what extent he has voted for Republican nominees for President, though it is taken for granted he voted for his father for President in 1924. His father did not vote for any candidate for President in 1912, 1916, and 1920.

Robert B. Howell [Rep., Neb.], who has regularly voted for Republican candidates for President, including Taft in 1912, though he had supported Roosevelt in the primary.

Thomas D. Schall [Rep., Minn.], a Bull Mooser in 1912, who otherwise has voted the regular ticket.

Smith W. Brookhart [Rep., Ia.], who has the reputation of being one of the most radical members of the group. He was a Bull Mooser in 1912, voted for Woodrow Wilson in 1916, for the Prohibition party candidate in 1920, for La Follette in 1924, and for Hoover in 1928. Up to 1912 he was a regular Republican, having voted for Harrison, McKinley, Roosevelt, and Taft. For supporting La Follette he was reduced in rank on senate committees.

Once a Nonpartisan.

Lynn J. Frazier [Rep., N. D.], a product of the Nonpartisan league, who was sent to the senate after being ousted from the governorship of North Dakota by recall. He supported La Follette in 1924, for which lapse from regularity he was reduced in rank on senate committees.

Gerald P. Nye [Rep., N. D.], another product of the Nonpartisan league. His only lapse from regularity in elections was in 1916, when he voted for Wilson.

John J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.], who supported Woodrow Wilson for President in 1912 and La Follette in 1924.

William H. McMaster [Rep., S. D.], who was defeated for reelection last November. He has voted for all regular Republican candidates for President except in 1912, when he supported Roosevelt on the theory that Roosevelt was in reality the regular nominee.

Bronson Cutting [Rep., N. M.], only millionaire member of the group. He was a Bull Mooser in 1912.

Burton K. Wheeler [Dem., Mont.], nominee for Vice President on La Follette's Progressive party ticket in 1924.

Thomas J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.], now generally regarded as a member in good standing of the radical group.

Clarence C. Dill [Dem., Wash.], whose regularity as a radical is not questioned.

In addition to these 15 Republicans and Democrats there are 2 Republicans who are more or less identified with the radical group. They are William B. Pine of Oklahoma, recently defeated for reelection, who was a regular during his early service in the senate but became an insurgent following a break with the administration over the conduct of Indian affairs in his state, and Peter Norbeck of South Dakota, who frequently lines up with the regulars.

There are eight other senators who, while not recognized members of the radical group, frequently join the bloc in action on legislation. They are James Couzens [Rep., Mich.], a multimillionaire who in many respects, particularly with reference to his views on the unequal division of wealth, is more radical than the most extreme of the radical group; Charles L. McNary [Rep., Ore.], Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.], Alben W. Barkley [Dem., Ky.], David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.], Robert F. Wagner [Dem., N. Y.], T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.], and Tom Connally [Dem., Tex.].

[The next article will describe the objectives of the radicals.]

DANDRUFF
A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid Arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

2 DIE, 15 HURT IN RUHR COAL MINE STRIKE BATTLES

Russian Agitators Incite Workers to Violence.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 4.—Two lives were lost and 15 miners injured in the Ruhr district today in battles between the police and communist miners incited by the fiery speeches of speakers who the police said were Russian emissaries sent from Moscow.

More than 2,000 strikers besieged the Lintfort police station near Moers, attempting to release two communist officials who had been arrested for urging acts of violence at a public demonstration. The battle lasted for an hour with continuous exchange of shots. One striker was shot dead and 12 wounded. Ultimately the police drove off the attackers and cleared the streets.

Attack Would-Be Worker.

Strikers also fired on miners seeking to enter the Hansemann colliery near Dortmund. Of two sons accompanying and protecting their 60 year old father on his way to work, one was shot dead through the head and the other was severely wounded. The father was not injured but two other miners were injured.

Coal mine owners in the region have issued an ultimatum to 32,000 strikers that they will be summarily dismissed if they do not return to work tomorrow.

Call General Strike.

The strikers have retorted with an appeal for a general strike, with a special appeal to transport workers to aid the workers "against the dictatorship of the Young plan exploiters who are seeking to enforce wage cuts."

The mining trouble developed last Friday when the operators notified the 300,000 miners in the Ruhr that they must accept wage cuts on Jan. 15 or lose their jobs.

Minor disturbances also took place at Reeklinghausen, Langengochum and Marl. Police had to use their clubs on miners who hurled stones and threw pepper.

Minister of Labor Adam Stegerwald announced tonight that he would leave for Dortmund in the morning to make a personal investigation into the dispute between the mine owners and employés.

PANAMA FARMERS HALT THREAT OF COUNTER REVOLT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, Jan. 4.—Having been warned that any attempt at an attack on the capital would be strongly resisted, the Chepo farmers halted the armed threat they began last night. The city is still strongly protected by civil guards, especially along the roads leading to Chepo, 46 miles east of here.

The city is quiet tonight and the streets are practically deserted. The provisional government is organizing a new police force to replace that of the régime ousted in Friday's short revolution. The saloons will not be allowed to open up until a regular police force has been established.

Hartwell F. Ayers, American newspaper man, who was severely wounded during the revolution, is in good humor and bravely holding on to life, but his temperature is rising and little hope is held out for his recovery.

BOLIVIA ELECTS PRESIDENT; ONE DEATH REPORTED

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Bolivia's capital took its politics calmly in the presidential election today but reports of disturbances in the provinces and one death reached La Paz tonight.

In La Paz soldiers patroled the streets to prevent possible clashes which might result from celebrations over the apparent victory of the Liberal-Republican coalition candidates.

Dr. Daniel Salamanca, the only presidential candidate, and backed by the Liberal-Republican coalition, received a heavy vote in La Paz despite the lack of opposition. For vice president early returns indicated that Dr. Jose Luis Tejada Sorzano, also Liberal-Republican, had defeated Dr. Bautista Saavedra by two to one. This indication was based on the result in La Paz, which usually reflects the national balloting.

You can simplify your laundry problems by having Davies do your flat work—it will be done better than you can do it in your own home, and more economically. Call Calumet 1976 for a demonstration.

NEEDY FAMILIES PLEAD FOR HELP OF GOOD FELLOWS

Facing Crisis in Harsh Winter Months.

There is no speculation, Good Fellows, in a forecast that January and February will bring some severe weather to Chicago. Notwithstanding the efforts of various relief agencies, there are still many families facing these cold months underclad and underfed and threatened with eviction from homes where the gas and heat have already been shut off.

The Good Fellows are providing food, shelter, heat and clothes to 252 families, but there are many more that need these necessities. Donations to the fund are used 100 per cent for this assistance to families struggling to become self-supporting again. THE TRIBUNE pays the expense of administrating the fund.

Investigate Pleas for Help.

The Good Fellow headquarters, in THE TRIBUNE offices at Dearborn and Madison streets, has received more than 5,000 letters requesting help. These are distributed to the permanent charity organizations, through the Chicago Council of Social Agencies, for investigation and for relief.

The families adopted by the Good Fellows are recommended by the United Charities, the Central Charity bureau (Catholic), the Jewish Social Service bureau, or the Salvation Army.

Here is an example of one of these letters:

"Good Fellows: This is my first essay in the ranks of pauperism. I am finally compelled to make application to some one for temporary relief. My wife and I have had no food for thirty-six hours. We are threatened with eviction for nonpayment of rent. We invite a most thorough investigation. Can you do anything for us?"

Asks Help for Children.

Another reads in part as follows:

"Good Fellows: For the sake of my children will you please investigate my case promptly? My husband has not had any work for ten months. I have no food for my children. They haven't enough clothes to leave the flat. There is no coal for the stove. I am behind in the rent, the gas bills, and the electric bills. Please do something soon."

If you want to help some cold and hungry family through the winter write the Good Fellows, THE TRIBUNE, Chicago. The average standard budget for a destitute family for January and February is $200, $100 a month. If this is too much for you alone to donate maybe some of your associates in your office, or in your church, or at your club would welcome a suggestion to join you in adopting a family for the rest of the winter.

Or your check, large or small, will be applied against the budget of some worthy family. There's a coupon printed on this page for your convenience in mailing a contribution.

GOOD FELLOWS!

If you alone or you and your associates wish to help a hungry family through the winter, fill out the blanks below and mail to "The Good Fellow," The Tribune, Chicago:

THOUSANDS LOSE AUSTRALIAN JOBS; BLAME NEW LAWS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 4.—Starting tomorrow, tens of thousands of workers in the factories and retail establishments of New South Wales will be dismissed as a result of the policy of John Lang, leader of the Labor party, of abolishing the rationing of employment and restoring the 44 hours working week instead of the 48 hour week.

Both these steps have seriously increased the cost of labor, and manufacturers have felt the effect. They are transferring a large portion of their New South Wales trade to Victoria. Other imposts proposed by Mr. Lang include a tax on wages for relief among unemployed and large increases of taxes on capital and incomes to assist in the relief of the heavy prospective deficit in the state's finances. Another one of his schemes recently introduced was a tax on the Winnipeg system of betting at horse races. The estimated revenue from this source will be substantially reduced. An immediate effect has been a great reduction in attendance at race meets.

6 KILLED, 33 HURT IN NEW RACIAL RIOTS IN RANGOON

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 4.—(AP)—In a renewal of rioting between Burmese and Chinese in West Rangoon today six persons were killed and thirty-three injured. Numerous minor clashes occurred throughout the day and the total of injured and dead in the two days of rioting is estimated at seventy-five. Authorities said steps would be taken to prevent a spread of the rioting.

Flames Menace Thousands of Acres of Coal Lands

Zanesville, O., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Thousands of acres of coal lands in the Cannelville area, south of here, were menaced tonight by a fire that has burned unchecked for ten days in a four foot coal vein on the farm of Orville Dozer, near Cannelville. State mine inspectors said it would be impossible to extinguish the flames. Should the fire continue, it was feared it might reach several large gas wells in the vicinity. One producing well is on the Dozer farm and a pipe line crosses the coal mine property.

Wounded Suspect Held as Filling Station Robber

Harrisburg, Ill., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Ulysses Cutsinger, 26, was shot and wounded in fleeing from two state patrolmen who sought to question him, and was later captured by Sheriff J. Choisser. He is held on the tentative charge of possessing a stolen automobile, but is believed to have robbed several filling stations in this section.

6 HURT IN MADRID AS MOUNTED COPS CHARGE WORKERS

MADRID, Jan. 4.—[By Telephone to London.]—(AP)—Six persons were injured slightly today as mounted police charged to break up a demonstration by 250 persons in Puerta Del Sol, principal square of Madrid. The manifestation, in which mainly railway workers and students participated, was the first such in the Spanish capital since martial law was proclaimed after two attempts at military revolt last month.

The trouble began when a group of discontented railway men attempted to visit political prisoners and were refused entrance to the jail because the law limits such a visiting party to eight persons.

Later in the afternoon the same group, augmented by other workers and students, attempted to parade through Puerta Del Sol, shouting protests against the government. Mounted police scattered them with sabers, and the incident caused intense excitement in Madrid.

English Lounging Chair. One of the most luxurious forms designed. The back is a specially constructed, down-filled, removable cushion. The frame slopes in a graceful curve almost to the floor. Hand-tied springs. Wide Scotch webbing. The quality is second to none. Heretofore $180. Special price $135

Chippendale Style Pie-crust Table. Single piece with hand-carved top. Delicately carved claw and ball feet dovetailed to pedestal. Heretofore $87.00. Special price $45

HARD TIMES are hardest on the things of illusion—on the specious, the showy, the bizarre.

So, if right now there is less interest in the stock-ticker, there is more concentration on the daily task; if less attendance at the night clubs, more appreciation in the home.

Home endures, and the need for home endures, and the satisfactions of home proceed from the sound and genuine things there which endure.

This is particularly true of home furnishings, amid which we live in intimate and perennial association, and from which we draw home's bounty of comfort and repose.

There is shown on the floors of the DANERSK salesrooms furniture good to see and to own.

Its authentic beauty has root in sound character which will satisfy the spirit whether times be easy or hard.

An important collection of DANERSK FURNITURE at exceptional reductions

FOR a limited time we will offer at marked reductions in price all DANERSK designs that are discontinued to make room for new pieces. These items include many of our choicest collectors' pieces which have now become "limited editions."

To insure employment for our large colony of skilled craftsmen during the present winter months, we are this year including in these price reductions hundreds of additional items throughout our entire DANERSK collection of Early American maple, 18th Century mahogany, oak, and walnut—groups for all rooms at prices far below their true value.

Obviously, those who take advantage of the present prices will not only benefit their homes by adding pedigreed furniture of lasting value but they will do this for a smaller outlay than they could otherwise possibly obtain.

NEW MACHINERY SET TO SPEED UP RELIEF CAMPAIGN

Many Unsolicited Concerns to Be Reached.

With only 65 per cent of the $5,000,000 quota for unemployment relief now pledged or collected, Philip R. Clarke, chairman of the fund campaign, yesterday indicated that new machinery will be set up to solicit firms not yet approached.

Classification of approximately 500 concerns which, through being outside the 26 trade divisions operating as the fund collecting organization, have not been visited, was completed yesterday. These concerns were to be assigned either to existing trade divisions or to new committees today.

Many Companies Respond.

"Many unlisted concerns have responded to our press and radio appeal, sending in subscriptions for themselves and introducing the pay-deduction scheme of contributions to their employés," said Mr. Clarke. "A great many of these concerns are yet to be solicited.

"This week will find our drive going at its fastest pace. We must conclude this humanitarian effort with success, and that quickly. We have been at the job six weeks and we can't use much more time if we are to meet increasingly urgent demands with promptness.

"Our efforts this week will be suggestive of the intensive work done in the hardest of the Liberty loan drives," said Mr. Clarke. "Every one recalls the pace we traveled in those days, but not every one realizes that the urgency today is just as great so far as the welfare of Chicago is concerned."

Census Plans Complete.

Plans have been completed for the federal unemployment census to begin Jan. 15 and continue two weeks, R. L. Goodman, census director, announced yesterday. He appealed to hotel managers, lodging house keepers and apartment operators to coöperate during the one day count of the city's floating population.

The law authorizing the census provides a $500 penalty for building managers refusing to give census enumerators necessary information, Mr. Goodman pointed out.

NO PROGRESS MADE TOWARD SOLUTION OF GIRL'S SLAYING

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Vainly the capital's wisest sleuths today sought a clew to the mysterious death Wednesday of Beulah Limerick, 19, who was buried yesterday.

Inspector Shelby said after quizzing Beulah's brother and sister that he had nothing new to link Patrolman Robert F. Langdon, a suspect until last night, with the fatal shooting.

New revelations concerning Beulah's life in the capital were made by police after they pored over a diary she kept. Edward J. Kelly, assistant chief of detectives, said about 18 young men had been questioned.

Langdon was booked for investigation after authorities learned the girl complained he had annoyed her and that he voluntarily surrendered a cartridge shell and bullet he said he found in the death room while he was detailed to guard it. But ballistics investigation showed no connection between the bullet and shell and two pistols belonging to the policeman.

DENTAL SOCIETY TO OPEN CLINIC TO HELP JOBLESS

Relief for the unemployed who through lack of funds have been suffering from dental ills will be available Wednesday morning when the free dental clinic of the Chicago Dental society is opened at 311 East Chicago avenue, in the Northwestern university dental school. All persons accredited to the clinic by recognized social and charitable agencies will be given treatment free of charge, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Harris W. McClain, president of the society.

At the start of this service three chairs will be in operation from 9 to 5 each day, members of the society donating their services in shifts of three.

Chairs and other equipment have been donated by the Chicago Dental Dealers' association. Space for the clinic was obtained through the cooperation of Dr. Arthur D. Black, dean of dental surgery at the university.

SHORTER HOURS URGED BY GREEN TO AID JOBLESS

Labor Chief Sees Signs of Better Times.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Four fundamental principles essential for the restoration and maintenance of business prosperity were enumerated today by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. The four were:

1. High wages to finance consumers.
2. Shorter hours so as to give employment to as many as possible.
3. Organization of wage earners so this large group of consumers may be in a position to advance their interests and keep their returns from industry advancing with increased productivity.
4. The development of the machinery to set up coördinated control of industries.

Stimulate Business Activity.

"Fear has laid a paralyzing hand on our business transactions and there is needless demoralization," said Mr. Green. "This fear is born of uncertainty. There can be no stability without organization based upon advance planning. What is needed in this critical situation is clear judgment and discriminating application of principles that will stimulate business activity. Attention necessarily has been directed to relief first, but permanent help can come only from return to regular customary employment.

"Wage earners look forward to the coming months of 1931 with the hope that the seasonal improvement will be the beginning of better times. We feel confident that American business has the capacity and resourcefulness to put order into our economic relations so that we can avoid breakdowns. Future progress lies in team work and trade unions stand committed to a program of coöperation for the promotion of mutual interests."

Rally to Meet Emergency.

Mr. Green said that gloomy as present conditions are, "we find hope in the spirit with which communities are rallying to meet the emrgency of widespread need."

"Approximately five million of wage earners are without employment. Gloomy as present conditions are, we find hope in the spirit with which communities are rallying to meet the emergency of widespread need and the capacity of American citizens to cope with difficult problems; in our unemployment reports from unions in 24 industrial centers showing the increase in unemployment this month is much less than last month and less than the regular seasonal increase for this month; in the fact that deflation of prices has gone so far as to indicate the bottom has been reached."

Learn of Serious Injury to Clive Runnells in West

Clive Runnells, vice president of the Pullman company, is confined to his house in East Mission street, Santa Barbara, Cal., suffering from a broken vertebrae. He will be for six weeks more under medical care. The accident happened some weeks ago when his horse toppled over backward and pinioned him. News of the accident just reached Chicago.

Dangerous Gassy Stomach Torture Ends Quick

"I am pleased and glad to say and tell you that a package of ACIDINE helped me quicker than anything else I ever tried," says William Rontz of Windgap, Pa. "I will tell you there are a good many people killed with this gas in the stomach. If you have a weak heart it is dangerous. I tell others about this—to get ACIDINE and try it."

Just another of thousands who are astonished at the way this new prescription ACIDINE succeeds when other known remedies fail. The reason is it is different from other medicines. ACIDINE contains Japtase, which, in laboratory tests, digested 800 times its own weight of certain heavy starchy foods. ACIDINE neutralizes burning acid, soothes irritated stomach and intestinal linings, helps end acidosis.

Eat, drink all you want. When sour stomach, gas, pain, heartburn, bad taste, heavy feeling, short breath, dizziness, belching, nervousness, colds, gassy headaches and sleeplessness trouble you, take ACIDINE. Results guaranteed. If not delighted, maker refunds money.

INFLUENCES IN AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICIES.

The Irish Free State has ratified the London naval treaty and it is proclaimed in effect with a foreword by Secretary Stimson, who says that it is a happy augury for peace and a stimulation of further peaceful endeavor during the coming year. There are Americans who have their doubts. The American navy might survive another conference, but there could be no confidence that it would. Two of them reduced it from first to third place and now it seems to be regarded as an auxiliary to the British fleet.

The Free State ratification of the treaty had been taken for granted as a formality, which points to a change affecting the United States in foreign relations, the cause being largely out of American control and the consequences being considerable. Not many years ago it would have been improbable that an American government would have considered such a naval treaty with Great Britain. Irish-Americans would have opposed it and their influence in domestic politics would have been taken into account by any administration to which a treaty had been proposed.

Such considerations enter into government policies not infrequently with undesirable consequences. Decisions sometimes are made contrary to the best national interests because people in America have sympathies engaged in foreign issues. That is the case in the treatment of immigration legislation now. Neither congress nor the administration takes eyes off the foreign groups when restrictions are to be determined.

The British government was a long time in seeing the fact that so long as Ireland was deprived of self-government the United States could not be brought into treaties and agreements which the British desired. If the fact was seen it was regarded as unimportant so long as the empire did not have misgivings as to its own future, and, so long as Ireland was filled with a sense of wrongs energetically expressed in the United States, American governments were conservative in their foreign relations with Great Britain. They took no chances with political opinion here. John Hay made a blunder in the Panama canal treaty, but he was pulled out of that in short order. Later there was the matter of canal tolls, whether American shipping must be put on equal footing with foreign. Justice to the interior required that the seaboard pay and not be given this government subsidy, but Mr. Wilson had to proceed cautiously and with mysterious words of alarm because he seemed to be yielding to British demands.

Now in the place of an influence in the United States which made governments conservative in their dealings with the British there is one which makes them extravagant in many questions of foreign policy, particularly questions seeming to present humanitarian and altruistic issues. That influence is the enfranchised woman.

The addition of women to the electorate has had small effect in domestic affairs. It has doubled up the vote, but the consequences of voting are about what they were under manhood suffrage. There has not been a great moral uplift. The women did not raise the level of politics above anything the men had been able to do. There was no sound reason to expect that they would, although that expectation was a part of the suffrage movement. It is, however, credible that the sentimentality of American conduct in foreign affairs is of feminine inspiration.

American governments show that they are sensitively aware of an electorate apparently willing to give up material interests, the loss of which is not appreciated because the points of contact are so remote. Very likely the great majority of American women do not feel that way and are not willing to sacrifice national causes to sentimentality, but administrations assume that they are from such evidence as gets to Washington. The articulated sentiment is that way. Therefore it seems unnecessary to examine any proposal made in the name of peace for its real meaning or its probable consequences. That is the line American governments now take, trusting to the magic of words to demonstrate the soundness of policies.

The United States is willing to take any chance with the future that a smooth sentence can give unction and grace.

THE NEW DARK AGES.

Mussolini labors, with considerable success, through a greeting in English to radio listeners in the United States, and the world in the American living room seems to have had most of its time and space eliminated. Everything is just outside the front door and can be brought in, audible and visible, for any easy chair explorer who will turn a button or throw a switch. But just as it is all so simplified it seems less so. The old year ended and the new year began with many scientists in gatherings discussing past and prospect. It is agreed that the summa of knowledge is far beyond human attainment.

The new world is so much bigger than the old one that it cannot be explored. Languages have revealed their inadequacy. When a scientist has found a way to state a case he is in luck to understand himself. The common usages of his native tongue will not express what he wants to convey. The more the world is explained the more it becomes incomprehensible. For the average man it has become impenetrable. He has gone back to the relative position of the Hottentot. The discoveries of lands permitted men to flow in and occupy them. The exploration of strange places permitted the growth of knowledge. The discoveries of causes increase the sum of general ignorance. Literacy strictly means, now, ability to read and write. If illiteracy were competence even to understand, the world would have to be regarded as peopled with primitives. The new knowledge has sent them back into the dark ages and no hope is offered that they will ever emerge again.

FOR MORE TEACHERS.

Prof. Nelson B. Henry of the University of Chicago is chairman of Supt. Bogan's advisory committee for the public schools. Prof. Henry has recommended nine projects for the coming year which would cost, in all, $582,000. They were all omitted from the preliminary budget submitted to the school board by its auditor. Money for them was said to be lacking.

The most important of the items, both financially and educationally, was a proposed appropriation of an additional $300,000 for teachers in the elementary grades. More teachers mean smaller classes. The present average class contains 46 children. The number is too large. Big classes mean a minimum of individual instruction and a maximum of time spent not in teaching but in maintaining a semblance of discipline. There is little to be said for large classes at any stage in education, but they are particularly costly in the lower grades where the child's study habits are forming. Our school funds can be invested nowhere to better advantage than in reducing the size of classes.

While we reserve judgment on a number of Prof. Henry's other proposals, we cannot question this one. And we do not doubt that the money can be found if the school board is genuinely concerned for the welfare of the children and is willing that political values be sacrificed to educational values. A refusal of the board to make the appropriation for additional teachers will amount to a confession that the trustees regard the welfare of the children as a secondary consideration.

FROM THE HEART OF KANSAS.

A correspondent has sent us a clipping from the State Journal of Topeka, Kas., containing a statistical summary of activities of the police and courts in the city in 1930.

Kansas is the state of Carrie Nation. Topeka is its capital. Kansas has had prohibition written into its state constitution since 1880. Any one old enough to vote when Kansas went dry is going on 71 today. No one who is not in advanced middle age can even remember what a legally operated saloon in Kansas looked like. Kansas is therefore a pretty good laboratory for observing the influence of constitutional prohibition upon men's habits and tastes. And Topeka, the seat of the government of Kansas, ought to provide an example to which prohibitionists would point with especial pride.

The police of Topeka made 2,895 arrests in 1930 for all kinds of offenses excepting minor infractions of the traffic code. Of the 2,895 arrests no less than 896, or 30 per cent, were for liquor law violations.

In all 573 criminal cases were filed in the District court of Shawnee county, in which Topeka is situated. Of these 371, or 65 per cent, were liquor cases.

More than 1 per cent of the population of Topeka was arrested for violating prohibition laws in 1930, fifty years after constitutional prohibition came into force in Kansas. More than two-thirds of the prosecutions begun in the District court were for offenses against the liquor laws.

We think this record goes far toward answering two fundamental questions. Does prohibition prohibit? It does not. With the disappearance of the generation which was familiar with the saloon, with propaganda in the schools and churches, and severe penalties for violators, will the people in time come to observe prohibition laws? To this question Topeka offers the complete answer. That answer is No. When prohibition is flouted in the capital of Kansas what is to be expected in New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois and other relatively enlightened states?

ALIEN CRIMINALS.

The task of defeating flagrant crime in the United States is being materially assisted by the deportation of alien criminals. The district director of immigration, Shirley D. Smith, reports the deportation of 650 within the year, a record for the district, and notes that the number of deportations is steadily increasing. This, he says, in large measure is due to increased coöperation from the Chicago police department and the state prison officials, who are turning all deportable criminals over to the immigration department. All of these official agencies are to be congratulated. It is to be hoped there will be no slackening of this important coöperation. We have too many criminals of our own breeding. The alien criminal is conspicuous in the conditions for which European critics inveigh against us. He is an importation we have foolishly permitted for many years with results advertised against us throughout the world.

Editorial of the Day

WITH WHITE SHEET AND CANDLE.

[New York Times].

Self-castigation as now practiced by the Chinese Nationalists may be a leaf taken out of the book of their enemies, the Russian communist party, or may be traceable in both instances to the same ultimate cause. When a comparatively small faction exercises absolute power, as in the case of the communist dictatorship in soviet Russia, or claims absolute emergency power, as with the Kuomintang, it is inevitable that abuses will arise, in the absence of effective opposition.

Hence the institution of "self-criticism," of criticism within the ruling circles, as encouraged—up to a certain point—in the soviet press and in the communist party. In theory, at least, a Russian communist may speak out in meeting, provided he abstains from conspiring and submits to decisions taken in party conference. At Nanking, according to our dispatches, the Kuomintang, from President Chiang Kai-shek down, has been going in for the confession of sins both of commission and omission.

In both countries, however, self-criticism is not entirely due to a revolutionary situation. Self-examination and self-chastisement are in the best Dostoievsky tradition for Russia. They are not out of place in China with its celebrated convention of excessive humility.

SUGAR FOR HUMANS.

ORDINARY starch is the only starchy food that human beings convert into sugar and use as such, to either their advantage or disadvantage. Other starches, or near starches, such as the cellulose phytin and pentosans of brans, of soya beans, or Jerusalem artichokes are in another class. Whether they are helpful or harmful is to be decided on other grounds. These conclusions have to do with such questions as: Which is preferable, white bread or brown, wheat or rye? Shall bran be eaten, and if so when can diabetics eat Jerusalem artichokes or soya bean bread?

They are the conclusions of Drs. McCance and Lawrence, issued as one of the studies authorized by the British research council. Cellulose and the other near starches are converted into fatty materials to a limited extent by the human digestive apparatus, and, as such, fatty material can go a certain distance in nourishing the human body, but the effect differs from that of starch foods. If a man eats wheat bran he gets some starch, for in milling some of that sticks to the bran. But if he uses a bran from which all starch has been removed by washing he gets no starch. His digestive apparatus converts some of the near starches into fatty materials and these are absorbed and used.

A diabetic or an obese person can use bran in limited quantities without making his trouble worse. The laxative action of bran is due partly to its physical qualities but principally to chemical substances it contains. Agar is in somewhat the same class as bran. Some of it is converted into fatty bodies and used as food. As in the case of bran, its laxative action is partly chemical and partly physical.

A diabetic can use a limited amount of Jerusalem artichoke without adding to his blood sugar. Nevertheless, there are limits beyond which a diabetic cannot go in eating this vegetable or flours made from it.

The authors are not very definite in their opinion as to the superiority of brown over white bread. One of their conclusions makes rye bread a better food than wheat bread.

BABY HAS MANY BOILS.

Mrs. H. H. writes: My 17 month old baby boy has a succession of boils on his body. He eats no sweets, is on a mixed diet, is not constipated, and seems well. What is the cause?

REPLY.

The cause is an infection of the skin with a staphylococcus. His diet is not the principal cause if it is a cause at all. Keep his skin very clean. Have your physician prescribe the ointment which is so effective in curing impetigo in children. Staphylococcus phage is much used now.

SINUS TROUBLE.

Mrs. B. writes: What is a sinus? What is the cause of same? Is it curable?

A friend of mine has a very sore eye and the doctor says it is a sinus.

REPLY

The term sinus is applied to a chamber opening off the nose. You dropped part of the term your physician used. He said "infected sinus" I suppose. There are several of these sinuses around the head and any one of them can become infected. An infected sinus may cause eye trouble.

COFFEE AND CHILDREN.

O. S. T. writes: I am a habitual smoker and coffee drinker. If I should ever decide to marry would these bad habits have any bad effect on offspring, if any?

REPLY.

No.

TREATING GOITER.

R. E. L. writes: Is there a treatment for the cure of goiter? What is the treatment and is it a sure cure? Please advise treatment.

I have had a goiter for about two years and have not had anything done for it. It is growing fast.

REPLY.

There are several kinds of goiter. The treatment needed depends on kind of goiter present in a given case. A person with goiter should have a thorough examination including metabolism test.

LIGHT HOUSEKEEPING.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Does the landlady of an apartment have to secure a license to permit cooking in an apartment which is more or less of a rooming house affair—cooking in every room? A. L. L.

Various license provisions might be applicable to the preparation of the rooms for such occupancy. If a demand has been made upon you, you will place us in a better position to advise if you you will state the nature of the demand.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTION.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A takes the position that so long as the constitution remains in force and the union of states stands there is no legal method by which congress, the people, or the various states can amend the constitution to give proportional representation in the senate of the United States based on population, except by a unanimous vote of all the states of the Union. B disputes this. Will you please answer through your column? M. E. M.

The amendment article of the federal court expressly provides that "no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate." In our opinion the increase of representation of populous states would have the same effect as decreasing the representation of less populous states. Both would be prohibited. The change would require unanimity or revolution.

HUBBY IS WRONG.

Sterling, Ill., Dec. 30.—[Friend of the People.]—I was born in Kewanee, Illinois, and my parents were born in Sweden. They never became naturalized, to my knowledge. My husband tells me I am not a citizen, as they were not naturalized, but I claim I am a citizen because I was born here.

MRS. A. A. D.

Under the constitution of the United States all persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens. Therefore, the writer is a citizen unless she has lost her citizenship by marriage to an alien before Sept. 22, 1922.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

WELL, WELL! HERE COMES A NEW COLUMNIST!

We rise to greet the youngest of the columnists, Mr. Alfred Emmanuel Smith of New York City, who had his coming out party yesterday. With Cal, an ex-President of these United States, a columnist, and Mr. Smith, the runner-up for the presidency, now column conductor, it looks as though people who want to live in the White House will have to have more qualifications in the future than ever before. We can just hear a party manager saying: "Sure, Bifkins can carry most of the northern states and he's sound on tha constitooshun an' tha tariff, and he'll get by on the prohibition thing. But how about columning? He'll be doing that when the campaign is over, and if his stuff's no good it'll be bad for the party. Say, let's make all these birds that are out for the nomination turn in a sample of the stuff they'll write when they start columning. Bet a lot of 'em are lousy." And there you are! It's going to make the selection of a presidential candidate a good deal more complicated.

And after welcoming Al to the columnists' ranks, we feel like giving him a little advice. Of course, Al, you write a column only once a week; that won't be so bad. It's grinding one out each and every day, except Sunday, that fills the padded cells with column conductors. Some days are mighty dull, even the roasting letters don't have enough kick in 'em to give you a real laugh. But some days, Al, you'll get letters so sympathetic and so full of human understanding, and such lovely things about what you write, that you'll take 'em home and frame 'em. Then right after that you'll get a letter brimming over with more kinds of poison than the government puts in denatured alcohol. But one of the first things a columnist must learn to use, Al, is the waste basket; get a big one. And don't try to please everybody, Al. But you know about that because you've been in politics. A column conductor can't please everybody, and it's no use trying; there's too many people who can't see a joke with the Lick Observatory telescope. But don't let 'em discourage you, Al. Column conducting is a good trade, after all; look at Cal Coolidge.

THREE MOTHERS.

I.—THE DREAMER.

She taught them how to weave a dream
And goldenly spin laughter;
She fixed before each pair of eyes
Visions to follow after.

II.—THE SENTIMENTALIST.

She ever tried to shield him tenderly;
She screened and canopied him from all strife;
Then blamed ill chance because, when grown a man,
He made a dazed weak failure of his life.

III.—THE PHILOSOPHER.

She had scant schooling, but she knew
The value of the things of earth;
From her they learned the plenitude

ADELAIDE P. LOVE.

WE S. W HIM yesterday as he stalked in lonely grandeur down the Boul. Mich. Everybody looked at him with awe and admiration and pointed him out to the other pedestrians. Who was this remarkable man? you ask. Listen, we will tell you. He is the man who has not made a prediction as to when the present depression will be over.

MOVE THE New York stock exchange to Kokomo, Ind., says Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union, so that it will be inaccessible to the "little fellow" and thus curb speculation. Ah, Mr. Carlton, you may move the stock market to Kokomo, Ind., or Painted Post, Wyo., or the middle of Madagascar, or the highest iceberg in Little America, but the people looking for quick and easy money will jam the place to the guards when the little ticker begins to tick. The only safe place, Mr. Carlton, if you wa.. to be sure to curb speculation, is to transfer the stock market to the moon. And we're not sure but that the lambs, eager for their shearing, wouldn't get airplanes and fly there.

IN BERLIN, says a front page cablegram Saturday, they favor a light beer with low alcoholic percentage called "weiss bier," of which they manufacture 5,284,000 gallons every year. Do you remember weiss bier, a beautiful golden liquid crowned with a spun silver mass of iridescent foam? But why bring that up now?

MAPLE SUGAR BOY.

(FOR RAYMEE)

The fairies left his face so sweet
And quick and gay they left his feet.
And then they laughed and ran away
And left him with the world for play.
A world not old, a world not wise
Seeing his winsome, warm, brown eyes.
Loving his little facile face
Flecked with sugar in every place.
Dear maple sugared boy so sweet
No wonder the wee folk dodge your feet!

PIERROT.

LAGNIAPPE.

WE'RE THRILLED to death as we read about the new cars in the New York automobile show this year and all the fancy gadgets and doodads they've got on 'em. Those things are all well enough as far as they go, but they still fall far short of what we find is our most crying need when we are driving around in the family bus. We are still searching for a squelching retort to the fresh driver who whirls past us and yells, "Hey, do yuh want ter be a farmer all yer life?"

WE ARE now fairly launched in the new year; this is the fifth day; and while there was a great deal of hurrahing over 1931 when he came in, we can't see that things are very different yet. 1931 had better get into action pretty soon or Washington will appoint a commission to look him over.

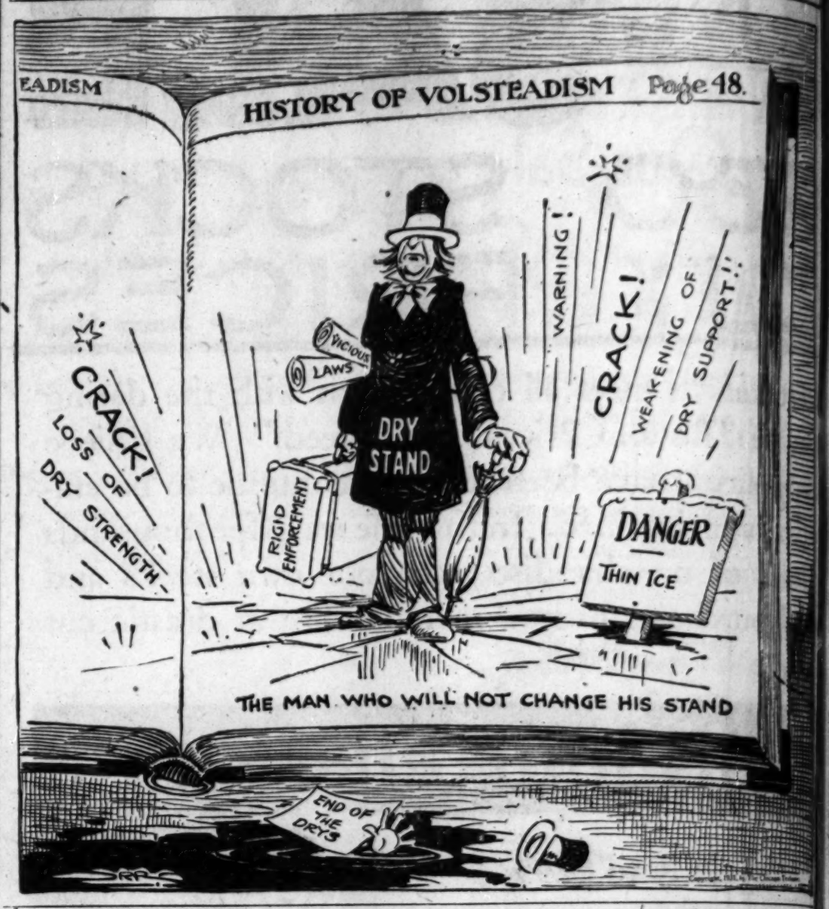
PROHIBITION



FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 5, 1915.

BERLIN.—Steinbach, the Alsatian town on the heights between Thann and Sennheim, for which desperate fighting has been going on for several days, was officially admitted by German headquarters to have been captured by the French, who also took possession of the heights to the west of Sennheim. The Germans, however, in a counter attack with bayonets succeeded in regaining the latter position.

PETROGRAD.—The Germans are trying to force the passage of the Bzura river and are sacrificing many men in the attempt. Night assaults are the rule, but up to the present they have failed at every point. The most severe fighting has been in the neighborhood of Kozloff and Biskoupi.

CHICAGO.—Fred Matters, 70 year old wealthy moving picture owner and a bridegroom of less than three months, died at his home, 943 Hyde Park boulevard, and when the coroner's office was notified by Dr. William B. H. Whitaker that Mr. Matters had died without medical attention an investigation was begun. Matters' bride was Anna Dolly Ledgerwood, 32 years old, who eloped with him last October to Crown Point. He had known her since she was a child in Arcola, Ill.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Complaint has been lodged with the treasury department that George M. Reynolds and James B. Forgan are using the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago as a "tool" to further their own ends. Letters of protest on file charge the reserve bank has been "stuffed" with Reynolds-Forgan appointees. During the process, it is charged, they have advanced banking positions for members of their families.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 5, 1901.

CHICAGO.—Charles L. Hutchinson, speaking before the Arché club, declared that the rich citizens who go to other places to spend their wealth and leisure are not true to the highest ideals of manhood. The declaration brought from Franklin MacVeagh the retort that in some respects the city of Chicago "is not fit to live in." He declared that "until you get rid of the smoke you can never get a really beautiful city."

CHICAGO.—Martyr to his love for flowers, Nathan M. Freer, attorney, philanthropist and a member of one of Chicago's oldest families, died of consumption in Pasadena, Calif., at the age of 56. He contracted the disease nearly four years ago while watching over the delicate tropical plants in his Oak Park conservatories with their humid hothouse atmosphere. He was the son of L. C. Paine Freer, Chicago pioneer, who died eight years ago leaving a large estate.

WASHINGTON.—President McKinley sent to the senate the nomination of Cyrus S. Adams of Illinois to be assistant register of the treasury.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 5, 1881.

LONDON.—An Athens dispatch says that war is unavoidable between Turkey and Greece. Thirty-two thousand reserves and all the national guards between the ages of 30 and 40 in Greece will soon be called out. A Constantinople dispatch says that the Turkish government has ordered four ironclads to Syria to convoy troops to Thessaly in anticipation of trouble with the Greeks.

BERLIN.—The marriage of Prince Wilhelm of Prussia, grandson of Emperor William, and the Princess Augusta Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein Lunderburg Augustenburg has been fixed for Feb. 27.

GALVESTON, Tex.—The San Antonio and Laredo stage was stopped three miles south of Medina by two masked men who, after pillaging the mail bags, relieved the passengers of all their valuables. It is supposed the pair were covered by other bandits in the brush.

CHICAGO.—The Chicago Democratic club elected these officers: President, Thomas M. Hoyne; secretary, Emmet C. Fisher; corresponding secretary, Dr. L. C. Waters; treasurer, Frank G. Hoyne; executive committee, J. H. S. Quick, R. H. Patton, H. W. Goodman, Henry Waller Jr., George Mills Rogers, Evan G. Swisher, W. M. Le Moyne, S. S. Gregory, and Edward J. Stokes.

SLAUGHTER BY AUTOMOBILE.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—Cook county's record breaking toll of 1,136 deaths by automobile in 1930 begins to look sick already, with seventeen persons killed on the first day of the new year.

How many drivers went to jail or prison as a result of those 1,136 deaths last year? Coroners' juries harp about "unavoidable accidents," but any one with common sense knows there's no such thing as an unavoidable accident. Most of these killings resulted from gross negligence or criminal carelessness.

Had any sincere movement been under way to solve the accident problem at least a thousand of those deaths might have been avoided. Shall we ignore this problem forever, with the death and injury rates mounting yearly?

We widen streets, separate grades, make four wheel brakes, set up elaborate traffic light systems, and institute safety campaigns—and the killings increase. It's not surprising. Not one of these gestures has had or ever will have any appreciable effect on the death and injury rates.

Stand on any street corner "protected" by traffic lights and observe the flagrant and inconsiderate manner of nine out of ten motorists. Get to the middle of the street as the signals suddenly turn against you, and try to get across safely without jumping for your life. The law "protects" you, but the law can't give you back an arm, or a leg, or your life.

Sooner or later we must restrict driving of motor cars to persons competent to operate them, and prevent maniacs and imbeciles from imperiling the lives of others. We must make motorists understand that careless or drunken driving, whether it leads to an accident or not, is a crime for which they must suffer imprisonment and loss of the right ever to drive again.

Radical suggestion? Of course, but has any one of the milder methods reduced the killings? Most drivers are not concerned about the rights or safety of other motorists or pedestrians. Until that attitude has been corrected the slaughter will go on. L. B. C.

THE SAM BROWN BELTS.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—I see our cops have had to remove their Sam Brown belts. At the suggestion of some one or another or probably to please a few old fogies, our guardians of the law have been again obliged to conceal their weapons. Why? To give them the chance? To give them the "drop" on our officers? I for one would like to see any Chicago officer, particularly in winter dress, make a quick draw of his weapon. Can't be done.

What was wrong with the Sam Brown belt? There is something businesslike, efficient, dignified about that belt, and there is certainly something very convincing about the business end of a loaded revolver when it is displayed in public view by an officer of the law.

Folks interested in law and order should see that our policemen get the Sam Brown belts back again and get an even break with the criminal, who is invariably quick on the draw. Probably after a few more of Chicago's best have sacrificed their lives on the altar of crime something will be done.

RALPH J. SCHUMACHER.

FOR ALBERT.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—Ald. Albert A. Albert is young, fearless, and energetic, a real champion of the people. The reign of graft and corruption would soon end with his election. I do not know of any one who could guide the destinies of this great city any better than he. I do know that it could not be placed in safer hands.

CHARLES J. BLAU.

FOR WHAT IT IS WORTH.

Chicago, Jan. 1.—Inasmuch as capital controlled by the few makes paupers of the many, here is a thought for what it is worth: Let no man will to any descendant more than $100,000, which is enough to keep the descendant comfortably for the rest of his life. The rest of the fortune should go to the city or the national government to reduce taxes.

L. J. Hess.

A RACKET FOR BOBBY.

Stockton, Ill., Jan. 2.—Bill Tilden and Bobby Jones will work on a talking movie lots in March at Hollywood. I suggest that they be induced to meet in two matches, Bobby to play golf with Bill for 18 holes, and then Bill to play Bobby three sets of tennis! This would make good newspaper copy and free publicity for the films, and those of us who play both games would get a kick out of it.

CHARLES SCOBEY.

TAXES QUARTERLY.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—Why not have home owners pay their taxes in quarterly installments, insuring the city a steady flow of money at all times? I believe this would encourage people to buy real estate. It will keep out the loan sharks who buy the poor man's taxes and take away his home.

A TAXPAYER.

FOR BARRETT.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—Has it come to pass that we must look to the wilds of Tennessee to furnish us with a mayor, when right in our own yard we have wonderful material? Mr. Charles V. Barrett is a native son—a product of Chicago its schools, and the University of Illinois. Mr. Barrett knows his Chicago and his politics, a man whom Chicago should be proud to elect mayor. He does not go in for clown stuff or showman tactics; he is a leader and an executive, a "square shooter" and above all a man.

TAX BODY HEARS PLEA FOR EQUAL VALUATION TODAY

Want All Counties on a Level with Cook.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The proposed equalization of land assessments—which will be urged by the Illinois Agricultural association—would probably increase tax values in the northern third of the state, decrease them in the southern third, and make varying adjustments in the central third. The state tax commission, headed by William H. Malone, will hear the petition and supporting data of the farm organization today. John C. Watson, tax expert of the association, will have charge of presenting the evidence.

"The relation between the sale price and the tax assessment shows a wide variance in different parts of the state," said Mr. Watson yesterday. "In counties of poor soil the tax assessment is a large percentage of the value as indicated by sales. Where the soil is good the assessment is a relatively small percentage of the sale prices.

Cites Difference in Sections.

"Roughly speaking, the assessments in the northern two-thirds of the state are 30 to 40 per cent of the sale prices, although there are exceptions to this general statement. In the southern third, say south of a line stretching from Paris to East St. Louis, the assessments are 40 to 45 per cent of the value as indicated by sales. In this section the percentage runs up to 50 to 60 per cent, and in one instance to 70 per cent."

While Mr. Watson declined to disclose his data before presentation to the state commission, it is known that he has collected information indicating that the value on land in Campaign county for taxing purposes is only 29 per cent of the values shown by the sales of land. In Christian county, 34 per cent; Clark county, 32; Cumberland, 34 per cent; Kane 33; Kankakee, 32; Kendall, 34; Macoupin, 34; Rock Island, 31; Schuyler, 35; Stephenson, 30; Whiteside, 35, and Sangamon, 35.

Want Cook County as Level.

In Cook county the ratio is 37½ per cent, and it is thought that the Agricultural association will ask that those with a low percentage equal the ratio of Cook, and those with a high percentage be brought down to the Cook county level. Accordingly the assessments in the foregoing counties are likely to be boosted.

One of those which appears almost certain to get a substantial reduction, if an equalization is made, is: Alexander county, where the information collected by the Agricultural association indicates that the land is valued for taxing purposes at 51 per cent of its sale price. In Clay county the percentage is 56, Effingham county 52 per cent, Johnson 60, Pope 55, Wabash 58, and Randolph 52.

Others to Get Reductions.

There are a number of others where the percentage ranges between 43 and 48, which may also expect reductions in an equalization. A few of them are as follows: Adams county 43 per cent, Bond 46, Boone 44, Carroll 44, Coles 43, Edwards 45, Jersey 45, Marion 46, Marshall 43, Monroe 46, Morgan 45, Richland 48, Scott 44, and Washington 45.

There has been no equalization of land values between counties for four years, and it is deemed probable that the state tax commission will attempt to make numerous adjustments.

The reduction in Cook county land values for purposes of taxation, which has been ordered by the board of review, adds a complication to the task of the state commission. If the state board adjusts the tax ratio in every other county to 37½ per cent, and the board of review reduces real estate values 10 per cent in Cook county, then there will be more adjusting to be done next year.

Other Problems Cited.

Still another bothersome feature which may prove actually troublesome is the proposed reassessment of personal property for the tax year of 1930. If enough personal property is placed on the tax books, then a high tax ratio on land will not be necessary.

And that is not all. There are several tax students in Chicago who want the state legislature to require that full value and tax value shall be the same figure. By that process they would force a reduction in the tax rates.

WANT TO SWAP YOUR RADIO FOR A RINGTAIL MONKEY?

AN UNUSUAL offer—but it appeared recently in the Barter & Exchange column of the Tribune Want Ad Section.

Men have swapped with neighbors since tribal days. Then sea shells and war clubs were principal articles of exchange. Now men offer monkeys for radios—pop-corn machines for real estate—birds' eggs and fish for what have you—carnival concessions for a poultry farm—an exercising machine for a shot-gun—and an almost endless variety of articles, no longer useful to them but possessing value for their neighbors.

What have you to exchange? What articles would be acceptable in exchange? Perhaps someone in Chicago will be willing to accept your set of books for the type-writer you need? Try it! BELIEVE MILK PRICE DROP WILL CUT PRODUCTION

Dairy Industry Discusses New Situation.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Leaders in Chicago's dairy industry yesterday expressed the belief that the recently announced cut of one cent per quart on milk to consumers might boost the sales, while the reduction in price paid to farmers as a result of Dr. Clyde L. King's arbitration settlement on Saturday might curtail the production of milk on farms.

Following a conference in the Hamilton club Saturday night, attended by representatives of milk producers and spokesmen for the city's milk dealers, the decision was announced that farmers would be paid $2.32 per hundred pounds of 46½ quarts beginning Jan. 1. This is a drop of 41 cents per hundred pounds. By this reduction the farmers assume three-fourths of the loss caused by the retail price change.

"Agreeable to Dealers."

"We regret that the reduction to farmers must be made at this time," declared Otto P. Black, business agent for the Chicago Milk Dealers' association. "But the action should check overproduction on the farm. The price arrangement is quite agreeable to the dealers, and will not force smaller dealers out of business, as was feared when the reducing of retail prices was first considered."

D. N. Geyer, manager of the Pure Milk association, with a membership of 19,000 farmers supplying milk in Chicago and 16 nearby communities, expressed the opinion that many farmers would dispose of their cows or seek other markets for their milk. He said that the association's directors were openly disappointed at the change in price, and that some complaint would unquestionably be voiced in the country.

Outlines Production Cycle.

"Milk production seems to swing like a pendulum," asserted Mr. Geyer. "Farmers needing cash turn to milk production, and when a decline in consumption comes as a result of economic conditions they are forced out of production again. We are hoping for better conditions in dairying when the butter and cheese markets start to turn upward. Just now butter selling wholesale at 27 cents is the lowest in decades, and the farmer is heavily selling his milk to be made into butter."

The number of milk dealers in Chicago has dropped from 512 in 1927 to 334 in 1930, it was learned yesterday, the cause being placed at the door of stricter regulations on quality and processing of milk supplied here.

"Milk dealers are looking for increased consumption of milk under the new price agreement," declared Dr. F. H. Walmsley, spokesman for the large distributors. "The change is a necessary one in the face of lowered prices and decreased consumption in food products generally. With dairy cows a drug on the market, it is hard for the farmer to get out of the dairy business and it's hard to stay in."

Dr. King of the Wharton School of Commerce, Philadelphia, who has arbitrated milk price differences in Chicago for three years, also declared that "the outlook for dairymen the country over is certainly far from encouraging for the next two years or so. With grains, live stock, and all other products the farmer sells at low world levels, he is in as bad or even worse position than the average city resident."

GOOD SAMARITAN

Catherine Boyslechova, who was born "somewhere in Austria" 75 years ago, won attention for her cookery in the Austrian section at the Chicago World's Fair, outlived her friends and died recently in poverty, has found a final resting place in the family burial plot of Chief James Ward of the 24th fire battalion, who befriended her after he had saved her life in a fire a month ago.

Ward's men carried her out of her blazing kitchen at 326 West Erie street, saw that her burns were treated, and then granted her request that she be allowed to return to the bare flat she called home.

Ward returned again and again with food and clothing and arranged for the county to supply her with fuel and milk. Then on New Year's eve he found the flat filled with people and Catherine Boyslechova's body in a casket.

"She was just a kindly old soul who lived and died alone," Ward said yesterday. "She worked hard all her life and deserved a little kindness. We buried her in Mount Carmel cemetery beside my mother, and there will be a marker over her grave."

POP OF BOTTLES ONLY FIRE HEARD ON CUBAN 'FRONT'

Isle Drops Turmoil to Be U. S. Playground.

BY DEAN SANBORN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Jan. 4.—Havana these days is capital of two islands. The one is inhabited by 3,600,000 Cubans bitterly embroiled in a complicated political quarrel. The other, at the moment, is the happy hunting ground of some 15,000 American tourists out for winter sunshine and the freedom to take a drink if they feel so inclined.

The situation has greatly astonished hotel owners here who, despite earlier fears, have now lived to see the American tourist horde pour into the city in defiance of the impression prevailing abroad that the firing of pistols is as frequently seen as the selling of tourist postcards in the streets.

Isle Is Well Behaved.

As a matter of fact, Cuba, since its last outburst of youthful enthusiasm early in December, has been quite well behaved. There have been some minor bombings but no serious shootings, no riots in the streets, no extensive public manifestations of any kind. Except for the fact that the constitutional guarantees remain suspended—and this situation seems to worry no one except oppositionist politicians—the country may be said to have returned to normalcy.

Oppositionist politicians, naturally, are concerned with conditions in view of the vigorous anti-oppositionist campaign which the government has been conducting since about the middle of December. Just how many of the agitators have been arrested by secret police and lodged in historic old Cabanas fortress, charged with conspiracy against the government, no one can estimate exactly. In the meantime, the Havana Yacht club has been ordered closed by the governor of Havana province on the grounds that certain members have used the premises to foment fresh political trouble.

"Outrages" Mere Pranks.

But the red blooded, rip snorting revolution which so many in the United States fear is imminently at hand gives smaller promise of materialization these days than during the period of strife some weeks ago. In fact, there has been no property of any kind, public, native or foreign, destroyed since the last disturbances and indications at present are that the "revolution" has degenerated into a cross between a polecat and a good old fashioned July Fourth celebration back home. In other words, the big news from the front these days has to do with the tossing of a few "petardos" or harmless firecracker bombs, or the hissing of a surreptitiously flung stench bomb.

Between Dec. 28 and Dec. 31, 16 big cruise ships and regular liners entered Havana harbor and unloaded more than 6,000 Americans, setting a new record for New Year's celebrations. None of the newcomers seems to be fearful of his safety. The race track, casino and all the other resort places report business on the boom—with all hands working day and night in an effort to quench the great American thirst.

For the next couple of months the sound of firing by night may reach Havana's ears—but it will come from the necks of champagne bottles rather than from the muzzles of rebellious guns.

TINY EUROPEAN STATE IN REVOLT; MAKES THREATS

Andorra Wants Right to Postal Service.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ENCAMP, Andorra, Jan. 4.—Andorra, Europe's tiny mountain state and quasi republic, is once more at odds with its co-princes over the question of granting concessions. The question in the past has led to revolution, a suicide and the expulsion of certain officials, and has never been settled.

At a meeting just held of the Andorran council general, or parliament, it was voted to inform the co-princes that Andorra would permit no interference with respect to certain matters now pending and which Andorrans regard as within their exclusive domain. The co-princes in question are the Bishop of La Seo d'Urgel, in Spain, and the president of France, who holds his title by way of succession from the French kings.

Want Own Postal Service.

Two issues are involved, one being the question of establishing a postal service that shall be under Andorran control, the other that of granting a charter to an Australian syndicate which desires to incorporate under Andorran law for the purpose of selling racing odds, as is now being done by similar organizations chartered by several other small European states, among them the Irish Free State and the principality of Lichtenstein.

The Australian company, in fact, has already made an agreement with the council general whereby it is to pay Andorra, in return for the privilege it asks, $15,000 the first year, and thereafter to increase the payment by $5,000 annually up to $40,000. This is considerably more revenue than poverty stricken Andorra ever expected to have, and now that the people have it within their grasp, they do not intend to part with it. To all practical purposes the council general has already granted the charter sought, and it already has in hand the first payment of $15,000.

To Use Funds for Hospital.

The council general has voted that the sum in hand and the future revenues shall be used for the foundation and maintenance of a hospital, which their country now lacks.

Both Spain and France have shown hostility toward the concession, thus arousing the fighting spirit of the Andorrans. They charge that Spain's hostility arises out of the fact that she fears competition with her own national lottery. But with Spain's opposition they are not concerned, since with Spain they have no connection. The French opposition, however, they say, is inspired by financial interests in Australia.

The dispute between Andorra and its co-princes over the granting of concessions dates back to 1681, when the attempt of one of the co-princes to establish a gambling casino in opposition to the wishes of the people resulted in a revolution and the blocking of both the French and the Spanish frontiers.

Tear Up Proclamations.

The co-princes issued a manifesto saying that the granting of concessions was their exclusive affair. The Andorrans tore up the proclamations and expelled the co-princes' representatives from the country as traitors. They also accused one of the co-princes' representatives of having betrayed them, and he committed suicide.

The people seem rather serene on the question of the present concession, but they are aroused over the question of the postal service, which is truly a complicated one, especially since the diminutive land of some 190 square miles and only a little more than 4,000 inhabitants, already has two postal services, neither of which is its own.

TEETH are actually 3 Shades WHITER

NOW there's no excuse for stained teeth that are so dull and dingy they mar beauty and offend others. Proof lies in this new Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique.

Start using this new technique—a half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush, morning and night. Then after 3 days note the improvement in the appearance of teeth and gums.

Teeth look cleaner and fully 3 shades whiter. Gums feel firmer and look healthier. The mouth tingles with a wonderful new taste sensation.

Kolynos is surprising—utterly unlike anything you've ever used. As soon as it enters the mouth it becomes a refreshing, antiseptic FOAM that permits the Dry-Brush Technique which makes Kolynos just 10 times more effective.

It kills the millions of germs that sweep into the mouth with every breath, defy ordinary toothpaste and cause stain, discoloration, decay and most gum diseases, if neglected. Acids are neutralized, tartar is gently erased and the mouth is purified.

Thus this remarkable technique cleans teeth as they should be cleaned—right down to the beautiful, naked white enamel without injury.

AUTO EXECUTIVE OPTIMISTIC ON 1931 PROSPECTS

E. L. Cord Thinks Activity Begets Activity.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 4.—[Special.]—It is all a question of getting around the corner and the 1931 automobiles on exhibition at the national show here are just the type to carry any industry around the corner, whether the turn be one of business depression or out of congested traffic. Anyhow, that was the trend of the conversation in Grand Central Palace this afternoon whenever a couple of motor executives got together.

Where do we go from here? There was a surprising number of the most conservative leaders of the industry who answered without hesitation—"Ahead." There is a minimum of bunk and a lot of good common business sense being voiced by the automobile men this season, and E. L. Cord, president of the Auburn Automobile company and Cord corporation, gave this reporter a long distance bunkless interview this afternoon.

Talks Across Continent.

Mr. Cord was packing his bags in Los Angeles to head for the auto show when Roy Faulkner, vice president of the Auburn company, called him to the long distance telephone for THE TRIBUNE. The interview was concise and to the point, for even big business men waste few words when talking across the continent. Certain of Mr. Cord's expressions follow:

'Activity begets activity and we are going to keep our plants as busy as possible. The present depression has educated people to the value of their cars and neither style nor new models will stampede them into buying. The popularity of economy has affected the market, but there still is a splendid market when you give the motorist something and price it right.

For First Hand Information.

"Luxury buying will be held up to a certain extent, but there is no reason to believe that automobiles cannot be sold in large numbers. Our recent experience in Chicago when we advertised a reduction in prices proved there is money to buy motor cars. We sold enough cars to lift Auburn and Cord from 15th to 2nd place in registration in Cook county. The greatest trouble with business is fear. Fear is ignorance and ignorance comes from second hand information. Automobile manufacturers should get their information first hand."

That Mr. Cord gets his information that way is vouched for by his business associates. They tell of the time the automobile manufacturer put on a pair of overalls and joined a group of unemployed in Chicago to find out whether they were jobless or just loafers. He found that a large percentage did not want to work, but he said he would keep the wheels in his factories turning for those who did want jobs.

Sees 1930 as Tonic.

"I believe that business conditions of the last year will be the greatest tonic to the automobile industry which it has received in years. Easy selling produces flabby organizations. When the public buys indiscriminately any industry suffers in the long run. There is a definite thing needed in this country—the logical selection and purchase of generally needed articles which the public has been accustomed to buying at regular intervals."

ROB FIVE IN DRUG STORE.

Emanuel Krevitt, a druggist, was held up in his pharmacy at 3235 Fullerton avenue with four customers early yesterday by two armed men who escaped with $475 from the pharmacy safe, Krevitt's $175 diamond ring, and $33 from the customers.

HARBOR IN HAWAII BECOMES LARGEST U. S. SUBMARINE BASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, Jan. 4.—Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, under the new naval organization plans, has become the United States' largest submarine base and its only mine squadron base, with a gain in personnel of about 1,000 officers and enlisted men.

All of the eight fast mine layers and mine sweepers are to be stationed at Pearl Harbor, under command of Rear Admiral George T. Pettingill. Thirteen of the submarines of the S type, replacing the old R boats, have arrived and six more will drop anchor before summer.

The changes are a result of the London naval conference. Under the agreement the American submarine tonnage is reduced to 57,000 tons. This necessitates scrapping all but 43 of the 80 submarines of the first lines. Of the 43 left in commission, 19 will be stationed here. Under the reorganization, a separate mine squadron division is created, uniting all the mine ships formerly assigned to the control force, fleet base force and aircraft units. This united force will be stationed here.

TWO MILLION H. P. PLANT PLANNED ON ST. LAWRENCE

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Recommendations for developing more than two million horsepower of electricity at an estimated total cost of $171,547,000 were presented today in an engineering board report made public by the St. Lawrence power development commission.

The commission's engineers recommended a one dam, two step power plant development at Massena Point, N. Y., which they asserted would cost less than any plan heretofore advanced for utilization of the international rapids of the St. Lawrence river and would produce more power.

The recommended plant would be built in two steps. The first, developing 600,000 horsepower, would be to build the dam to a height that would give a head of 50 feet. When this power was sold and it was considered advisable to complete the development, the report said, the dam would be raised 35 feet and an additional 1,600,000 horsepower would be added.

The objections of Canadian authorities to a one dam development in favor of a two dam project are met by this plan, the report said, in its provision for two step development.

Woodford, Cross-Country Walker-Poet, Is a Suicide

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 4.—(AP)—George (Woody) Woodford, 72 year old cross-country walker and poet, died today with his boots on—but not while hiking. Arising at his lodgings he dressed carefully, laced up his walking brogans as if preparing for a long hike, then turned on the gas. They found him dead a few hours later, a suicide, police said.

MORGAN TO GIVE FINANCIAL HELP IN RAIL MERGERS

Pledge of Support Speeds Up Program.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—From sources of information considered reliable it was learned today that O. P. Van Sweringen took the deciding step toward railroad consolidation last month when he made a personal call upon J. P. Morgan, laid his cards upon the table without reserve, and pointed out the necessity of the banker extending his aid to prevent failure of ten years' work toward effecting railroad mergers.

The situation was outlined briefly, emphasis being placed upon the importance of the interests at stake and the broad field concerned, embracing as it does the whole of the United States. Mr. Morgan's interests were confined chiefly to the New York Central and the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroads, but the whole railroad fabric of the country is closely knit together and largely interdependent. The banker was urged to take a broad view in order that trouble from any source might be averted and the greatest good be effected.

Banker Promises Aid.

Mr. Morgan is said to have asked Mr. Van Sweringen to come back in a few days when an answer would be given. At the appointed time Mr. Morgan told Mr. Van Sweringen that he would aid him to the extent of 50 per cent of the value of his holdings.

This step saved the day for railroad consolidation and furnished a basis upon which mergers could proceed with the New York Central accepting a give and take position.

The immediate effect of the agreement was reflected in the market for railroad stocks and bonds last week. Such issues had been depressed by the pause in railroad consolidation plans and the sudden change for the better helped at once to restore confidence. Important carriers, for self-protection, had bought heavily of stocks of other railroads in order to carry out projected consolidations. Delay in perfecting mergers was creating apprehension, for if plans were abandoned the carriers would be left with huge holdings of railroad shares on their hands which could not be marketed except at concessions from high prices paid.

Hoover Supports Plan.

It was at this point that President Hoover stepped in and gave encouragement for consummation of consolidation plans.

Senators who have been taking exceptions to the President's action evidently have been unaware of the gravity of the railroad situation and of the serious effect which might result to the country at large had not Mr. Morgan and Mr. Van Sweringen been perfectly frank with each other and acted quickly without quibbling.

SPECIAL LAW ASKED TO KEEP AGED NEGRO ON STIMSON'S FORCE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—(AP)—At the suggestion of Secretary Stimson, a bill will be introduced in congress to permit an 85 year old Negro to continue his 59 years of service to the state department as long as he is needed.

The bill will be introduced by Representative Fish of New York, whose grandfather, a former secretary of state, gave the Negro work in 1871.

The employé, Eddie Augustine Savoy, is a familiar figure around Stimson's office. His duties consist of announcing visitors who call upon the secretary of state. He has demonstrated a remarkable memory for faces, names and titles.

Stimson requested Fish to introduce the legislation "as a kindly act toward a venerable public servant." He said Eddie had "an appreciation of the old fashioned art of courteous service."

The Negro is slated for retirement next August on account of old age under a civil service order. He was granted one year extension last year.

JEWISH CHARITY INCOME $119,376 SHORT OF NEEDS

For the first time in the years since it was organized records of the Jewish Charities disclosed a deficit at the end of the last fiscal year, Dec. 1. Alfred K. Foreman, president, said yesterday that the income of the charities is $119,376 short of the needs.

"We began to feel the coming of an economic depression shortly before the crash of the stock market last year," Mr. Foreman said. "We have continued to feel the acute depression all through 1930. We have held off any drives among our contributors and in the Jewish community until the governor's commission fund raising for unemployment and general relief is out of the way."

LITHUANIA ASKS POPE TO CURB 'REBEL' PRIESTS

Takes Repressive Measures Against Clergy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KAUNAS, Lithuania, Jan. 4.—In answer to what is termed indirect interference of the Vatican in Lithuania's interior and foreign policies, the joint dictatorship under President Antanas Smetona and Premier Jonas Tubelis has taken repressive measures against members of the clergy accused of agitating against the government.

Father Rankelis, professor of theology at the Lithuanian university, has been banished from Kaunas. Father Krupavicius, leader of the Christian Democratic party, has been placed under police observation and is forbidden to leave his parish village of Garliavia. Another priest, Father Lipnickis, has been forbidden to leave his home at Koschedary.

Protest Note Sent to Pope.

The activities of Papal Nuncio Bartolini, who attempted to intercede for the clergy, has caused Foreign Minister Zaunias to dispatch a note of protest to Pope Pius, asking his assistance in forcing the Lithuanian clergy to refrain from meddling with government policies.

The text of this note, according to Dr. Zaunias, will not be made public, but he declares negotiations are proceeding between Lithuania and the Vatican.

The real cause of the conflict is said to have been the Catholic church's efforts to put pressure on the Lithuanian government to close a peace treaty with Poland, with whom Lithuania has been waging an unofficial war since the Poles seized Vilna in 1920.

Although the priests formerly agitated against Poland from their pulpits, holding services for the restoration of Vilna, a change in Lithuanian bishops by the vatican has inaugurated another policy of seeking to eliminate the Vilna conflict, one of the danger points in Europe.

May Break Vatican Relations.

The close friendship existing between Kaunas, Berlin and Moscow, which has previously nullified efforts to unite bolshevism's western neighbors into a defensive pact, is being energetically opposed by the Vatican. Its intercession as a peacemaker has caused government circles in Kaunas to threaten to break diplomatic relations with the pope.

The Vatican has already taken sides in the Lithuanian and Polish quarrel by recognizing Vilna with a Polish bishopric, thus making Lithuania more amenable to Berlin and Moscow diplomacy, which is consistently trying to keep the Baltic states separated. Both Latvia and Esthonia have refused to recognize Lithuania's claim to Vilna.

The Catholic church enjoys greater privileges in Lithuania than in any other European country, and its influence was declared by some observers to have been responsible for the overthrow of Dr. Augustinas Waldemaras, who is living in exile near Memel. Dr. Waldemaras opposed the opening of relation with Poland until Vilna was returned, and the dictatorship succeeding him has adopted his policy.

26,661,596 MOTOR VEHICLES IN U. S.; GAIN IN 1930 SLIGHT

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Motor vehicles now in use throughout the United States are calculated at 26,661,596 in a compilation by Motor from state registration statistics. While this is an increase of 160,153 over last year, the gain in 1930 was the smallest on record, the magazine says.

The compilation for 1930 was only six-tenths of one per cent larger than the total of 26,501,445 in 1929. The smallest previous gain was 5.1 per cent in 1927.

Two factors were noted in the poor showing last year. Domestic sales cars and trucks fell off 1,200,000, while thousands of automobile owners, suffering from hard times, kept their cars in garages, out of service.

Of the vehicles now in use, 23,316,013 are passengers cars and 3,345,563 are trucks. New York leads the list again with 2,288,000.

Policeman, Ill, Shoots Self to Death in Room

Policeman Frank McGuirk of the Damen avenue station, 38 years old and a war veteran, shot himself to death early yesterday in his room at 3847 Osgood street. He died while being taken to the American hospital. Fellow policemen said McGuirk had been despondent recently on account of ill health. He was unmarried.

FEAR GERMAN PACT MAY PUSH RUSSIA INTO WAR

Esthonian Chief Believes Reds Shun Conflict.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TALLIN, Esthonia, Jan. 4.—Increasing coöperation and friendship between Germany and the soviet government is the chief threat to the future peace of northeastern Europe, according to Gen. George Laidoner, Esthonian army leader, who believes that the future of the Baltic states would be threatened should the German-bolshevik entente be realized.

Gen. Laidoner does not believe, however, that northeastern Europe will be involved in war in the near future if a German-soviet alliance does not take place. No country in Europe, he said, is willing to risk a war with Russia, and, moreover, the Red leaders themselves are also unwilling to risk a conflict. It would force them to mobilize a peasant army which might prove disloyal and turn on the Moscow régime.

Red Stability Lies in Peace.

"Russia at preasen may be compared to a large steam boiler which is out of order, and I doubt whether the soviets will be able to repair it as long as it is boiling," commented Gen. Laidoner. "The communists' policy of industrializing Russia is sapping the country's strength. Only a peaceful policy on the part of the Moscow dictatorship under Stalin can guarantee stability."

"Russia nevertheless can continue to threaten Esthonia without mobilizing an army," he added, "so it is impossible for us to disarm. We must continue to strengthen our defenses."

Russia is continually calling in German brains to assist in the development of her industries, said Gen. Laidoner, and the rapidly growing German colonies in Leningrad and Moscow are causing uneasiness in the Baltic states. There was a large colony in Leningrad before the war, but the Pravda mentioned recently that the colony is now twice as large, while the number of German residents in Moscow has doubled during the last year.

All the soviet munition factories, chemical industry and other similar projects are captained by German specialists, and their activities constitute the real threat to peace in eastern Europe. They are supported by soviet newspapers, who claim that the bourgeois nations will seek to remedy the present world economic crisis by starting the greatest war in history.

The latest military scheme in Russia is that advanced by the Oscaviachim, a society to promote chemical defense. The society's plan is to furnish communal farms with arms to enable them to maintain order in the surrounding districts in event of war. In order not to burden the war commissariat with this expense, the society offers to furnish the arms from its own resources. War Commissar Vorroshilov has second the plan.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Had the ski champions of Chicago, Howard Jansen and Kenneth Pommerville. These boys yesterday won titles in THE TRIBUNE'S first annual tournament at Riis park. Conservative estimates of the officials placed the crowd at 30,000.

Seventy-one of the 165 entries went to their marks in the two hour contest which tested their courage and ability. From 9 year old Russell Vastine to the 21 year old boys of the senior division, one by one they swooped down the steep track, leaped into space, and down the hill.

For many of these boys, particularly in the junior division, this was their first competition. With what trepidation they stood high on the steel scaffold looking down at the black mass of the crowd which barely left sufficient space for a landing and run, they alone knew. But none hesitated. Each pushed off as the shrill whistle of Karl Nilsen, chief of the hill, signaled for the jump.

Youngsters Thrill Crowd.

There may have been more expert performances, but the meet was thrilling sport to these contestants and to the thousands of spectators.

Long before starting time, 1:15, long lines of people came from all directions across the frozen turf of Riis park. The early comers scattered along the sides of the hill and formed a huge semi-circle at the base of the run. Soon motor cars were parked two deep on all the surrounding streets. The late arrivals massed behind the formed lines or sought the knolls farther away, where they had a better view of the slide rising high between the trees. Scores of small boys climbed into the boughs of the trees.

The junior division, boys under 14 years of age, jumped first. More than half of the entries competed. None had two perfect jumps, and consequently the competition was as keen as if all had been successful on both trials.

Falls Are Plentiful.

Many of the boys failed to keep their feet, falling sidewards or backwards, rolling down the slope in a flurry of snow and waving skis. Gunnar Sundin, on his second trial, thrilled the throng when he plunged headlong from the takeoff and landed on the points of his skis in a determined effort to carry his weight forward for a perfect landing. Neither he nor any other of the contestants was injured.

The junior championship was a duel between Kenneth Pommerville, the winner, and Jack Clark of the Forest Preserve Ski club. Pommerville won because of better form, for his best jump was 30 feet, five less than Clark's. The final standing gave Pommerville 10.675, while Clark's mark was 10.65. Pommerville lives at 643 Pine street, Hammond, Ind., and is not a member of any club. Hans Hermansen won the third place medal and Paul Schmitz was fourth.

Beats Out Teammate.

Howard Jansen of the Norge Ski club nosed out his teammate, Harvey Nilsen, for the gold medal in the senior boys' division. Jansen jumped 42 feet on his first trial and 41 feet on his second. Nilsen had a pair of 40 foot jumps. Jansen also had an advantage in form. He was judged at 17.450, while Nilsen's form was rated at 16.50. Nilsen was ranked second in form, but the others did not approach his distance.

Daniel Traznik of the Fox Athletic club was third. He tied with Art Carlstone of the Forest Preserve Ski club in form with a marking of 15.25, but Traznik jumped 40 feet on his first trial and 43 feet, the best mark of the afternoon, on his last. Carlstone previously had soared 42 feet and needed to equal this leap to win third place. But on his second attempt he cleared 41 feet.

Praise for Park Officials.

The other leading competitors in the senior group were Harold Hansen, Norge Ski club, fifth; Edward Cerney, Fox Athletic club, sixth; and Rudy Engedahl, Norge Ski club, seventh.

The medals were presented in the

TO OUR SKI FRIENDS.

The Tribune wishes to thank the committees of the northwest park districts, members of the ski clubs of Chicago, and other officials who worked unanimously to make yesterday's tournament at Riis park a success.

A SHOW 30,000 OR MORE ENJOYED

Only a strip of white snow, the runway for the skiers, broke the solid mass of spectators who gathered at Riis park yesterday for the junior ski meet sponsored by The Tribune. Conservative estimates placed the throng at 30,000. The photo does not take in the thousands on either side of the slide, the boys who climbed trees, and hundreds of others who perched on bunkers of the golf course for a view of the meet.

Turnesa's 294 Beats Farrell in Miami Open

Miami, Fla., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., professional, today won the Miami open golf championship, with a score of 294 for the 72 holes.

Starting the final 36 holes one stroke behind Eddie Williams of Cleveland, Turnesa played a deliberate, steady game to beat down the bids of Johnny Farrell, Mamaroneck, N. Y., Henri Ciuci, Stratford, Conn., and Jock Hutchison, all of whom came from behind to threaten.

Ties for Lead.

After 63 holes, Turnesa was tied with Williams and Farrell for the leadership with 258 and Ciuci was just a stroke back. Jock Hutchison, Chicago, also had a chance with 261.

Two threesomes ahead of Williams and Farrell, Turnesa brought his 73—73—74—74—294 to the clubhouse just as the sun set. Williams, Farrell and Ciuci playing together in the final threesome, were overtaken by darkness on the 17th green. The moon came up and it was almost impossible to see the 18th hole flag in the dusk.

Put Handkerchief on Cup.

The word came back that Turnesa had gone in with a 294. Farrell needed a par 4 to tie the championship and Williams and Ciuci needed birdies. It was so dark it was necessary to put a white handkerchief on the cup to guide the putting eye. Farrell misjudged the distances, overrunning the cup on his putt, and took a 5. Ciuci and Williams took dazzling par fours, but the title was already in Turnesa's bag.

KERN, STEVENS WIN.

JASPER QUINTET BEATS ST. GEORGE ON AUBIN'S TOSS

Jasper academy of Jasper, Ind., runner up in the national Catholic interscholastic basketball tournament at Loyola last spring, completed its invasion of Chicago courts last night with an 18 to 17 victory over St. George of Evanston on the latter's floor. The Hoosiers defeated De La Salle of Chicago, their conquerors in the final game at Loyola, 16 to 14, Saturday night.

Oscar Aubin, tiny forward, brought Jasper victory with a long shot in the closing minutes last night. Buscher of St. George had given his team a 17 to 16 lead on a free throw shortly before.

Eddie Schroeder of the Walton Arrow A. C. was the outstanding star in yesterday's Norwegian-American A. A. Derby held in conjunction with the Chicago Olympic tryouts at Humboldt park before 20,000 fans.

Schroeder won the 5,000 meter Olympic event and the class A mile, sharing honors with Wally Mitchell of the Majestic S. C. who captured the 500 meter Olympic event, and Frank Stack of the Amphions, who took the 440 yard class A dash. By their victories Mitchell and Schroeder assured themselves of places on the team to represent Chicago in the national Olympic tryouts to be held at Lake Placid, N. Y.

Minster Skates Well.

The Walton Arrows, with 130 points, captured the meet for their fourth straight Derby victory. The Norwegian-Americans scored 100 for second place.

Bill Minster of the Norwegian-American A. A., who was only a fifth of a second behind Mitchell in the 500 meter event, was also a strong skater yesterday, finishing third in the 5,000 meter race against time and third in the class A mile. Graham McQueeney of the Elgin Lions club finished second in the 5,000 meter tryout.

Although officials of the Illinois Western Skating association announced that points would count, Eddie Schroeder decided not to compete in the 400 yard dash in which Frank Stack of the Amphions led all the way. Schroeder saved his strength for the mile, where he took the lead at the seventh lap and was never headed.

Gathman Beats Beck.

One of the most brilliant races of the day was staged in the class B mile in which Ed Gathman of Elgin spurted in the last lap to gain an inch victory over William Beck of Henry playground. Other winners were Faith Schoen and Don Thompson of the Norwegians, Ed Stundl of the Majestics, and Eleanor Thiel, Wilbur Marks and Robert Peterson of the Walton Arrows.

Quakers Easy for Americans; Trounced, 5-0

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Tired from two hard games on successive nights, the Philadelphia Quakers failed even to make their usual good showing against their National Hockey league rivals tonight and suffered a 5 to 0 shutout at the hands of the New York Americans. The victory left the Americans only a point behind the Montreal Canadiens and Toronto, tied for second place in the Canadian division.

The Quakers seldom could get in an effective thrust through the New York defense, while the Americans, taking an early lead, had little trouble snatching the openings they found to add to their score. They tallied three times in the second period.

George Patterson opened the scoring two minutes after the game started on a pass from Red Dutton. Bill Burch, Dutton, and Normie Himes increased New York's total in the second period with Happy Emms and Johnny Shepherd furnishing assists. A three man passing attack gave Bert Hughes the final tally.

CITY PIN MEET STANDINGS SHIFT IN ALL EVENTS

Late squads last night in the annual city bowling tournament at Mussey's alleys changed the standing in every event. The Frank Smiggey Boosters took the lead in the team event with a 2,935 score. Five new leaders appeared in the doubles with R. Christiansen and E. Seiffert taking the lead with 1,276. R. Rudman held the limelight in the singles with a 689 series.

R. Christiansen, with 614 in the team event; 660 in the doubles, and a flat 600 in the singles took the lead in the all-events with 1,874, ten pins ahead of R. Rudman, who turned up with 1,864.

Penalties—Noble, Rockburn [2], Cook, Aurie, Sorrell.
Officials—Ion and Goodman.

The Detroit Falcons, bringing with them a nonchalant offense and a spirited defense, handed the Blackhawks a 2 to 1 defeat in a National Hockey league game last night at Chicago Stadium. The two teams displayed so much enthusiasm that the crowd of 10,000, catching the spirit of the occasion in the last period, rebuked an official decision with such a shower of pennies, papers, and other articles that play had to be suspended for three minutes.

The Blackhawks kept the puck in the Falcons' territory for more than half the game, but found that the Detroit team's fire and enthusiasm matched their own. In fact, they were so surprised that they weren't prepared for the languid manner in which the Falcons launched their two scoring plays.

Aurie, Lewis Score.

Aurie and Lewis produced the two Detroit scores in the last period, and the Hawks were rescued from a shutout by Tommy Cook, who counted with only a minute of the game remaining. Ebbie Goodfellow, the league's leading scorer, didn't improve his point total, but assisted Aurie in manufacturing the first goal.

Only brilliant work by Detroit's defense prevented the Hawks from taking a lead in the opening period. Rockburn and Noble broke up five scoring chances which seemed certain to terminate successfully. On one of these, two and one-half minutes from the close of the period, Rockburn's enthusiasm became so rampant that he was sent to the box for a major penalty when he interfered with a goal by dumping Cook to the ice.

Center on Detroit Net.

Play was centered in front of the Detroit goal practically the entire period, while Adams, Gottselig, and Ingram missing shots so close that points seemed inevitable.

Toward the latter part of the second period Detroit's hightly touted offense began to penetrate past midrink and play was more even.

Shortly after the faceoff Detroit had only four men on the ice. Rockburn was still serving two and a half minutes of his major penalty and Noble was expelled with Taffy Abel when the two came to blows after Abel missed a pot shot that bounced off Dolson's stick.

Detroit's offensive spurt developed nothing particularly startling, except that it gave Ebbie Goodfellow an opportunity to put his team in the lead, but he muffed it. Taking a short pass from Sorrell, he had the puck right under Chuck Gardiner's nose, but before he could get it off the stick Gardiner leaped out from the net and fell on it, much after the fashion of a good half back recovering a fumble.

Aurie Scores for Falcons.

Two long, slow deliberate passes, going from Goodfellow to Sorrell on one side of the court, and from Sorrell back to Aurie on the other side, netted the Falcons the first goal of the game, four minutes and ten seconds after the whistle. Aurie started toward Gardiner and drew the Hawk out, then pitched past him.

In the fierce play that developed as the Hawks combined all forces to score, Lewis got away from a melee in front of the Falcon goal and caught only Abel and Gardiner covering up. Skating right up to the net with Filmore as a decoy, he fired the puck in from the side. Eleven minutes of the period had expired.

It was here that Somers, the Hawks' star center, who has been out with a leg injury since the last Detroit game, when he collided with Rockburn, was rushed into service. He stayed only a minute, however.

Fans Halt Game.

Cook was sent to the penalty box for charging McInenly, and time had to be called while the irate fans threw paper, apples, cigar butts, programs, and pennies on the ice. The Hawks went into a huddle while the debris was removed and the Falcons spent the time picking up the pennies.

Unable to score while Detroit was short two men, the Hawks got a break in the Falcon defense a minute from the end, when Cook pitched it in over Dolson and a crowd of Hawks and Falcons arose on the ice in front of the net.

BADGERS OPEN BIG TEN SEASON AGAINST ILLINI

Ruby Team Captures Five Early Games.

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The western conference basketball race, won last year by the undefeated Purdue team, will begin all over again here tomorrow night when the University of Wisconsin meets Illinois.

The Badgers captured second place in the 1929-'30 campaign, but have lost three of their regulars, Farber, Matthusen, and Foster. Two guards and co-captains, Ed Chmielewski and John Paul, are the veterans of Dr. Walter E. Meanwell's rebuilt team. In four preconference contests, these guards played a leading rôle in holding Wisconsin's opponents to an average of 13 points a game.

Illinois Wins Five Straight.

Illinois' early season play was marked by five straight victories. The Illini defeated De Pauw, Carleton, Miami, Wabash, and Bradley. Wisconsin won from Carroll, Pennsylvania, and Missouri, but lost to Marquette, 16 to 14.

Coach Craig Ruby intends to start a lineup of Harper and Babe Kamp, forwards; Bennett, center; and Bob Kamp and Owen, guards. Fencl and Bartholomew, two reserves whom Ruby regards as equal to his regulars, will play part of the game.

Babe Kamp has been wearing a mask to protect a broken nose, but expects to discard it for tomorrow night's game. Owen and Bennett, both sophomores, won letters on the football team last fall.

Badgers Use Midget Forwards.

Dr. Meanwell will start a pair of midgets, Steen and Tornowske, at the forward positions and will depend on Nelson at center, although the former Madison University High school player is slightly less than 6 feet tall.

The game will mark a renewal of warfare between Dr. Meanwell and Ruby, his former pupil at the University of Missouri. Since Ruby came to Illinois in 1923, his teams have met the Badgers in ten games, winning four and losing six.

DE PAUL PLAYS DAKOTANS

De Paul university will be seeking its sixth basketball victory of the season tonight when it meets North Dakota State at De Paul gym. The Blue Demons are in good condition following their win over Rice institute Friday night.

Coach Jim Kelly plans to start Stix Powers and Heine Coan at forwards for De Paul. John Ascher will be at center, and the O'Connor boys, Bud and Joe, at the guard posts.

O'Connors Led Attack.

The O'Connors got together in the Rice battle and virtually piled up the victory themselves. They went on a wild scoring spree with five goals each. Coan, the sharp shooting forward, was next in line with four.

Powers, although not among the leading scorers, is the key man in the De Paul attack, according to Coach Kelly.

The Dakotans lost to Loyola Saturday, 23 to 9. However, their shooting was off form and they may find the range against De Paul tonight. Probable lineup:

DE PAUL.		NORTH DAKOTA.
Powers	F	Fairhead
Coan	F	MacDonald
Ascher	C	Weir
J. O'Connor	G	McKay

Throngs See Boys Display Skiing Skill

Rias park field house immediately after the meet by Joseph Gubbins, president of the northwest park district, and William Rieger, vice president.

The coöperation of the park officials with the members of The Tribune A. A. carried the tournament through to a successful conclusion. There were no delays and the details were handled rapidly. There was sufficient snow for the slide from the huge caches deposited since December, and yesterday's near freezing temperature was ideal for the spectators.

Terje Jensen and Trygve Haseng, judges of form, and Tryvge Schau and Thorleif Narup, judges of distance, compiled their results within a half hour after the last jumper had left the slide.

Ski Stars Jump.

Exhibition jumps were made by Gutterom Paulsen, national champion; Gunnar Oman, Karl Nilsen, Roy Mikkelsen, and Victor Larsen.

The judges represented Norge and Ogden Dunes Ski clubs and they were unanimous in praise of the tournament and the interest manifested by the boys.

The crowd was a surprise to these vetrans and, as they phrased it, "the meet would have been a credit to any of the large slides in the Chicago territory."

None of the boys from the Challenge Athletic club competed yesterday. A fire in their clubhouse Saturday night destroyed almost their entire equipment, according to George Rockwell, secretary of the club. "We hope by next year to be reëquipped and to take part in THE TRIBUNE meet," Mr. Rockwell said last night.

WEST SIDE MAT CARD OFFERS 5 BOUTS TONIGHT

The heavyweight wrestling brigade invades the west side for the first time this season tonight when five bouts will be staged by Promotor Arnold Minkley at the 133d infantry armory, Madison and Rockwell streets.

Heading the parade are Ray Steele, brawny Californian, and Fred Grobmier, lanky exponent of the scissors from Iowa. They meet in the main event, two falls out of three.

MOON MULLINS—PRESTO—CHANGO!

SMITTY—THE JUNIOR PARTNER

BY FRENCH LANE.

Sun Beau, the turf champion of 1930 among older horses, will have to shoulder 129 pounds when he steps into the $100,000 Agua Caliente handicap on March 22. It is 13 pounds more than Mike Hall, Challenger II., an invader from England, Easter Stockings, and Crack Brigade have been assigned.

The weights for the race, which is the richest of the winter season and one of the richest runs in the world, have been announced, and despite Sun Beau's high impost, it will not keep him from ruling as the early favorite. He will open in the future book betting at around 5 or 6 to 1.

There are 72 eligible to the race and the weights range from Sun Beau's 129 pounds down to the 90 pounds Brown Sinner, Bertrand, Chariot, and St. Jim have been assigned. Pigeon Hole seems to have received a break at the hands of the handicapper, getting in at 113 pounds. There was a time last season when Sun Beau could not give Pigeon Hole three pounds and beat him. Ervast, one time western champion, also is in light with 108 pounds.

Sun Beau to New Orleans.

Sun Beau, now in South Carolina in light training, is to be moved to New Orleans within a few days and will be pointed for the New Orleans handicap, which is to be run several weeks in advance of the Agua Caliente fixture. Should he win the New Orleans handicap, he will pick up a penalty of three pounds for the Agua Caliente, giving him 132 pounds instead of 129.

Sun Beau, in trying for the New Orleans as well as the Agua Caliente handicap, will accomplish something no other horse ever has been able to do if he captures both prizes. Chilhowee, when at his best, failed. So did Vermajo when that colt was a star of the Three D's stable. Justice F., after winning a New Orleans handicap, was injured a few days before his engagement in Mexico when he seemed to have a royal chance of completing the double.

Seeks Money Record.

Sun Beau is shooting at the two rich winter fixtures, in an endeavor to round out his racing career as the world's largest money winning horse. He is within $100,000 of Gallant Fox's record total of $328,000.

In other years he has been a better horse late in the season than he was earlier in the year. Because of this habit many do not give him much of a chance in the March stake, although he never has been entirely out of training since he rounded out his 1930 campaign in Maryland late in November.

Sun Beau may be trained for the two engagements by B. S. Michell, who took Mrs. John Hertz's American champion, Reigh Count, to England in 1929. Dr. W. A. Crawford is to take Sun Beau to New Orleans, and a decision will be reached there as to whether Crawford will point him for the New Orleans and Agua Caliente races or return east and prepare a division of the W. S. Kilmer horses for early spring engagements in Maryland. If he returns east Michell will handle Sun Beau, which is closely related to his former charge, Reigh Count.

NOW'S TIME BIRD LOVERS COMPARE NOTES OF WINTER

Many Species Here To Refuse to Go South.

BY BOB BECKER.

Have you seen any starlings this winter? Do you have a crop around your place? These and questions of similar character now intrigue thousands of bird lovers. every winter feed the birds which fuse to go south.

One of the latest queries that come to us regarding an unidentified bird apparently involves a towhee chewink. The question originates Bremen, Ind., and follows:

"I will appreciate it very much you will tell me the name of a bird It is smaller than a robin, has a black head and back, the black coming below the neck, a white breast deep henna on each side and quite long tail. The wings have streaks in them. I noticed it the first snow. Since then it has several times to get something around the house."

Description Fits Towhee.

This description fits the towhee chewink, which has upper parts throat and breast black, white and sides a beautiful shade of Outer web of the primaries is The towhee is smaller than the as the correspondent's description says, the former averaging about inches or a trifle more in whereas the robin is about 10 long. ...SERTS BANKS ...NATION ARE ...OUND, STRONG

...ephenson Tells of Recent Troubles.

A tabulation showing the condition of Chicago banks at the end of 1930 will be found on page 28. The figures are those reported by the banks in response to calls for statements of condition issued by the controller of the currency and the Illinois state auditor on Saturday.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The vast bulk of assets of American banks are sound despite the considerable number of bank failures last year. This reassurance was given last night by Rome C. Stephenson, president of the American Bankers' association. But at the same time he called bankers, government and state officials and the public to join in promoting better banking practices.

"The events of the last year have brought about a stronger banking situation by eliminating some undeniable weaknesses," he said. "Despite the prominence in the news of banking difficulties, only a small fraction of total banking figures are affected and even a smaller amount of deposits will actually be lost since most closed banks will pay in full or large part.

"The vast majority of bank resources are not involved at all. I feel that we can truthfully say we will emerge as a result of these unhappy and speculative conditions the strongest banking situation we have ever enjoyed and one that is worthy of the highest confidence of all our people. The vast bulk of bank assets are 100 per cent sound above all question."

Proposes Remedies.

Mr. Stephenson reviews the recent difficulties in banking and proposes certain remedies.

"The last year has been a severe one for banking as well as for all lines of business," he said. "Looking back, we realize that much that was unwise crept into some of our business activities. If there were no unsound business men or enterprises there would be no unsound assets in a bank. It is the duty of the banker to choose only sound loans and investment, but the difficulty of such judgment is increased in such times as we have been going through.

"Present laws adequately enforced contain ample provisions for governmental supervision. This, however, does not relieve the depositor from weighing and choosing his banking relations, just as his other business or professional relations. The people of a community have a part to play in maintaining the soundness of their banks through the medium of patronage. If only those banks were patronized in which the most careful policies are practiced and the most consci-

Conditions existing in the building industry during 1930 are reflected in the annual report of the Celotex company for the fiscal period ended Oct. 31, which was issued last night.

The statement showed net earnings for the twelve months period of $244,079, equivalent to $4.58 a share on the 53,266 shares of preferred stock outstanding. In the preceding year the company earned net profit of $1,478,589, which was equivalent after preferred dividend requirements to $5.42 a share on the common stock outstanding at the end of the period.

The net earnings did not cover preferred dividends paid during the year, which amounted to $278,558. Dividends to the amount of $307,636 were paid on the common shares. Other deductions from surplus shown in the statement were $101,751 for charges applicable to prior periods and $88,925 for "special legal and other expense." At the close of the year the earned surplus stood at $698,408, the compared with $1,475,280 on Oct. 31, 1929.

The balance sheet as of Oct. 31, 1930, shows current assets of $2,928,094 and current liabilities of $1,144,393, which compared with $4,263,034 and $2,621,565, respectively, at the close of the preceding fiscal year.

Net sales for 1930 totaled $8,557,634, against $10,317,640 in 1929 and $8,979,858 in 1928. In his remarks to stockholders President B. G. Dahlberg points out that total net sales declined 17 per cent while sales to the building industry dropped off 28.6 per cent. New building in the country during the period was off 42 per cent, he states.

While 1931 may see a gradual improvement in business, the present outlook for any immediate betterment is not promising, he observes.

Annual Winter Furniture Market Opens Here Today

BY HOWARD CARSWELL.

Chicago today will enjoy the usual invasion of 5,000 or more furniture buyers swarming here for the annual winter furniture market with its debut of 1931 furniture styles. A total attendance of as many as 10,000 buyers is expected during the progress of the market, which extends until Jan. 17.

More than 700 furniture manufacturerers have their new lines on display in the American Furniture Mart, while the furniture division of the big new Merchandise Mart is making an ambitious bid for the first time with 500,000 square feet of floor space on more than two floors of the building devoted to furniture exhibits. Because the Merchandise Mart is in its first year of operation and has become so widely publicized as the "world's largest building," it is expected to draw a great deal of interest from the visiting retail furniture merchants from all parts of the continent.

The National Retail Furniture association will hold its annual convention for three days, beginning tomorrow, in the Furniture Mart. All branches of the industry will unite at the Stevens hotel tomorrow night to hear Col. R. R. McCormick, publisher of THE TRIBUNE, as the principal speaker at the association banquet.

Predicts 20,000 Buyers.

About 20,000 retail store buyers will visit Chicago during January and February to buy spring and summer stocks, according to the prediction of the Chicago National Market, a wholesale trade publication of the Chicago Association of Commerce. Besides the furniture show now opening other outstanding events soon will be the National House Furnishings exhibit at the Stevens hotel, from Jan. 11 to 17, and the semi-annual convention of the Interstate Merchants council (sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce), which convenes at the Hotel Sherman on Feb. 2 for a five day session. John McKinlay, president of Marshall Field & Co., will be the convention's principal speaker.

Gifts, Artwares Events.

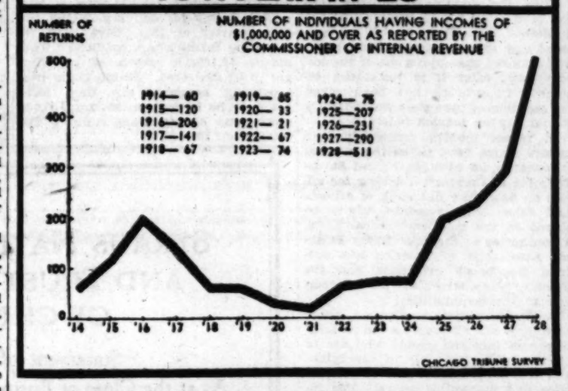
Three major gift, artwares, and novelty events will also attract to this city several thousand buyers. There will be the Gifts, Artwares, and Novelties association show at the Merchandise mart; the National Gift and Artwares show at the Stevens hotel, and the Eastern Manufacturers and Importers' exhibit at the Palmer house.

Other merchandising events will include the semi-annual House Dress, Lingerie, Infants and Childrens' Wear exhibition, Feb. 2 to 14, at the Morrison hotel; Illinois Retail Clothiers and Furnishers' convention, Feb. 9 to 12, Hotel Sherman; National Retail Clothiers and Furnishers' association, Feb. 9 to 12, Hotel Sherman; Style exhibit, Feb. 2 to 14, Morrison hotel, and the Illinois Retail Hardware association convention at the Hotel Sherman from Feb. 10 to 12.

U. S. Bankers Promise Loan of $8,000,000 to Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia, Jan. 4.—(AP)—A letter from United States bankers promising Colombia a loan of $8,000,000 as soon as the administration's railroad reorganization bill is made a law by congress is published in newspapers today. The letter, addressed to President Olaya, is signed by William Samuels of the National City Bank of New York and Howard Jefferson of the First National Bank of Boston, representing a banking group which also includes the Continental Illinois company, the International Manhattan company, and Lazard & Co. of London.

MILLION DOLLAR INCOMES INCREASED DURING THE WAR, THEN DECLINED; NEW RISE STARTED IN '25 AND CAME TO A PEAK IN '28



MONTGOMERY WARD & CO. HAS SECOND BEST DOLLAR SALES IN 1930

In spite of last year's depression Montgomery Ward & Co., Chicago mail order and chain store concern, had the second largest dollar sales in its history. And considering the decline in commodity prices, the actual tonnage volume of sales exceeded even the banner year of 1929.

Gross sales for 1930 totaled $272,319,625, compared with $291,530,521 in 1929. While the decrease in dollar value was $19,210,996, the percentage decline was only 6.59 per cent, which was only about half the average decline in commodity prices.

Sales for December totaled $26,672,174, compared with $35,799,316 in December, 1929, a decrease of $7,127,132, or 19.91 per cent. Last month showed improvement over November, due to Christmas business, but it also marked a narrowing of the spread in the yearly comparisons. November sales totaled $22,401,426, a decline of 24.96 per cent from November, 1929.

Climaxes Year of Discouragement.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 4.—The outstanding event in last week's financial news was undoubtedly the "trunk line settlement," and Wall street seemed so to regard it.

This is not because it was what the markets would describe as an epoch making incident. The breaking of a protracted deadlock in the transportation field, the relinquishing of a railway feud, could hardly be de-

INTEREST RATE ON MUNICIPALITY BONDS IS TOPIC

Public Spending Adds to Its Importance.

BY SCRUTATOR.

With the additional impetus that has been given public spending by the insistence that works should be hastened as a relief for unemployment no less than for the enjoyment of the improvement after it is completed, increased importance has been given the question of the rate a municipality should pay on bonded indebtedness.

In recent months communities in twenty states have taken the interest rate matter up with the United States Chamber of Commerce, asking for advice on how their financing of schools and other improvements might be placed on the most economical basis. A committee of the Investment Bankers Association of America has outlined the broad principles and the chamber has distributed this information to the communities.

In their widest application these principles are obvious. A community must convince the people who are to buy its bonds not only of the intention but the ability to pay as interest dates and maturities arrive. The investment bankers feel that to do this it is necessary that a municipality place on itself restrictions as to the amount of indebtedness it can incur, but none on amount of taxes that can be levied to pay debts that are once contracted.

Complications Enter.

Complications enter the picture here when overlapping jurisdiction, each capable of issuing bonds, exercise their authority. When school districts, park, sewer, and mosquito abatement subdivisions are added to the general corporate body functioning as the local government head it is often a puzzle how much of a margin of safety can be maintained for any issue of bonds. The recommendation of the committee is that local governments be kept as simplified and as centralized as possible.

All bond issues, it is stated, should be used to finance improvements of a permanent nature and should mature in full within the probable life of the improvement. Sound practice, it is held, requires that an improvement should be paid for by the generation that gets the most benefit from it. Serial maturities, rather than sinking fund provisions, are recommended, in view of the fact that the sinking fund method has proved unsatisfactory in many instances.

Suggest $1,000 Units.

On the more technical side, it is suggested that bonds should be issued in units of $1,000, with interest payable semi-annually. Special effort should be taken to make all municipal bonds meet the requirements of institutions like banks and trust funds, and insurance companies, as these are the largest buyers of bonds.

Bidders for the bonds in a lump should be allowed to name bids for the bonds bearing different rates of interest. In other words, the municipality should not declare that 5 per cent is what it will pay for its money, but allow the bidder to say he will pay so much if the rate is 4½ and a different amount if the rate is to be higher or lower. Net interest cost to the municipality should be the factor governing the decision on who the successful bidder shall be.

A great deal of this looks like primer stuff to men familiar with bonds. Yet a great many municipal bonds are in default in the United States today which would never have been issued had there been due consideration of the ability and intention to pay under any conditions that could be forecast. The necessity for talking about ordinary business care in municipal government seems to be based on the fact that a considerable number of municipalities have not paid attention to primary factors like those outlined.

Climaxes Financial Year of Discouragement.

scribed as news which was bound to alter the general situation. Last year's great reaction in finance and industry was not even proximately caused by the dispute over railway consolidation plans, and the reaching of agreement does not remove the overhanging difficulties of the day, even in the railway field.

Still, whatever may be the actual importance of the news, its announcement just as a year of accumulating bad news was ending, and at a moment when financial discouragement was at its worst, had a touch of the dramatic.

That the news would have stimulated financial enthusiasm in the happier times of two or three years ago may be judged by way of contrast from the violent fall in stocks which followed the commerce commission's rejection of the "Nickel Plate merger plan" in March of 1926. But last week's announcement had the particular distinction of being the first financial development of a favorable character in a season which had presented an uninterrupted succession of bad news, apparently rising to a climax of discouragement.

Has Psychological Value.

Under such circumstances, especially when psychological conditions have created the prevalent attitude towards the financial future a single event of distinctly reassuring character will sometimes have more than the usual importance, even if the trend of financial imagination and financial markets is not changed by it overnight. It suggests, at any rate, that other favorable occurrences after the prolonged chapter of bad news are reasonably to be expected now from time to time and that they may have considerable influence on financial psychology.

Last week's numerous predictions of home and foreign financial experts were generally hopeful. No one expected any different quality. As the president of the American Telephone lately remarked, no responsible financier will make unpleasant edictions publicly, because he knows that it "would earn for him the dislike of the business world."

It is therefore always taken for granted in advance that our men of affairs, when they do affix their names to New Year's day prophecies, will seek for the hopeful side and usually exclude any disagreeable effects. Nevertheless, there is this to say of last week's prophecies—that they gave their ground of optimism fairly, did not overstate, held themselves down to concrete facts and were careful to avoid the hazardous practice of naming the date for the expected recovery.

Wall Street Is Hopeful.

As the new year proceeds there will doubtless be recurrence of talk concerning "revival in the spring." At heart, and despite its recent excess of gloom about the future, Wall street is temperamentally hopeful, and the approach of springtime almost always stimulates cheerful expectations. It might be imagined that the wholly illusory character of last year's "spring revival," along with the utter failure of "autumn expansion" to occur, would discourage renewal of such hope.

Yet recovery in a spring season—occurring not three or four months after a great financial crash but after a reasonable period of readjustment—is at least supported by tradition; for the turn actually came in the season of 1922, of 1919, of 1915, of 1909 and of 1895. That naturally does not prove what will happen in the present instance; unless the time is ripe for recovery the season will not bring it.

"The people also can contribute to maintaining the ability of their banks to meet their obligations by granting them the fullest possible confidence. In many cases of bank troubles the only thing that was wrong with a bank was an unduly suspicious and apprehensive state of mind in its customers created by no act or condition of its own, but by baseless rumors which sometimes led them to destroy the value of their own deposits by demanding them immediately, forcing a bank to sacrifice its assets and otherwise disrupt its financial operation."

Foreman-State Position.

The strong position of the Foreman-State National bank was set forth in a letter sent to stockholders last night accompanying the year-end financial statement.

"Your attention is directed to the very liquid condition of our institutions," it said. "The total of our cash, the amount due from banks and invested in government bonds is $91,828,783. In addition, we have call loans, short time prime commercial paper and other short term investments amounting to $19,745,270. The grand total of these items is $111,574,003, which is more than 50 per cent of our total deposits, including special deposits. During 1930 our deposits increased more than $18,000,000 and now total $199,854,889."

A final charter has been issued by the Illinois state auditor to the Banco di Napoli Trust company, which will begin business next month with Eduardo Maglione as president.

To the Holders of Five Per Cent Consolidated Mortgage Series A Gold Bonds of Chicago Railways Company Who Have Deposited Their Bonds Under and Become Parties to the Bondholders' Protective Agreement Dated February 23, 1926:

The undersigned John E. Blunt, Jr., Walter S. Brewster, John R. Macomber, Albert H. Wetten and L. Edmund Zacher, acting as a Committee constituted by The Chicago Railways Company Five Per Cent Consolidated Mortgage Series A Bondholders' Protective Agreement dated February 23, 1926 (hereinafter for convenience sometimes referred to as the "Committee"), hereby give notice to you and each of you that:

1. The undersigned Committee has approved a Plan of Reorganization (herein for convenience sometimes referred to as the "Plan") and in accordance with the provisions of said Bondholders' Protective Agreement copies of said Plan were filed on December 26, 1930, with the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Company, successor to Illinois Merchants Trust Company the Depositary designated in said Bondholders' Protective Agreement.

2. If, within thirty (30) days after the first date of publication hereof, the holders of certificates of deposit representing not less than forty per cent (40%) of the principal amount of the bonds deposited at the time such plan is filed with the depositary desire to dissent from such Plan and to have the Committee withhold its final approval thereof, they may do so by filing with the Depositary within said time a written document or documents signed by such depositors stating their dissent in accordance with the provisions of the Bondholders' Protective Agreement, and in such event, the Committee shall withhold its final approval of said Plan. In the event that no such dissent is so filed by the holders of certificates of deposit of the amount and within the time specified, the Committee will give its final approval to said Plan, and thereupon said Plan will be binding upon the depositors, their heirs, legal representatives, successors and assigns, all of whom shall be conclusively deemed to have assented thereto whether they shall have received actual notice thereof or not, and shall be irrevocably bound and concluded thereby.

3. Any depositor under said Bondholders' Protective Agreement may, instead of following the above course, withdraw from said Bondholders' Protective Agreement by executing and filing with the Depositary, within thirty (30) days after the date of the first publication hereof, a notice in writing that such depositor dissents from said Plan of Reorganization, and may, thereupon, withdraw from deposit bonds in the aggregate principal amount represented by certificate or certificates of deposit held by such depositor upon the surrender of said certificate or certificates, duly endorsed, and upon payment to the Committee of one per cent (1%) of the face amount of the bonds represented by said certificate or certificates of deposit.

4. Two amendments to said Bondholders' Protective Agreement have been adopted by the Committee and copies thereof filed with the Depositary of said Committee on December 26, 1930. Said amendments provide that (1) in the event of the adoption of the Plan, if any provision of the same amounts to or involves any modification or amendment of said Bondholders' Protective Agreement, said Bondholders' Protective Agreement shall stand modified and amended to conform in all respect to said Plan, and (2) that in the event of the approval of a Plan, the Committee shall do all things necessary or desirable to carry into effect such Plan, and that in any event the period of said Bondholders' Protective Agreement and all of its provisions be extended without time limit, subject however, to the limitation now contained in said Agreement that it may be terminated by the Committee or by the holders of Certificates of Deposit representing more than fifty per cent of the total principal amount of the bonds then on deposit. Unless dissents within the time and in the amounts set forth in the Agreement are filed, the Committee will give its final approval to such amendments.

Twin States Natural Gas Company

Debentureholders' Protective Committee

Convertible 6% Gold Debentures of Twin States Natural Gas Company

Midland Natural Gas Company, subsidiary of Twin States Natural Gas Company, has defaulted in the payment of interest due and payable January 1, 1931 on its 5-Year Convertible 6% Gold Debentures, and it is expected that Twin States Natural Gas Company will default in the payment of interest due and payable February 1, 1931 on its Convertible 6% Gold Debentures. While other committees have been organized for the purpose of receiving deposits of securities of Twin States Natural Gas Company, it is felt that the interests of the holders of Debentures of the Company can best be served by a committee more truly representative of the actual holders of such Debentures. Dealers throughout the United States interested in the distribution of securities of Twin States Natural Gas Company have, through the organization of a Dealers' Executive Committee, designated three members of the undersigned Committee. Furthermore, as the undersigned committee proposes to act solely for the holders of Debentures, its decisions will not conflict with or be guided by representation of other securities. The undersigned, therefore, at the request of the Dealers' Executive Committee and of the holders of a large amount of Debentures of Twin States Natural Gas Company, have consented to act as a Committee for the purpose of protecting the interests of such holders.

Hibernia Trust Company, No. 57 William Street, New York, N. Y., and Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Co., Chicago, Ill. have been designated as the Depositaries of the Committee and a Deposit Agreement, pursuant to which the Committee is to act and under which Debentures will be received by the Depositaries, is being prepared. It is important that Debentureholders act together and without delay and that Debentures, with coupons maturing February 1, 1931 and subsequent attached thereto, be deposited immediately with either Hibernia Trust Company or Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Co., which will issue interchangeable and transferable Certificates of Deposit therefor.

Copies of the Deposit Agreement will be available promptly and may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Committee or to the Depositaries.

OPE FOR MORE HARMONY WITHIN HE GRAIN TRADE

ard of Trade and Farm Board at Odds.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Late reports from Washington Saturday said that the farm board had lent $48,000,000 for cotton and $25,000,000 for grain and paid out $250,000 in brokerage fees.

Conditions existing between the Chicago Board of Trade and the farm board are far from harmonious and in view of conservatives in the trade there is less talking and more action on both sides.

Conservative interests are inclined to the belief that eventually all the difficulties will be ironed out, which it is said will clear the speculative atmosphere and make the grain markets more attractive to the investing public. Grain prices are down to what many regard as a solid basis. Liquidation by longs has been heavy and short sellers and investors' buying brought a good recovery late in the week.

At the close of last week old futures of wheat were ¼@½c higher, with July up 3c, as compared with the previous week. Corn closed 3½@4¼c, oats 2@2⅝c, rye 1⅛@2¼c higher than a week ago. Expectations are for a further upturn for a few days at least, although sharp setbacks are in order after every bulge, which would keep the market in a healthier condition.

Favor July Wheat.

Wheat traders in Chicago and the Canadian northwest look with favor on prospective help coming from the dominion and provisional governments in the marketing of 50,000,000 to 100,000,000 bu of Canadian wheat through loans to China. It is said this wheat can be bought and laid down in Chinese ports cheaper than rice is selling for in China.

Should this arrangement be worked out, it is said that Canada would be enabled to market a large part of its surplus. On the other hand, a Chicago operator in close touch with the world position says that if one regards only the price, Winnipeg wheat is very cheap; but if one considers conditions, the matter is different. Canada, he says, has exported so far this season 131,000,000 bu of wheat, and as she has carried over more than that, she still has all of the 1930 crop to dispose of; in other words, more than 300,000,000 bu, which is over 50,000,000 bu more than last season.

Visible Supply.

A peculiar feature of wheat supplies is that the combined visible supply in the United States, Canada, and afloat on ocean passage is 315,000,000 bu, or practically the same as a year ago. Movement of wheat from the interior increased during the week, while the milling demand is not heavy. A cash handler says that millers are not loading up, because they know they can get wheat from the farm board agencies at any time at reasonable prices. Expectations are that the visible supply will show a fair decrease today, as there has been an increased movement from the interior to primary markets in the southwest. Reports from Washington say there is prospect of an act by congress embargoing exports. When traders consider the liberal supplies, it is said to require considerable courage on the part of the average trader to stay long wheat.

July wheat is a new crop proposition and winter wheat prospects are none too good at present. Buying of Winnipeg July and selling of the same delivery in Chicago continues to be a popular spread. Winnipeg closed 2⅞@3¼c higher, July being the strongest at 66⅝c, while May was 69¼c, Chicago July was 66⅝@66¼c and May 81¼@81⅝c.

Speculative sales of wheat futures in Chicago for the week were 77,176,000 bu, a small gain over the previous week and compared with 221,758,000 bu last year. Open interest at the close was 144,592,000 bu against 151,800,000 bu last year. Prices for the week follow:

Corn Gains Friends.

Corn traders finished their liquidation at the lowest prices of the season the beginning of the week and an increased buying later carried prices up sharply, with the finish around the week's best figures. Sentiment has become more bullish, owing to a small interior movement, and traders are more favorable to the buying side. The short interest is said to have been reduced on the bulge, and an advance of 4 to 5 cents more, traders said, is likely to induce farmers to sell more freely. An increase in the visible supply is expected, also an enlarged consumption, as a result of the action of the agricultural department in removing restrictions on the manufacture of corn sugar. Industrial consumption of corn as estimated by the department of agriculture ranges from 75,000,000 to 125,000,000 bu.

Receipts of corn in Chicago in January, 1929, were 7,528 cars and in 1927 5,194 cars, while in 1925 they were 8,325 cars. March corn closed Saturday at 70½@70⅝c, May 72@71⅞c, July 73@72⅝c. From the low point on Monday to the high on Saturday May was up almost 6c. Prices for the week follow:

Oats Have Good Rally.

Largest speculative holders of oats liquidated at the opening at the inside prices of the season, and shorts spent the balance of the week in covering, advancing May 3⅝c from the extreme low. December went out at the best prices on Wednesday, 31⅝c. The cash situation is said to be strong, but the movement from the country is not large.

BANKERS OPPOSE RADICAL CHANGE IN FEDERAL LAW

Senate Committee About to Begin Inquiry.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—With a subcommittee of the senate committee on banking and currency about to commence an inquiry into banking conditions, financial interests are preparing to resist any efforts to put through radical legislation. The attitude of the American Bankers association is expressed in a statement by Rome C. Stephenson, its president.

"Bankers recognize that their business carries especially heavy public responsibilities and welcomes all sound measures to aid them meet the duties this imposes," said Mr. Stephenson. "Unceasing efforts to bring about continually improving methods to safeguard depositors in banks of all kinds have long been uppermost in the plans of bankers' organizations throughout the nation. They are not the outgrowth merely of the past year of business adversity, but have been carried on actively for many years and have resulted in great progress along lines of better, safer banking methods.

Further Efforts Urged.

"Although banking along with all business has suffered reverses, conditions in this field have been far less severe than they would have been had not bankers been widely successful in their endeavors to develop the high standards of banking that now generally prevail. It is clear the future calls for further efforts along these same lines.

"The American Bankers association and bankers' organizations in every state actively support the principle of government supervision of banking. Present laws adequately enforced contain ample provisions for government supervision. Bankers universally believe in strong, capable banking departments manned by officials with the discretion and courage to enforce these laws and act under them as the common welfare demands.

Pay Well, He Urges.

"They believe that these public officials should be paid sufficient salaries to command the services of men of character, ability and a resolute spirit of public service. They believe also that the banking departments should be kept free from all political or other improper influence in order to be able to act at all times with single-minded independence solely for the benefit of the public interest."

The subcommittee of the senate committee on banking and currency of which Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.] is chairman already has a staff of experts at work assembling data. A questionnaire sent to the banks of the country is designed to produce a mass of information.

ORDERS STEEL RAILS.

An order for 50,750 tons of steel rail and 10,000 tons of rail fastenings has been placed with the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company by the Louisville and Nashville railroad.

United States Freight.

Please give me information on United States Freight common.—A. R. O.

United States Freight company is one of the leading freight forwarding concerns. Its business is chiefly the handling of less than carload shipments, its charges being materially lower than the railroads' rates for such shipments.

In April, 1930, shipments were averaging more than 8,000 cars a month and 70 cities were being served. Freight is also forwarded by steamer to domestic and foreign ports.

Results for the first half of 1930 compared unfavorably with the showing in the corresponding period of 1929 as a result of general business depression and the reduction in volume of tonnage handled. Operating economies were introduced to bolster up earnings, and in the third quarter earnings improved somewhat.

In the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1930, net profit, after depreciation and federal taxes, was $701,869, which was equal to $2.34 per share on the 299,640 no par shares outstanding, slightly more than enough to cover the 75 cents quarterly dividends. In the September quarter alone net was $346,574, or $1.16 per share. No exact comparison can be made with results for the first nine months of 1929. For the six months ended June 30, 1929, however, net was $679,855, equal to $2.40 per share on 283,120 shares.

The company's business grew rapidly from 1926, when gross revenue was $18,700,647, to 1929, when gross of $36,210,120 was reported. Net income more than doubled during those years. For the full year ended Dec. 31, 1929, net, available for dividends, was $1,110,182, equal to $3.71 per share.

As of June 30, 1930, the ratio of current assets to current liabilities was about 2.5 to 1. Earned surplus was $358,198 and capital surplus $415,995. The company has been developing a new container service out of current earnings.

The stock is speculative.

The chairman has been quoted as saying that U. S. Freight company would welcome not only supervision but complete regulation by the interstate commerce commission and that regulation of all concerns doing a forwarding business would be beneficial to the company.

Sinclair Consolidated Oil.

Will you kindly advise me as to the safety of an investment in the bonds of Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation, the 7s, due in 1937?—A. H. S.

COMMERCIAL FAILURES IN 1930 ARE 26,355

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Commercial failures for the year 1930 totaled 26,355, exclusive of bank suspensions, and their liabilities amounted to $668,283,842, compared with a total of 22,909 defaults in 1929, R. G. Dun & Co. reports.

An accentuation of the unusually high commercial mortality during December was not unexpected, the review says, for even in settled times the closing month of a year invariably is marked by an upturn in the insolvency totals.

The total of 26,355 defaults in 1930 was unparalleled, and in no preceding December has the number of failures equaled the 2,525 reported last month. Moreover, last month's indebtedness of $83,683,361 also was the largest on record and only once before, in March, 1924, has the amount been exceeded.

"A distinguishing feature of the last year's returns," the review says, "was the fact that in each month excepting August and September the number of insolvencies was above the 2,000 level, with the maximum reached in January, at 2,759. The December figure, which represented the second highest point of the year, was fully 24 per cent above the number for November, although a part of this increase was accounted for by the longer month."

OPEN MONDAY EVENINGS.

S. W. Straus & Co. announce that all of its offices throughout the United States will be open each Monday evening during January until 9 o'clock.

DEBENTUREHOLDERS' PROTECTIVE COMMITTEE

Inland Utilities, Inc.

5 Year Convertible 6% Gold Debentures

To the Holders of the Above Bonds:

On December 1st, 1930, Inland Utilities, Inc., defaulted in the payment of interest, then due and payable, on its 5 Year Convertible 6% Gold Debentures.

While another Committee has been organized for the purpose of receiving deposits of debentures, it is felt that the interests of the Debentureholders can best be served by a Committee more truly representative of the actual holders of such Debentures. Dealers throughout the United States interested in the distribution of securities of Inland Utilities, Inc., are cooperating, through the organization of a Dealer's Executive Committee, with the undersigned Committee. Furthermore, as the undersigned Committee proposes to act solely in the interest of the Debentureholders, its decisions will not conflict with or be guided by representatives of other securities. The Undersigned, therefore, at the request of the holders of a large amount of Debentures of Inland Utilities, Inc., have consented to act as a Committee for the purpose of protecting the interests of such holders.

The First National Bank of Philadelphia, 1500 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa., has been designated as the Depositary of this Committee under an Agreement of Deposit dated Dec. 31, 1930, pursuant to the provisions of which the Committee is to act and under which Debentures will be received by the Depositary; an original counterpart of this agreement is lodged with the Depositary and copies thereof may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of this Committee or to the Depositary or its agents.

It is important that Debentureholders act together and without delay and that Debentures, with coupons attached maturing December 1, 1930, and subsequent thereto, be deposited immediately with the First National Bank of Philadelphia which will issue transferable Certificates of Deposit therefor.

For the convenience of Debentureholders residing in the West and Middle West, The Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Company, of Chicago, has been designated as Sub-Depositary and as such will receive deposits of Debentures and will issue Certificates of Deposit therefor.

Australian Minister Sees Upturn of Wheat Market

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Parker J. Maloney, Australian minister of markets and transport, expresses the opinion here that the wheat markets of the world have reached their bottom. "A rising market," he said, "will not be long delayed."

He is homeward bound from the London imperial conference.

Believes Oil Victory Over Overproduction Is Near

Houston, Tex., Jan. 4.—(AP)—The oil man's victory over his worst enemy—overproduction—is in near prospect, W. A. Farish, president of the Humble Oil and Refining company, said today. "Refineries are limiting crude runs to a volume which, if the effort continues, will permit the industry to go into the consuming season next spring without dangerously increasing stocks of gasoline," Mr. Farish said.

SYNOPSIS.

Richard Chandos and his wife, Leonie, former grand duchess of Riechtenburg, are seized at their estate near Lilial, in Austria, by George Hanbury, companion of Chandos in many adventures. Marya Salm, countess of Dresden, an expected guest, wires that she can not come.

Prince Paul, ruler of Riechtenburg, had hoped to marry Leonie and swore revenge. Fearing for Marya's safety because of her friendship for Leonie, Chandos and Hanbury, with their servants, Bell and Rowley, go secretly to Vigil, capital city of Riechtenburg, where Marya resides. A peasant named Ramon, whom they befriended, leads them through a secret border passage.

Marya tells them that she sent no message. Realizing the telegram was a ruse to lure them to Vigil, they are preparing to flee with Marya when the prince appears. They escape and reach the border, but find it is so closely guarded that crossing is impossible. Ramon is sought and he hides Marya and Carol, her trusted servant, in his house, while Chandos and Rowley join a traveling circus. Marya sends Carol to take them to Bariche, across the border, in a car which they recognize as Grieg's, the chief of police. Arrived at the inn in Bariche, they receive a message from Marya stating that she is to be pardoned but she must remain in Riechtenburg and not communicate with them.

Knowing that Marya, endeavoring to save them, has made some impossible arrangement with Grieg, they return to the border. Hanbury and Rowley pass, but Chandos is captured. He proves to the inspector that Grieg has betrayed his trust. Grieg arrives and leaves with the prisoner for Vigil. Hanbury and Rowley, knowing their friend's plight, hold up and capture the chief's car. They drive to the estate of Baron Sabre, where they find Marya. Grieg they left, tied to a post along the roadside.

Marya tells them that she was married that morning to Grieg—her price for their freedom. Hanbury, who is in love with Marya, is stunned at this news. Chandos sets out to find Grieg and kill him to free Marya, but Grieg has escaped. Chandos returns to Baron Sabre's and overhears the prince, who has arrived, arguing with Grieg. Grieg is forgiven when he tells the prince he has a trap set to catch his prey that evening at the secret border pass, as well as Leonie, who is to meet them there. The prince departs. Chandos narrowly misses a bullet fired by Grieg. He intercepts a telegram to Grieg from Lelia—one of many which Lelia, a young peasant girl, has delivered. Lelia leads Chandos to a mill where his friends are hiding. He finds Hanbury sleeping. Marya beckons Chandos not to kill Grieg, and while he is bathing in the mill pond Marya disappears. Chandos sends George and Rowley to follow Marya, and he leaves for the border pass. Lelia, who has fallen in love with Chandos, at the risk of her life, finds him and tells him that Leonie has entered the country an hour before.

INSTALLMENT XXXVII.

A SUPREME SACRIFICE.

"And now, my dear," I whispered, "please tell me your tale."

"I was afraid," breathed Lelia. "And so, as you would not take me, I walked to the bridle path. By the time I was there it was dark, and at first I could not find it, though I knew where it was. I went very slowly, because I was afraid of the police. But they are not countrybred, and I presently heard them moving, though they did not hear me. Grieg is there—I saw him. He was giving them some orders when another policeman arrived. It was he that brought the news about her highness. Grieg asked if he had seen her, but he said 'No.' He said he had been sent from Vigil to bring the news. Grieg was very angry and swore that it was not true, but his way was not the way of a man that believes what he says. At last 'Let her go to the devil,' he said. 'If she comes, we're ready. If she stays, we'll have the others, sure as fate.' He was in a very bad temper and seemed to be waiting for some one who did not come. Then I left them behind and at once I heard the sound of the fall. After that it was easy. But when you caught hold of my ankle I thought it was Grieg."

I told her of my brush with the smuggler and how it was I that had put a spoke in his wheel and had made him break the appointment he had with Grieg.

"Ah," says she. "Then it was he that was beside us when the dog growled."

"I think so."

"Let us hope that he did not see us," said Lelia thoughtfully.

"If he did he must have lost us again."

"For all that," said she, rising, "I think we had better get on."

Had it been daylight I could have found the way: had there been stars to steer by I could have brought us to Gola by a circuitous route; but, as

"Lelia!" I cried, "Lelia!"

I have said, the darkness was like a black fog, and before we had taken ten paces I did not know which way I was facing—and that is the truth.

"Lelia," said I, "I am useless. Where is the north?"

"I cannot tell you," she whispered. "I have never seen such a night."

There was nothing to do but move forward and take our chance, but almost at once, to my dismay, I heard the sound of the fall. Be sure we recalled and started the opposite way, and after a dreadful progress I was just beginning to think that Fortune had shown us pity to guide our feet, when, to my inexpressible horror, I heard it again.

Again we drew back, to meet, I was sure, the same spur which Ramon and I had rounded three hours before. Three hasty steps to the right proved my persuasion sound, for I heard the thunder beginning before I had taken the fourth.

"Lelia," I said wearily, "we can do nothing but wait. We are back where we started from nearly twenty minutes ago."

She seemed to put a hand to her head.

"I do not like it," she murmured. "If the smuggler saw us I fear he may go and fetch Grieg."

Instinctively I lowered my voice.

"He must have lost us," I said. "We have doubled upon our tracks a dozen times."

"These men of the mountains," she said, "have eyes like cats. I would to God I could take you the way I came, but the police may have moved and I dare not try to find it on such a night."

"God knows," said I, "you have done your part. It is I that am failing you, Lelia. I said that I knew the way."

"It is not your fault, my dear. There is no way tonight. I have never seen such darkness. And—and I am glad to be with you."

I drew her on to the tussock on which we had rested before.

"I am very glad to have you," I said.

"Tell me," she said. "What is this her highness has done?"

"I know no more than you, Lelia. But for my sake I do not think she would come in openly unless she held a strong hand."

"She has always held that," said Lelia. "If the prince were to hurt her finger the country would rise."

"I do not think she knows that," said I. "And there is the rub. If we could only make Gola, I have the car hidden there, and I would drive you to Vigil and you should tell her yourself."

"You are very sweet to me," said Lelia gently. She laid her head against my shoulder. "I have taken her place tonight. You came to meet her and then I came in her stead."

"I am very proud of her deputy," said I. "I know no other woman of whom I would say that."

"Have I been—her deputy—today?"

"Yes, Lelia."

With a sudden movement she put her arms around my neck.

"I am very happy," she said. "And I shall never forget. Please kiss—her deputy."

I kissed her lips.

"The cloud is moving," she said. "See? Far in the distance the stars are beginning to show. And the moon is not down yet, and in a little while we shall be able to see."

I was on my feet in an instant, and had my pistol out; but I could see nothing to fire at, and after a little Lelia touched my arm.

She did not speak, but urged me to move with her, and a moment later we had our backs to some rock.

When I would have put her behind me she would not go, so I slid my left arm about her and held her up to my side.

So we stood, still as death, with all about us that most impressive silence, which the steady splash of some waterbrook served to make more profound.

And as we stood there, so still, the world began to grow light.

I raised my eyes to the heavens to see clearcut in the west the edge of the pall of cloud, and, beyond it, the radiance of the moon, which had not yet sunk into view. I have never seen a more curious spectacle, for the pall stretched like a ceiling from north to south and might have been the sliding lid of some box which had been drawn open a little from west to east, to let the moon sink by.

I lowered my gaze to look around me.

Immediately in front there was something that might or might not have been two men: to the left I was sure there was a figure, for the glow from the west was upon it, as it was upon Lelia and me, but the other mass was in shadow, and I could not see it so well.

What then happened happened so swiftly as far to outrun my pen.

Lelia gasped and started and flung herself on my breast. As she did so a tongue of flame leaped out of the mass before me, the roar of a pistol sounded, and Lelia seemed to jerk me against the rock. Then her head fell on to my shoulder and her body went slack.

Frantically I called upon her.

"Lelia!" I cried. "Lelia!"

She made no sort of answer, but hung as she had stood in my arms.

And when I made to lay her down on the ground her lovely head fell sideways, because she was dead.

Good morning!

In spots this picture is pretty well acted. It has some striking sets and scenery—none too well photographed—and several bits of excellent acting. The production's main faults are in direction, which fails to emphasize clews, and in scarcity and blurredness of subtitles.

The story was explained to me by the manager of the Cinema, but had I watched the picture alone, I know I should have been sadly at sea regarding certain phases.

The tale deals with Russian-Polish differences in an earlier century. The heroine is a girl patriot regarded by the Poles as a sort of Joan of Arc. She is beloved by a Polish soldier and a Russian one.

Her uncle is famed for his skill in making automatons. Later on in the action he constructs a mechanical chess player which has much to do with the piece's "punch."

With no wish to be snooty, I venture to opine that an American director such as, say, Tod Browning, might have made quite a movie of "The Chess Player."

See you tomorrow.

Lake View Musical Society Starts Season's Programs

Activities of various departments of the Lake View Musical society include the "open door concert" at the Chicago Woman's club yesterday, arranged by Mrs. Olive Ahara, chairman of the extension department of the society.

The second program of the season will be given at the Blackstone crystal ballroom this afternoon, with Attilio Baggiore.

ANGNA ENTERS DANCES WITH BRAINS, SENSE OF ARTISTIC VALUES

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Angna Enters would seem to be sent into the world for the betterment of pictorial art. At least she bettered it considerably at the Studebaker yesterday afternoon.

Calling herself a dance-mime and describing her entertainment as episodes and compositions in dance form, she was an illuminating personality. There was but little of the dance in any accepted form of the word, a great deal of characterization by miming, much of the same sort that Ruth Draper does with the help of words. A good part, perhaps the most important part of her pictorial art tends toward deft, merciless caricature. She has an extraordinary gift for showing every awkward girl and woman in the world how she looks to others. At such times you are likely to turn to your neighbor and say the name of Lynn Fontanne, for Miss Enters with merely a blank expression, a shoulder shrug, and a twist of the foot becomes no end Fontannish.

She has brains and plenty of them. In spite of a program that was both badly arranged and too long, she conquered. There were episodes of many kinds, tragic and light hearted. But one remembers her the most vividly in the spots where with but the slightest sort of exaggeration of gesture she became a supreme critic of worldly follies.

Another program quite out of the ordinary was presented by Victor Chenkin, Russian baritone-diseur, at the Civic theater. Here gesture and intonation did its part in helping out the meaning of a song, anywhere from the jester with an aching heart, the Russian equivalent of "Pagliacci" and "The Yeomen of the Guard," to native Hebrew and Ukrainian. He would seem to have something of a prejudice against the English language which made him a little less vivid than he might have been, but those who were able to stay throughout the program inform me that he got better as he went along and ended in something of a blaze of triumph.

Iiza Niemack is a violinist who comes here occasionally and ought to come more often because she has considerably more to her equipment than facility and good tone. The Playhouse, where she appeared, was visited just at the time that she was playing a concerto by Bortkiewicz, a composer with an uncommonly efficient memory. But Miss Niemack and Isaac Van Grove at the piano took the work in hand and made it sound like impressive music, which means ability more than the common.

That picturesque and melodious organization, the Tipica orchestra of Mexico, returned to Orchestra hall for its final concert yesterday afternoon.

Pleas for Jobs Confront Sally as Week Opens

She Sees Signs of Some Improvement.

On the first Monday of the new year Sally Joy Brown begins her day this morning with many appeals for help in locating jobs. Sally is putting a great deal of confidence in the signs of a return to normalcy.

"There does seem to be a slight falling off in the number of letters asking for help," she said yesterday. "That either may be because the ones who were writing have secured jobs, or because having written, hundreds still are waiting to be notified of any position that is reported to us. Of course, we still have all these names and records in our files, and as fast as jobs are listed with us we will continue to turn them over to the Illinois Free Employment service at 116 North Dearborn street to be given out there."

"I'm asking for help in getting a job," he wrote, "as I have two children and have been out of work for several months. I've had four years selling in department stores, can drive any make of car or truck, and can also cook, having been second cook in the Palmer house for six months. Can do repair work and be a handy man.

"I know Chicago well and surely would appreciate any kind of work as I am really in need. I would like a truck or private car job and can give the bond and best of references."

"Our family is in desperate straits," writes another young man, 19 years old. "We are behind in payments for our house and unless we can get a large income our saving of $1,000 invested in our house will be lost. My father works for a railroad three days a week. I am a graduate of the Tilden Technical High school and am now attending Coyne Electrical school at night to further my electrical education. Do you suppose you could get me a job as electrician somewhere? I have been out of work for seven months."

Still another request comes from an 18 year old boy, whose family fortunes have suffered ever since the Murphysboro tornado in 1925 destroyed their home. His father lost his railroad job soon after, he writes, and has been employed only intermittently since. He is now in Kansas City looking for work. T. B. H., who wrote Sally Joy Brown, has been in Chicago for two years and has not yet been able to find a permanent job.

METHODISTS FIND BIG NEW CHURCHES CURB WORLD SERVICE

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Research to discover the cause of the great loss of income suffered during the last ten years by the Methodist Episcopal World's Service agencies revealed an unprecedented building program carried on by local churches.

The study was made by W. O. Auman, treasurer of the commission, who announced yesterday that the indebtedness carried by local churches has increased 260 per cent during the period of decline in world service giving.

The cooperating staff of the commission, which includes home and foreign missions, education, pensions, relief, hospitals, reform and Bible society, will dispatch today a new year's message to all pastors and leaders of that church.

The message is intended to prepare the way for an income of $7,000,000 to carry on the world-wide work of the church during the year.

The message condemns the "spread of habits of speculation, destructive to the moral fibre of the nation. To seek wealth without rendering due service or to persuade others to engage in such a gamble is to destroy all relation between labor and reward and so constitute a betrayal of ethical standards of a Christian society."

Needless luxury "which takes no account of the poverty of million" also was condemned in the message. It declared that no man has the Christian right to more goods than are required to satisfy his just needs as long as hunger, spirit destroying toil and lack of opportunity remain the portion of others.

Methodists are asked to take their membership in their church more seriously, and not to regard the number of members the church has as an indication of success. The writers of the message asked all members to examine their lives to see whether the desire for ostentation is apparent.

"Do we seek great wealth or cringe before it?" the message asked. "Have we become slaves to our possessions and do we intend to betray our children into such slavery? We must be sure that our plans for the erection of great buildings are truly for the glory of God and not for the gratification of our pride. Unless they are centers of vital religion they will become ornate sepulchres in which our spiritual life wil be entombed."

Hoover Fishing Chances Increased by Uncle Sam

Winchester, Va., Jan. 4.—(AP)—The number of reasons why President Hoover should find his camp on the Rapidan river in Madison county attractive again next summer has increased by thousands during the last week.

Agents of the United States fish commission have been stocking the President's preserve with large numbers of trout brought from hatcheries in West Virginia. They are said to be of the variety for which the executive has a liking and are already of a good size.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

A REVIEW of "Bad Girl," which began an engagement at the Apollo theater last night, should be written in the old "words of one syllable" manner of the children's books. It is exactly that kind of a play. Thus:

"There was a sil-ly lit-tle girl who stay-ed out all night with her lov-er. And so they had to get mar-ried. By and by the lit-tle girl had to go to a hos-pi-tal be-cause she was go-ing to have a ba-by; and she was a-fraid her hus-band would not like the ba-by; and he was a-fraid his wife would not like the ba-by; and so they were both ter-ri-bly wor-ried, what with the ex-penses and ev-ery-thing."

This is a way a proper report of "Bad Girl" should run, but the rest of it must be taken for granted. The juvenile lispings of this first reader style would exhaust the composing room's supply of hyphens. I hope, however, that I have managed to suggest the tone of this theatrical oddment, which was manufactured out of a widely read piece of fiction. It deals with love, marriage and the rudiments of obstetrics in terms of the childlike mind. It is a course in popular sexology for kindergarten classes.

The intention of "Bad Girl" is to be frank and plain, simple and touching, in the narration of an average love story of commonplace young Americans; to communicate the glow of their little romance and to paint, with a human touch, the details of their humble, candid domesticity. That is no mean ideal; it is a theme which has produced many masterpieces. But it requires something more than the thin literalism of the inquiring reporter.

Of "Bad Girl" as a novel I know nothing except that it has been popular. But of "Bad Girl" as a play I know that for me it contains none of the stirring, persuasive life that I seek in the theater; that its story is a dull synopsis of what a young married couple should know; that its young people are merely paper dolls, and that the motivation of its characters is singularly dumb. In short, "Bad Girl" gave me my blankest evening of playgoing this season.

A part of the limpness and feebleness that I found in this play was due to a fogged performance. Apparently "Bad Girl" had its New York experience in a small theater, and has become addicted to that kind of realism in acting which may be called confidential interpretation. The Apollo is a playhouse of the old régime, and its auditorium is spacious. It swallowed up the undertones in which the story of "Bad Girl" was told. The first law of the stage was abolished. People couldn't hear.

This condition, of course, will be corrected. A director with a mean megaphone should be in command at today's much needed rehearsal. Tonight, no doubt, "Bad Girl" will project itself across the footlights. Last night it lurked on the other side of them, muttering to itself.

Claiborne Foster, a charming young actress, is an attractive and wistful figure as the girl, and Buford Armitage is well cast as her adored, unsentimental Eddie. Charlotte Wynters gets some effective strokes of comedy into the performance as the young woman who knows all about life and is fond of telling it.

Lotta Crabtree Memorial Window for Local Church

Boston, Mass., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The Lotta Crabtree Memorial window which had been stored, dirty and neglected, for years in Boston, after its rejection by the Episcopal church in New York, because it bore the name of the actress, is to be installed in St. Stephen's Episcopal church, Chicago.

The Rev. Irwin St. John Tucker, rector of the Chicago church, has telegraphed to Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, executor of the estate of the late millionaire actress, that he and his flock would be delighted to receive the memorial as a gift.

Art Requires Finance's Aid, Insull Remarks

Thus Replies to Praises from Musicians, Etc.

Samuel Insull, utilities magnate, was lauded as Chicago's foremost art patron at a dinner given in his honor at the Palmer house last night by the Bohemians, an organization founded in 1929 to foster music and musicians.

Responding to the encomiums bestowed upon him by earlier speakers, Mr. Insull dryly remarked that the services of a financier were held essential to every artistic undertaking, leading him to suppose he was being feted for that reason.

The function, held in the grand ballroom of the hotel, was attended by more than 1,100, including many of the social personages of the city. Entertainment was provided by the Civic Opera orchestra and opera stars.

The toastmaster, Herbert Witherspoon, sounded the keynote of the evening by describing Mr. Insull as "a genius, not only in the business world, but a genius in his ability to foster grand opera—a great art to which he has recently given a new home."

Dr. Frederick A. Stock, director of the Chicago Symphony orchestra and president of the Bohemians, spoke briefly in the same vein. He reviewed the history of the opera and its artistic achievements of the last year, digressing at one point to recall the financial support given the opera by Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick and others before Mr. Insull made it a civic institution.

There was a burst of applause. Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, who was attended by Edwin D. Krenn, arose and made a bow.

It was the next speaker, Col. George T. Buckingham, who described Mr. Insull as "the foremost art patron of Chicagoland.

"He has given generously of his time, his means, and, most of all, his leadership to the cause of higher culture in his city," Col. Buckingham declared. "Moreover he has contributed to this country's culture in another and indirect way.

"By the exercise of his financial genius he has laid the foundation of a diffused wealth for the promotion of the higher arts which would otherwise not be permanently possible. Opera and symphony music are not indigenous to the pioneer city.

"It is the genius of Insull and his kind that have lifted this country from the pioneer stage to a state of affluence capable of supporting the luxury of the higher arts."

"The preceding speakers have given me far more credit than is my due," Mr. Insull began. "Furthermore, these unearned praises have brought me great embarrassment and have taken out of my mind most of the things I intended to say.

"I have been wondering why the Bohemians selected me as their honor guest tonight, instead of choosing some artist to whom such distinction might more aptly be applied. It occurs to me that a financial man has to be called in some time or other for the promotion of most artistic affairs. I suppose it is because of my financial experience that I am here."

Reverting to the subject of the civic opera, Mr. Insull averred the credit for its success belongs not alone to him, but to the organization backing him.

"In laying our plans for development of opera in Chicago we entertained the theory that no cultural enterprise could succeed in a democratic city like Chicago unless the enterprise, itself, were democratic.

"We have had our critics and I agree with Dr. Stock that a great many people have more time for criticism than for action. When the time came for erecting a new home for the opera we wanted to provide one advantageous to all the people, not to just a few.

"We couldn't provide advantageous quarters for the rich and at the same time provide for people of ordinary means. In the old opera house we had patrons who wouldn't have the side boxes but wanted to sit only in the horse shoe. Now that we have no side boxes, some of our patrons are are demanding them."

Considering the present financial situation, the civic opera is receiving as much public support as it can rightfully expect, Mr. Insull concluded.

OUR SECRET AMBITION.

Too, Too Silent Chap Puts Damper on a Gay Party

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I've been going steadily with a boy for over two years and care enough to have promised to marry him. He has always been wonderful to me. He is a hard worker and possesses as fine a character as a girl could want.

"But here's the trouble. He is exceptionally, painfully quiet when we are out with others and for some reason or other my friends do not seem to like him. They cannot give a reason, but they do try to separate us because of their dislike for him. It is discouraging, and I'm wondering if marriage with him would prove a lonesome life with my other friends all behind me. SALLY."

Those terribly quiet people are a trial on a party, truly. That, probably, is the objection. He appears not to be willing to join in the fun or to be socially inclined, although he may be wishing like everything his tongue were a bit more glib and his manner more adaptable to the occasion. But if that is the way he is by nature he has to be accepted that way.

It has happened that the right girl getting hold of this sort of chap can bring him out so that his silences are not held against him. That entails a bit of training and considerable patience on the part of the trainer. Are you equal to the task? If you are so easily swayed by friends' criticisms, maybe you are not the right girl.

It would seem, however, in an era of party going at which each guest's object seems to be to be heard above the other's, that a quiet chap would shine out like a rare jewel. But it isn't so, obviously, and the painfully quiet guest is a responsibility for a hostess which she would just as soon eliminate, if possible. A bit of impatience cannot but be felt toward the one who makes no move himself to lighten the job of entertaining. I've run across the species myself, and they are trying, there's no doubt of that. For your best efforts to bring the person out your reward is a discouraging yes or no.

One is apt to forget the beauty of character that is encased within the blank exterior. You might try prodding the chap into speech by giving him a cue line and by giving him a hint, on the side, that all may be lost to him if he doesn't buck up and speak his piece in public.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Use for Old Cook Stove.

"I would like to have a cook stove and at the present time we cannot afford to buy one. My husband is working now, but he has recently been sick and was unable to do anything. We are both past middle age and getting work is difficult. MRS. N. M."

Perhaps you are investing in a gas range and will no longer need your coal cook stove. If so, won't you give it to this couple?

Out of Work, Need Help.

"No one has worked in the family for several months and we are having a hard time. We owe rent, can't pay our bills and every one is in need of clothing. Perhaps you can help us to get some. The two eldest boys, 19 and 21, wear sizes 37 and 38. The other boys are 13, 9 and 8. The girls are 16 and 10. My wife and I both wear size 40. F. M."

With a family of this size to clothe and feed and no income, surely the need is great. Perhaps you can help to relieve the situation by giving any warm clothing your family is ready to discard.

White House Child Health Conference of Highest Value

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

A Mothers' and Fathers' Litany for the New Year, signed by Mrs. Bevans, will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Although the White House conference on child health and protection took place over a month ago, it is by no means over. One practical evidence of that was an announcement I received recently in the mail. It stated that "full and readable accounts of the findings and recommendations will be made available to the public through a series of books to be published under the auspices of the conference by the Century company of New York, who have been designated the official publishers of the conference.

"This book will cover all of the investigations of the various committees and will constitute the most authoritative and comprehensive collection of books on child welfare ever published."

This statement gives you some idea of the importance of this Washington conference in every field which pertains to children.

The studies and the work done were divided among eighteen committees with many working on each committee. These committees were divided into four sections, as they were called. These four sections covered:

Medical service.
Public health service and administration.
Education and training.
The handicapped.

The work of the conference is not yet over. Each section will later prepare a final report, and it is these that will be published by the Century company, who say with truth that, "These reports will be the basis for manuals and handbooks which should remain for a long time the standard guides to child health and protection."

This printed matter is going to be of great volume. Some of it is in a mound before me now, but the average person will probably never see it. Any yet there were things reported and statements made in the conference itself that were too fine, too practical, and too inspiring not to be known by the general public.

Bits of Society for You While Year Is Young

BY THALIA.

THINGS heard and happening over the week-end. Harold F. McCormick departed a few days ago for California, his guests, Prof. and Mrs. Pagett, having left Chicago a week before. Mrs. Bertram F. Rogers Jr. and her two little girls came into town on Saturday in their trimmed peach colored coats [the little girls, not Mrs. Rogers] to have a luncheon party at the Tavern and go to the zoo.

There were more people at the teadance at the Lake Shore Drive hotel on Saturday afternoon than the week before, with lots of debutantes and their beaux and brothers present. Irene Hodgkins was the only husband with the temerity to turn up and see his wife model in the fashion show.

Emily Otis' winter sports house party at the Otis place in northern Michigan returns this morning, and also several house parties, including the Paul Skinners', the Norcotts', and the Walter Aagards' at Lawsonia, at Green Lake, Wis.

The Drake ballroom was well filled yesterday afternoon for Miss Herma Clark's reading of her "Dear Julia" letters about old-time Chicago society, with stereopticon pictures. There was quite a burst of applause from the Dixon box when a picture of the first Chicago Dixon was thrown on the screen). Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift and her daughter were among those who enjoyed the dance recital of Angna Enters at the Studebaker. Bonnie Otis Burns is to be here until about the 12th of the month. The Benjamin Allens and their daughter, Mrs. Hugh Wilson, have been in New York City.

The Alfred McArthurs had a dinner party in one of the upper rooms at the Tavern last night and, of course, there was the large and splendid Bohemians' dinner for Mr. Insull [reported elsewhere] at the Palmer house.

One of the latest diversions is figuring out a rearrangement of "roast pubs" into a 3 syllable word. Somebody's New Year's greeting was a man's collar with "They got my shirt" printed on the underside.

Miss Emily Lyon Hamill and Fifield Workum, son of Mrs. Julius F. Workum of New York City, are to be married on Feb. 7 at Bellefontaine Point, the winter residence of Miss Hamill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hamill, at Ocean Springs, Mississippi. The wedding is to be a small one with only the families of the bride and groom and a few friends present.

Miss Hamill's nieces, Katharine and Ann Hamill, are to be flower girls—her only attendants—and Roswell Miller of New York City will be best man for Mr. Workum. A few of the bride's and groom's friends are invited to go down from here and a few from New York City, and it is all to be most informal. Mr. Workum and the future Mrs. Workum will, of course, live in New York. Miss Hamill is having a number of parties given for her during the last busy weeks before the Hamills depart from Hinsdale, but nothing in the way of a planned program of pre-nuptial affairs.

The wedding of Miss Helen Shimmin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Shimmin of 1320 North State street, to John Gray Seller of Louisville, Ky., will take place at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at St. Chrysostom's church, with a reception following at the Opera club. Mrs. Frank Sims (Betty McNair) will be matron of honor for Miss Shimmin and the bridesmaids will be Mrs. Howard Richardson (Nadine Nellis), Mrs. Jack Schweizer (Mathielle Hubbart), and Mrs. Sanger Blackman (Virginia Wallace). Louis Seller will be his brother's best man and Philip Ash of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and Robert, Edwin, and John Dudley Shimmin, the bride's brothers, will be ushers.

Things English and Others Spanish Written by Experts.

News in small doses . . . the J. Roach Clows of 222 East Chestnut street are at the Huntington in Pasadena, and Mrs. Clow's sister, Marion Newcomet, has joined them for a visit.

Mary Borden says in this month's "Fashions of the Hour" that English people are not inhospitable, but only unostentatious and casual—the article on country house entertaining being a souvenir of her recent visit here.

Mrs. Mellon Martin of Winnetka had a piece in last month's "Parade," a north shore magazine, about things Spanish—a subject into which she has delved with tremendous thoroughness.

Jot down on your calendar . . . an Arts club tea on Friday afternoon to open two exhibitions, sculpture by Ossip Zadkine and paintings by Jacques Villon . . . the 23d annual banquet of the Chicago Equestrian association to be held at the Medinah Athletic club on Saturday evening, Jan. 17 . . . one of the International Theater of Chicago's performances at the Goodman of "Ces Dames aux Chapeaux Verts" on Thursday evening coming, Friday evening, Saturday morning at 11 and in the afternoon at 2 o'clock, and Monday afternoon . . . and although it is a bit late to jot down now, the Drama League's distinguished guest luncheon today at the Palmer house, after which Lee Simonson is to speak on "Varieties of Scenic Design."

Dr. and Mrs. Cyril James Larkin, who were married on Nov. 29, have returned from their wedding trip and are residing at 3140 Sheridan road. Mrs. Larkin is the former Miss Romana Bowen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Bowen of 3240 Sheridan road.

Miss Anne Smith, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Warren Rufus Smith of 509 Fair Oaks avenue, Oak Park, and the Rev. Leonard Clark Wolcott, son of Dr. Peter Clark Wolcott, formerly rector of Trinity church in Highland Park, were married in Grace Episcopal church in Oak Park at noon on New Year's day. Only the immediate families and a few close friends attended the service. Miss Louise Beathke of Kewanee was maid of honor and Lydia Smith the flower girl. Alden G. Smith of Bath, Me., was best man, and Harvard Boynton of Chicago and the Rev. Robert Crawford of Omaha ushered. A breakfast at the Smith residence followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Wolcott are to be at home at 1727 East 7th street, Denver, Colo., after Feb. 15, following a wedding trip to Florida.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Jan. 4.—Miss Marion Rumsey Cartier will give a dinner in the seaglade of the St. Regis on Saturday for Miss Reine Claudel, daughter of the French ambassador and Mme. Paul Claudel.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Gales and their daughter, Miss Helene Gales, a debutante of the season, sailed last night on the Bremen for a visit of several weeks in England and on the continent.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert K. Chesterton are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman Nickerson.

Paris Couturiers Are Using Tweed Again

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Tweeds are coming back into the Paris mode. Smart women have simply refused to part with these friendly fabrics and so the Paris couturiers are again using them for daytime clothes as well as sports costumes.

But the new tweeds have merely a faint family resemblance to their more robust forbears. They are as light and soft as the proverbial thistledown and are likely to have rough flecked surfaces and highly transparent weaves.

Worth uses one of the new woolens to make the comfortable ensemble sketched above. It is a soft, tweedy stuff of flag blue flecked with white. The coat has a huge shawl collar and flaring cuffs of pale gray ermine, which enables it to enter the afternoon ranks, though its simplicity makes it all right for morning, too. This coat is loose and flared from under the arms. Two full length encrusted gores lend it an empire effect in back. It just misses being full length by a few inches.

The frock has a simple bodice and a fitted hip yoke which extends much lower in the back than in the front. The circular lower skirt is mounted on it in irregular points—two in the front and one in the back. The encrusted collar is made of two curved bands of white crêpe de chine and finished with a little crêpe de chine tab. The belt is flag blue leather.

Thousands at Tribune Tower for Reception

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

THINGS were humming yesterday around the Tribune Tower—things entirely outside the routine of an average newspaper week. Gay throngs, lured by mild weather and memories of past good times, invaded the Sunday calm of the realm of linotypes, presses, and printer's ink for the annual reception of this newspaper to its employés and their families. And a good time was had by all.

Never in the history of this function has a larger attendance been experienced. That despite the fact that the popularity of the affair in other years finally compelled the restriction of a single guest to each employé. Considerably more than 3,000 persons, it was estimated, filed down the receiving line in the lobby, to be greeted by Col. and Mrs. R. R. McCormick and other officials.

Trimly uniformed ushers directed the guests through the lobby, the mailing room, a vast department whose utilitarian everyday appearance was well disguised under bowers of greenery and a profusion of Christmas decorations. Here a bevy of girls distributed pink and red roses to each woman as the lines streamed through.

Long tables in this department bore refreshments of sandwiches, coffee, cake, and ice cream, dispensed during the afternoon by a force of men to the chattering, laughing crowds that mi"ed past and into the square where smaller tables drew their inevitable groups for gossip and "shop talk."

Up on the second floor the spacious quarters of the circulation department had been commandeered for dancing. Keith Beecher's ten piece orchestra, sequestered in one corner of the huge room, set the pace for the swaying, gliding throngs that tripped the light fantastic as long as the saxophones blared and the piano tinkled through the répertoire of snappy tunes.

Fir and balsam trees, southern smilax, and garlands of Christmas decorations transformed the quarters for dancing. Desks had been shoved to one side and partitions set up to mark off the square for the entertainment. It was by far the favorite gathering place for the guests, whether dancing or not, and even when twilight came they left reluctantly.

A few hours later, following smaller, individual receptions held by department officials, each in his own quarters, the tower was deserted of all but those concerned with the issuing of this morning's edition.

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

Horizontal pin tucks indicate the natural waistline of this smart frock and pin tucks at either shoulder add a trimming note and provide a soft fullness throught the bust. The pointed seaming is a smart detail to conceal the hip breadth. The bodice is all in one until it joins the skirt, and the tight fitting sleeves have bands matching those at the neckline. Lightweight woolens, crêpe marocain, and velvet are suitable materials.

The pattern, 2825, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material, with ¾ yard of 27 inch contrasting.

Men and Women Always Disagree on Beauty Subject

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Where did I read a male verdict condemning ugly women to death by drowning? Somewhere I saw it. Most likely in the papers, 'Twas a lone male verdict; that is, a lone male spake the verdict, though there's no telling how much secret moral support he was given from his kind.

But who, we ask, is going to do the judging of what woman shall live and which shall get her hair wet?

Apropos, at a gathering a certain woman was under discussion. She is a figure of some prominence. A woman member of the group, as women are wont to do in discussions of another woman's work, advanced a point in favor of the discussed one's looks. It was a favorable comment. The roar of an injured lion emitted from one male throat. "She's the ugliest female I ever laid an eye on," he sputtered.

The speaker could have committed her blithly to the waters that swallow, did you judge by the intensity of his aversion to the creature. Later it was revealed that the woman had, at one time, ousted the gentleman in some public form of debate.

The woman, from a nonpartisan viewpoint, is certainly not ugly. Take her apart feature by feature, judge her on grooming or dress and her average would rate more than good. Not a beauty—but a good example of our groomed age, as we may call a goodly share of our so-called beauty today.

I'll be willing to wager that the girl the gentleman of the drowning verdict would spare would be fallen upon by a group of women and torn, not limb from limb, but apart feature by feature; her dress would be all wrong and her manner not approved. Women and men generally are that far apart in their judgment on pulchritude. Of course, we wouldn't dream of including all men in the category. Not the Mr. Ziegfelds nor the McClelland Barclays nor any of the artist creators of lovely girls, nor a class of "educated" students of the woman beautiful. Just your average Mister and your average Missus discussing beauty or the lack of it in a particular girl are likely to arrive at a decision as far removed as the poles. So we move to have the drowning verdict set aside until we have judges that can't be bought by personal prejudices or sentiment.

Food Talk.

Many omelet recipes read: "Cook the omelet in the usual way. But are not there a good many folks who do not know what the usual way is? In fact, there are two kiinds of omelet, and, necessarily, two ways of making them—the plain kind, which is especially popular in France, and the puffy or souffle ones, which are most prevalent in this country.

To make a plain omelet, allow two eggs, 1 tablespoon milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, and a dash of pepper for each person. Break the eggs into a bowl and beat lightly only just enough to mix the white and yolk. Put 1 teaspoon butter into an omelet pan [unsalted butter preferred] and melt over a slow flame. If there is enough butter to lie in a pond in the bottom, drain off the excess. Heat the pan quite hot. Turn in the eggs, which will at once begin to set around the edges. Keep the heat moderate. Scrape the eggs from the sides of the pan to the middle and allow the uncooked part of the egg to run out to the edge and set. Continue this scraping process until all the egg is set but not a second longer. With the back of the spoon flatten down the mass lightly, set the pan over the hottest part of the flame and cook the omelet fiercely while you count ten. Quickly slip a knife under the edge, lifting up a corner to see if the omelet is brown on the under side. If it is, turn out onto a hot dish, browned side up, and serve immediately.

Should you wish to serve the omelet folded with a seasoning between, slip the omelet onto the platter brown side down. Put the filling on half the omelet and quickly fold over.

4—A pinch each of red pepper and dry mustard and about 1 tablespoon boiled ham for each egg, stirred into the egg before cooking.

SCONES.

4 teaspoons baking powder.
1 teaspoon salt.
¼ cup candied or maraschino cherries.

Sift flour, then measure. Resift with other dry ingredients. Rub fat into flour with the fingers until the mixture has the appearance of coarse corn meal. Add well washed, drained currants and cherries. Add milk and mix as quickly as possible. Divide dough into six portions. Toss each portion onto slightly floured board to cover with flour, then place on greased baking sheet. Form into a disc ½ inch in thickness and 5 or 6 inches in diameter.

Brush surface with 1 egg yolk diluted with cream and sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Mark top with a sharp knife into four sections, cutting almost through the dough. Bake in a hot oven [425 degrees F.].

JOFFRE FAMILY KEEPS VIGIL OVER DEAD WARRIOR

Lying in State Ceremony Opens Today.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 4.—Bowing to the wishes of Mme. Joffre, who desires to watch and pray another night beside her husband's body, the government gave up its plan to transfer the remains of Marshal Joffre to the chapel of the war college tonight. Instead the body will probably be conveyed there at daybreak tomorrow for a two day lying in state ceremony.

Meanwhile Mme. Joffre, accompanied by her daughter, Mme. Laflet, and Mlle. De Baye, an old friend of the family, prayed at the marshal's bier last night. They continued tonight, barely taking time to eat or sleep.

Cardinal Verdier to Officiate.

The dead hero of the Marne is clad in the black tunic and red breeches he wore during the trying days of 1914. His one decoration is the Medaille Militaire, granted only to army commanders and privates.

The body will be removed from the chapel at the military college at 8:15 o'clock Tuesday night. Accompanied by a guard of cavalry, holding torches aloft, a gun caisson will carry the warrior by way of the Arc de Triomphe to the Cathedral of Notre Dame, where his body will rest until the funeral services Wednesday morning.

The services will be conducted by Cardinal Verdier, archbishop of Paris. The remains will be placed in a vault in the chapel of the Invalides alongside those of Napoleon, Foch, and other heroes of France. Joffre's body will remain there for several weeks before final removal for burial at the Joffre country home at Louvecciennes, near Paris.

Touched by German Tributes.

The French press is deeply appreciative of the eulogies of Marshal Joffre which have been published in German papers, especially the tribute from the man he defeated at the Marne, Gen. Hermann von Kuhl. The Paris press printed warm acknowledgments tonight.

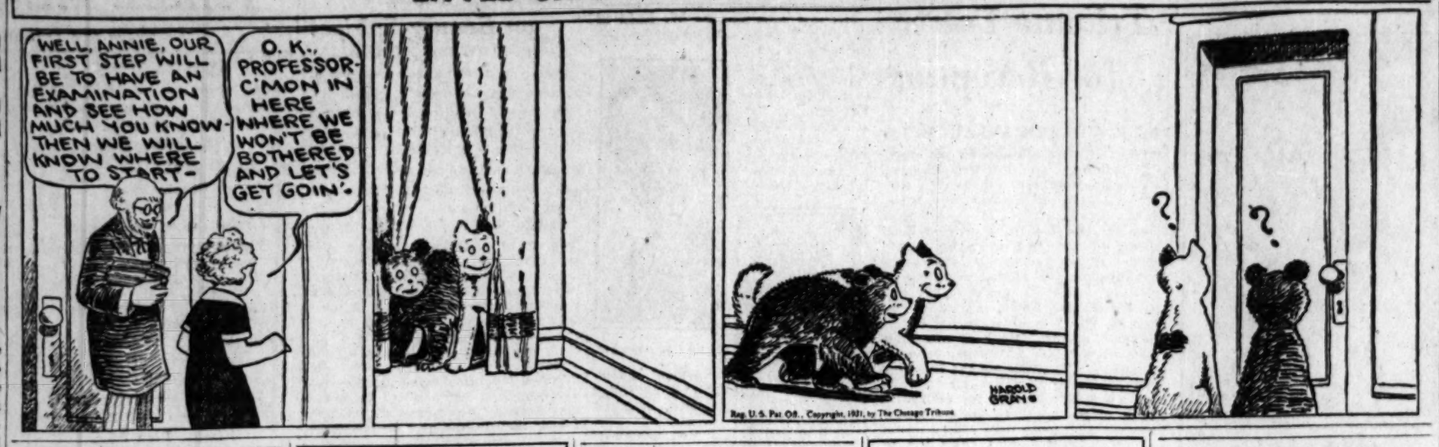
They also quote Marshal Joffre as saying that one of his three favorite books on the war was "The Battle of Jutland," by Capt. von Hasse. German Ambassador Leopold von Hoesch called at the hospital this morning and signed the mourning register.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Strange Behavior



MEXICO RAISES TAXES AND CUTS BUDGET TO BONE

Higher Tobacco Duties Hit U. S. Concern.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 4.—The finance department has just announced the government's budget of income and expenditure for the present year as 300,000,000 pesos, or about $145,000,000, which is $75,000,000 less than in the days of the Calles government.

Taxes have been raised on gasoline, cigars and cigarets, and on all manufactured tobaccos. The tax increases in numerous other fields are largely on articles of greatest consumption.

The new budget is surprisingly low for the size of the country and considering a natural expenditure of Mexico. With the heavy burden of foreign debt and home obligations increasing through laws for education and the construction of highways, the government is running close to the limit in its expenditure.

In the appropriation for schools it was said no increase would be possible. This is contrary to the announcement the government made two months ago that 1,000 new schools would be opened this year largely among the peasants and Indians living in pueblo villages.

The activity in highway construction has slowed up.

The radicals have been attacking the government for its determination to pay off the foreign debt and for accepting a loan of $30,000,000 last week from American bankers.

The cattlemen, miners and manufacturers have been attempting to obtain a reduction in taxes. The cigar and cigaret makers have threatened to move their factories bodily from the federal district into neighboring states, if the taxes are not reduced to half of the present rate.

The American Tobacco company, which has large interests here, is one that has been hit the most by the increase in taxes on cigarets and cigars.

CHURCHGOERS SEE DRYS RAID HUGE ALCOHOL PLANT

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Worshippers on their way to church today saw federal prohibition agents seize the largest alcohol cooking plant ever discovered in the Detroit area.

The plant occupied an entire five story building in the heart of the uptown church district. The building is less than a block from the residence of Bishop Thomas Nicholson of the Methodist Episcopal church, president of the Anti-Saloon League of America.

SATURDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

TRAPS WIFE AND HER PARAMOUR IN HOME, SLAYS THEM BOTH

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Frank Hugo, 35, vaudeville musician, and John Duca, 33, his friend, were held in jail today while police investigated the slaying of Rina Hugo, 28, the musician's wife, and Louis White, 30, in the Hugo home last night.

Hugo surrendered to police shortly after the pair had been shot. Officers said he confessed the slayings, asserting Duca assisted by frightening his wife and White out of a bedroom, thus bringing them within range of his pistol. Duca and Hugo both were booked on suspicion of murder.

Hugo said he had suspected White, an intimate friend, of paying attentions to his wife and determined to trap him. He said he persuaded his mother to take his two children to a motion picture show and informed his wife he would be away from home all night.

A few hours later, Hugo said, he and Duca went to the house. Duca crawled through a window into the bedroom while Hugo entered the front door.

FAMOUS MOSLEM ENVOY TO INDIA CONFERENCE DIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 4.—A shadow was cast over the Indian round table conference circles today by the death in London of Maulana Mahomed Ali, one of the British-India representatives and one of the two famous Ali brothers. His wife, a daughter, brother, and his two sons-in-law were present. The body will be taken to India for burial.

Maulana Mahomed Ali, a Moslem and Indian Nationalist, was one of the most picturesque personalities at the conference. Though ill upon leaving India, he insisted on making the 7,000 mile journey to London. On his arrival he said: "My wife has lifted the veil for the first time and has come with me to either nurse or bury me." He had been suffering from heart trouble for several months.

Ali and his brother led the protest movement against the peace treaty which, dismembering the Turkish empire, deprived the caliph of his sovereignty over the holy places and reduced him to the level of a petty prince. The deceased was a prominent supporter of Gandhi's first civil disobedience movement and was one of the first to be arrested. He later parted politically with Gandhi and opposed the present civil disobedience movement.

WITCH DOCTORS KILL BOY TO USE BLOOD FOR CURE

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

HAVANA, Jan. 4.—The mutilated body of 8 year old Martin Perez was recovered today by army and police investigators inside a pasteboard box left abandoned on the road between Havana and Pinar del Rio city.

The boy was killed Christmas day by the brothers José, Caridad, Domingo, Gregorio, and Pardo Fuentes and Miguel Quintana, mayor of Pueblo Nuevo, during voodooism practices to cure the ailments of a Negro woman and Mayor Quintana with the child's blood.

The men are now in Pinar del Rio jail following the attempt of farmers to kill them last night while being taken to prison. Modesta Chil, a Negro woman, Olayo Pozo, and Pedro Rufino Carrillo were arrested today in Pinar del Rio, accused of voodooism and participating in the sacrifice of the boy.

NEW SECRETARY OF LABOR LAUDS HOOVER EFFORTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Secretary of Labor William N. Doak tonight praised President Hoover for the efforts he had put forth to soften the severity of the unemployment situation and to guide the nation through the existing economic crisis. During his remarks, made in a short address, the labor secretary asserted that the department of labor under his direction will work to promote an era of good will between employé and employer.

Mr. Doak called attention to the absence of strikes, lockouts, and public discord during the last year. He asserted that the steps taken by the administration to maintain the existing wage scales in the face of the depression was largely responsible for the harmonious condition between labor and capital.

Disorders Always Before.

"Never before," he added, "have we had a great depression when it was not necessary for the police to clear the streets, for the governors to call out the militia, and in most depressions for the federal government to call out troops to preserve order. We have had scarcely a ripple in our social peace and it is the first time in all American history that a President has piloted the nation through a year of major depression and preserved internal peace.

"In every other depression wages have been reduced anywhere from 10 to 30 per cent or more. In all the major industries today standards of wages hold fast because of agreements brought about by the President. In all European countries there is also depression and there is great unemployment, constant reductions of wages, many at the direct request of the governments. And there is much social disorder.

Gives President the Credit.

"It is due to the President of the United States today that I present to you this contrasting picture between our country and those abroad for it is the policies of our great President that have brought these reports to the American people during the past year.

"At no time in history have such aggressive steps been taken by the President to maintain and preserve existing wage rates in the face of depression. Labor deserves such worthy consideration; labor appreciates these significant efforts and others taken on the part of our chief executive in the preservation of their interests, and labor, along with industry and finance, is doing its part to encourage and promote the economic recovery and stabilization of our advanced civilization."

Secretary Doak said that in his opinion there never was nor will there be at any future time any labor dispute that could not be settled through negotiation without resort to conflict, if the parties at interest will reason together and approach their problems in the proper spirit.

"The prosperity of America rests upon the prosperity of its workers," he added. "To keep our wage earners regularly employed at liberal wages should be our chief concern. To stabilize our rapid advancement and to safeguard, economically as well as otherwise, every member of our population is the goal toward which we have set our hearts. Encouraging proofs of our determination to achieve these aims are evidenced in many ways as we turn our faces toward the new year."

SALESMEN

Our business has been excellent for three months.

The coming World's Fair means for you a tremendous opportunity. Chicago will be back to normal long before the rest of the country.

No matter in what lines your sales experience may have been, no matter how tough the going this past year, if the future before you is not as bright as you would have it, we offer you:

The tremendous financial backing, enormous prestige, and long experience of the oldest, largest, and most successful business of its kind the world has ever seen.

A system and course of training under successful, qualified instructors who will personally sell for you your first $15,000 worth of property with full commission to you.

A potential future which cannot be surpassed in the selling of any other commodity, merchandise, or intangibles.

The moral and actual support of the happiest, most prosperous, and hardest working sales organization in Chicago—one which has rolled up tremendous momentum this past three months, has held steadily and consistently, and refuses to be stopped by conditions or mental attitudes.

If you are a salesman, if you want a future, if you have the will to demand big earnings, we'll put the fight and stamina into you to get them.
